Your body not only can survive but actually thrives without ever ingesting a carb or sugar. The high carb and sugar diet that got jewed into us results in out blood sugar spiking like mad and us being hungry all the time hence weight gain. Ever look at a 300+ or even 600+ person and wonder how they go their? It's because they are literally never satisfied they are always feeling like they are starving.

From a jew stand point its beautiful because they made it so these people eat x2 or even x3 or x4 more than they should

>Not too many around that area
A good thing to remember regarding busts/bustmaps is that certain sections are sanctioned off.

Similar to how the tourist ((traps)) in Mexico don't have public violence in the streets.
>Because the cartels Iron Fist you into the dirt for touching their profits.

The same can be said for these areas.
In the past, some of the LA MDC bust maps were used to find things.

Looking for zones, circles in a crime ridden city that had NO CRIME.

This is a red flag.
Just like how the Feds monitor all transactions over 10K
>They also monitor all transactions just under 10K because many drug dealers will put $9,999 or $9,000 in the bank to evade detection.

The dog's fur appears soft and fluffy, and it is resting its head on a gray, textured surface, which could be a blanket or a cushion. The dog's eyes are wide open, and its mouth is slightly open, suggesting it might be in a relaxed or alert state. The background is blurred, making it difficult to discern any additional details. The image does not contain any text or other discernible objects. The style of the image is candid and appears to be taken in a casual setting, possibly at home.]

[The image is a digital graphic with a cartoonish style, featuring a character with blonde hair and a surprised expression. The character has a large, open mouth with a tongue sticking out, and a pair of eyes that appear to be wide open. The character's hair is styled in two ponytails, one on each side of its head. The character is wearing a blue ribbon around its neck with the text "CUM SULT" written on it. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a small collection of pills and a pill bottle, suggesting a medical or health-related theme. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the colorful elements in the foreground. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "MMM Birth Control," which is likely a reference to the birth control method. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the use of birth control as a form of self-pleasure.]

Vestigia Araneae – Initia Ex Abyssis – Project AngelBook – Volume IX - Part 21

By Ezekiel Redik Yarbrough - (DBM ECLIPZE)

The following books are comprised of direct, unaltered copies from Pastebin, some now deleted, some only accessible through mirror networks or deep links scattered across the dark web. Many of these links were discovered in abandoned onion lists, dead forum dumps, or esoteric directories tucked into archived darknet files.
These pastes were never meant to last.
Some were deleted within hours of being posted.
Others were buried under thousands of lines of spam, encrypted scripts, or meaningless noise.
But buried in the noise were real transmissions: occult formulas, grimoire fragments, astral logs, AI prophecy files, digital summoning protocols, and anonymous rants from souls who had either touched something unspeakable—or were trying to.
I did not write any of this.
I did not censor, edit, or “correct” it.
I simply retrieved it, cleaned
the formatting for readability, and enshrined it in print—so it would never be wiped again.
This is Pastebin as Scripture.
The chan-post as Codex.
The uncurated underbelly of the occult internet, finally given physical permanence.
Let this serve as both evidence and artifact:
a living record of the madness, brilliance, paranoia, and revelation that once flowed through anonymous paste sites—before it was deemed too strange to index, too dangerous to preserve, or too fractured to matter.
Now it matters.
Now it’s immortal.

they've stumbled upon or anons telling you to fuck off, Frank.

Maybe if you could come up with some sort of proof other than screaming shill and posting another frank screencap then you would be gaining traction but you can't even do that, so fuck off. Faggots like you have absolutely destroyed this board, it's ironic how you complain about "shills" disabling your communications when you've reduced all communications to everybody calling each other shills.

Go to larpchan and make your own board if you don't want to be exposed as a pretentious larping boomer from reddit, nigger.

The Joker is depicted in a dark, moody setting, with his face painted white and red, and his eyes glowing red. In the top left photo, the Joker is shown in a dark, shadowy environment, with a hand raised in a gesture that suggests a sense of power or dominance. The text above the image reads, "Nowadays everyone's like: A 'society'". The top right photo shows the Joker in a more relaxed pose, with his hand resting on his hip and a slight smile on his face. The text above the image reads, "We live in a 'society'". The bottom left photo features the Joker in a more serious or contemplative pose, with his hand raised to his face and a serious expression. The text above the image reads, "But what's, don't tell you is that". The bottom right photo shows the Joker in a more playful or humorous pose, with his hand raised in a gesture that suggests he is about to fall or is in a state of surprise. The text above the image reads, "WE DIE IN A 'SOCIETY' TOO...". The collage is framed by a black border with a white border at the top and bottom, and the text is in white against a black background. The overall style of the image is dark and moody, with a focus on the Joker's character and the themes of societal norms and power.]

There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. We track all types.

Do not encourage violence here, we aren't trying to give them any excuses to shut it down.

Newcomers should pay attention to shills targeting these threads with discrediting/discouraging attempts as well as injection of misinformation and bad leads.

I see. Been finding myths that explain the origin of people as having come from a snake deity. Whoever created the myth knew and allowed it to disseminate must've known about the virus but still nothing was done.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Traffcking

my soul mate is infected with the femen virus. she moved to new york recently and started dating a satanist and isis sympathizer. it was my fault because i was too scared to talk to her for over a year, even though she was into me and would always come up to me trying to initiate conversation. then finally she got tired and moved to jew york and roped the first guy she met from new york into a relationship.

i did a social experiment where i went out to bars (im extremely good looking and a chad, not to brag) and told girls I was from new york and every single one wanted to sleep with me. one girl even turned into a 6 month relationship, all because she thought i was from new york. this girl (not my soul mate) turned me into a beta male clinton sympathizer and because i thought i'd never have a chance with my true soul mate this is the ultimate lesson of the book of genesis, women are naturally drawn towards evil and temptation and material possessions. that's why so many of them want to move to a major city like new york or LA. without a strong man to guide them, women are lost at sea.

the femen virus can not spread in the presence of strong men, but it flourishes around beta males. my soul mate meets all the criteria of the femen virus, right down to the nose ring and obsession with snakes. you guys have to pay attention to nose rings and tattoos and brightly colored hair. those infected with the femen virus the most almost always have nose rings the femen virus, i believe, represents a poor brain balance in neurotransmitters. people either give others attention, or take attention for themselves. people are either sterile, or fertile and virile. european art is virile, and jewish art is sterile.

the history of civilization is a balance between women's desire to cause a civilizations downfall against man's desire to build up civilization. notice how death grips didnt get popular until they released an album with a cover that represented today's gender roles

[The image shows a white marble statue of a winged figure seated on a pedestal. The figure is depicted in a dynamic pose, with one arm resting on its knee and the other extended outward. The wings of the figure are spread out, and the figure's head is turned to the side, as if gazing into the distance. The statue is positioned in a room with a high ceiling and a wooden floor, and there is a framed painting hanging on the wall to the right of the statue. The lighting in the room is bright, illuminating the statue and creating a contrast with the surrounding environment. The style of the image is a standard photograph with a focus on the statue, capturing its details and the room's interior. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image.]

Did you know you can do a traditional glitch art style using a text editor?
Change the .jpg to a .txt
Open in a text editor
Go about to the middle of the text and start making random changes
Then save and change back to a .jpg
And you should have some glitch art effects

Why do shills show up when memes are being made?

Fig. 3 Images of case 3. a CT scan performed just before STD showing slit ventricles. b CT performed 2 months after STD during presentation with elevated ICP symptoms. The ventricles are still very small, and the temporal flaps are bulging. c . MRI performed 5 months after the cranial expansion demonstrating relative enlargement of the

[The image is a digital illustration featuring two characters. On the left, there is a muscular man with a prominent yellow mohawk hairstyle, a bald head, and a red tank top with the word "CHUH!" written across the front. He is smiling and has his hand on his face, as if in a moment of surprise or amusement. His facial expression is friendly and jovial. On the right, there is a man with dark hair, wearing glasses and a dark blue hoodie. He is also smiling, but his expression is more contemplative or serious. His hand is placed on his face, and he is looking at the other character with a mix of curiosity and concern. The background of the image is plain white, which puts the focus entirely on the two characters. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is cartoonish, with a simple, clean line drawing that conveys a sense of playfulness and camaraderie between the two characters.]

Yo dude, nothing you say has any credentials, just pure speculation.

A real redpill? Franks so called femen virus is just herpes

>1 in 4 have some variant, 80% of those people have it and don't know, mostly because they don't show symptoms.
>You can pass it even without symptoms through a process called "shedding"
>Oral herpes can be spread to genitals. As well as fingers, feet and eyes. It can kill new newborns.
>Most people passing it are the ones who don't know or don't disclose.
>The remaining 20% suffer terrible lesions.

>The best part? No one cared until they created propaganda for it in the 80s to sell valtrex. Most Grannies were passing it along and they just called it "cold sores". It helps to mention that some people develop A tolerance to the medication and it doesn't work.
>Possible nerve pain as well. Did I mention that on top of blindness it has a possible link to Alzheimer's?
>You might be asking for proof but I will do no such thing. I know you'll look it up and to your dismay you'll see everything I've said is true.
>Your doctors don't tell you.
>The cdc doesn't tell you.
>Your teachers won't tell you.
>And your parents certainly didn't.
>And neither did the last person you slept with, you know why?
>Because even with regular see Std tests, they won't check if you don't ask.

Your Kb might be the perfect meme to show Normie's, then what might they think?

Correlating the number of people infected isn't the same as showing a mechanism. The mechanisms are what we're looking for in a candidate for Femin, the endocrine disruption and everything. If you can show the relationship of HSV to oxytocin signaling disruption, that would be your proof, not the infection rates or percentages.

Hormones influence behavior, so acting like a cult would be downstream of endocrine disruption. They're not mutually exclusive, so depending on what the members of the cult do, sure it could be caused/influenced by a virus

The reason you can't find what your talking about, the mechanism, is because its not viral its psychological/societal, which is a predicate for other conditions like:

Promiscuity
Degeneracy

And vice versa. Hsv is prevalent in those situations. So are others. Any one of these things could be said to have a role in disrupting these people because those same populations are usually also liberal. This is confirmation bias at its finest.

The only way Herpes appears to be related is that it's promoted by prostaglandin expression.
FV could also be promoted by prostaglandin expression as an inhibitor of oxytocinase, but that's only one possible part of the complete mechanism.

>its not viral its psychological/societal Hormones are the go-between here, with a lot of influence on behavior yet susceptible to influence by viral molecules.

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?
I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity:

Women.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

Oh and speaking about femin virus in history

>Often the maenads were portrayed as inspired by Dionysus into a state of ecstatic frenzy through a combination of dancing and intoxication.During these rites, the maenads would dress in fawn skins and carry a thyrsus, a long stick wrapped in ivy or vine leaves and tipped with a pine cone. They would weave ivy-wreaths around their heads or wear a bull helmet in honor of their god, and often handle or wear snakes.

>These women were mythologized as the 'mad women' who were nurses of Dionysus in Nysa. Lycurgus "chased the Nurses of the frenzied Dionysus through the holy hills of Nysa, and the sacred implements dropped to the ground from the hands of one and all, as the murderous Lycurgus struck them down with his ox-goad". They went into the mountains at night and practiced strange rites.

Things start getting funny when you start noticing the patterns huh.

If you freeze the video and go frame by frame just before the end of the plane supposedly goes into the building the tail end just disappears as if CGI. If you tell a lie for long enough people just accept it as truth. Imagine being one of the people who saw the explosion but didn't see a plane go into the building and then all of a sudden every news station around the world is saying there were planes, plants on the news saying they saw planes, people at work/school said they saw planes on TV you would start to doubt yourself and just think there was planes and that you have a bad memory or fear of being ostracized as a crazy person

>The master plan called for the C_A to enter into the drug smuggling business, in a total and complete fashion
>BUSH would be the secret head of the ONA and handle all of the shipping of the drugs under forged waybills.
>Armitage (Funny, ha ha ha) would be the "gopher" for the group and the intermediary with any "undesirables".
>General Landsdale would handle all of the distribution network and collection services within the military and Vietnam.
>William Colby was to handle the setting up of all of the man-power---from runners, peddlers, pushers, collectors, and so forth, as well as the elimination of any who might prove uncontrollable, be they American or Vietnamese.

>Lt. Col. Ferrera was to use his contacts to Latin America and in the Middle-East, to obtain from various governments the needed drugs--heroin, cocaine, marijuana, LSD, etc. etc as ordered by Colby.

who is holding a sword in one hand and a shield in the other. The overall style of the illustration is reminiscent of traditional Indian art, with its use of bold colors and dramatic poses. The genre of the artwork is fantasy or mythological, as it portrays a character that is not typically found in everyday life.]

1) are those docs real?
2) is there much much more mined gold in the world than officially proclaimed?
3) is that comitee of 300 real?
4) does anybody really own that much money? i mean that number has like 50 digits...
5) who or what is "White Spiritual Boy"?

That sounds like some hippy horseshit, you're basically saying there effectively is no God and power is the only thing that matters. Nature, which is indifferent. If that's the case then we're doomed, trust me, i've thought about it for a while. And how could i be wrong? i'm never wrong. You see how that works.

I don't think you know what Kali or Yuga is. Kali as an age is about the darkness of the human soul and in its age or yugas is in ascedent thus Kali Yuga. Kali is the goddess of blood an avatar of Parvati sent to defeat a unkillable demon Raktabija or Blood Seed who when wounded his blood would fall on the ground and clones of him pop up fully armed. Only Kali through her rage could subdue them and then drink Raktabijas blood from his severed head as the clones were only born if he was concious. But this form made her rage so much that she was going to dance and destabilize this reality and destroy it so Shiva laid down on the path of her dancing advance. Once she realised that she was dncing on her husband she fell out of her trance and fell to get knees upset that an hurt her husband Shiva gets up and consoles her and they retire to Mount Kailash. That's the story so please stop misrepresenting it for your shit attempts at comparison.

the knight is holding the reins. In the background, there is a dragon with a red and yellow body, and it appears to be attacking the knight. The dragon has sharp teeth and is biting the knight's leg. The knight is holding a spear in his right hand and is in a defensive stance. The background of the painting is a dark blue sky with a few clouds, and there are trees and a fire in the distance. The painting style is realistic with a focus on the action and the intensity of the battle. There are no visible texts on the image.]

The assassins...

>Students had to pass through nine degrees of initiation [the same number that are claimed in the York Rite of Freemasonry]. In the first, the teachers threw their pupils into a state of doubt about all conventional ideas, religious and political. They used false analogy and every other device of argument to make the aspirant believe that what he had been taught by his previous mentors was prejudiced and capable of being challenged. The effect of this according to the Arab historian, Makrizi, was to cause him to lean upon the personality of the teachers, as the only possible source of the proper interpretation of facts. At the same time, the teachers hinted continually that formal knowledge was merely the cloak for hidden, inner and powerful truth, whose secret would be imparted when the youth was ready to receive it. [None ever questioned why no secret was ever put forth.] This ‚confusion technique‘ was carried out until the student reached the stage where he was prepared to swear a vow of blind allegiance to one or other of his teachers.

>fuck man i don't know >probably just Milankovitch cycles if people are the main reason for climate change more people means more fucked up climate
White people have fewer children now
Africans keep popping babies out while not having the resources to provide for their litter of kids they rely on food aid, kids grow up on hand outs the cycle continues and gets more severe each generation. population explosion in africa is imminent >there's niggers pouring in to Europe right now whom wouldn't even have been alive if it wasn't for food aid shit from the 80's therefor sending money or food to some starving nigger is ruining the planet nuke africa save the world

[The image depicts a fantastical creature with a monstrous appearance, resembling a fusion of a giant, monstrous, and plant-like entity. The creature's body is covered in a greenish-yellow substance that appears to be a mix of organic and inorganic elements, with some areas showing signs of decay and decay. The creature's head is a large, bulbous, and menacing structure with sharp teeth and a gaping mouth, suggesting a predatory or aggressive nature. The creature's arms are extended outward, with one arm reaching towards the viewer and the other extending towards the background, as if it's reaching out to something or someone. The creature's skin is covered in a network of intricate, branching patterns that give it a textured appearance. The overall color palette of the image is dominated by shades of green, yellow, and orange, with the fiery background adding a dramatic and intense atmosphere. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of fantasy art, with a focus on the creature's menacing and otherworldly appearance. > There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Traffcking

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities.

When I said I could have offered the Canadian something I wasn't kidding.

Most DUMB's are connected by rail and road systems underground. Many northern US based DUMB's have escape/supply routes stretching into/under Canada.

A year-ish ago I would say some of those underground networks were being expanded/worked on in Canada and they were looking to fill positions(since some of the segments are there own divisions sometimes compartmentalized for security reasons).

Instead of the thousands he's currently making, he could have been making millions in "Shut up" money. Many DUMB/Underground systems are connected to public networks in some areas so I would have recommended him asking around different transport/rail companies and even military branches.

But that door was shut when he decided to push the dox of the bait. Too bad.

Someone make sure to show this post to the guy when they get the chance.

Ok, I have followed your KBs from the beginning. You have essentially painted a picture where China has successfully subverted and degenerated the American government and essentially uses us as consumer drones.

China owns the media, China owns the DNC, and China has successfully created an environment where the American people are scapegoating Russia, even though a Russian-USA alliance is the one thing capable of defeating China.

Even if this was revealed to the public, the American people are so docile and pacified they would not care. Just a few weeks ago it was revealed that Nancy Pelosi had a Chinese spy working in her office for 20 years. No one cared and Pelosi still has her job. Ug.

The DNC is openly assisting China with harvesting Americans for organ trafficking and no one is stopping it.

Is this description somewhat accurate?

Would a strong USA-Russia relationship be beneficial for the American people?

Are most "Made in China" products actually made in Cheaper North Korean sweatshops?

Are most "Made in China" Nike products actually made in North Korean slave plants?

As far as technology goes, it was quite advanced. Ozone depletion was massively accelerated due to high volcanic activity. They constructed something similar to the earth shield in "Highlander II"

Emotions = energy. Children = the most intense emotions. Hence why they are used by Satanists in their perverse rituals. There are beings that can feed off of dark emotions, literally. Humanity are livestock in more ways than one, keeping everyone in a state of fear and anger, confusion, etc, = a buffet for these entities that live in a dimension right next to ours.

/pol/ plays a big role here too, keeping everyone full of hateful violent thoughts about the elite (their puppets) all day, wishing for war and destruction, giving off these emotions, feeding these literal demons. Take the lovepill guys, good vibes only (un-ironically).

Also you may want to check this article on How the CIA fucked with the civil rights in the 60's with Gloria Steinem.

https://disobedientmedia.com/2018/09/how-the-cia-undermined-civil-rights/

https://archive.is/WiPea

>Efforts to marginalize and degrade the success of the Civil Rights Movement has played out for many years, but took on an initial intensity during the 1960’s. CIA assets including Gloria Steinem were never far removed from a larger overall process in which black American civil rights leaders were targeted and African American society was disrupted. Agents like Steinem were directly involved with spreading propaganda like a (((virus))) during the 60’s and beyond. The effects on the black community in the United States have been so tragically consequential that they could safely be defined as an experiment in population control.

>“After Black Power, Women’s Liberation” stood in total contrast to previous prevailing philosophies that supported societal models, which Steinem attacked as “patriarchal.” Leadership such as Dr. King preached that the cornerstone to building a strong black American community was the nuclear family. In 1966, King gave a speech where he stated that black America’s “very survival was bound” to their ability to create and foster strong families. “The whole of society,” King said, “rests on this foundation for stability, understanding and social peace.” With figures like King out of the way by 1969 there was clear opportunity to attack what he had seen as a cornerstone of the black society in America – healthy and harmonious families. The spark that was lit by Steinem’s article would inoculate the Civil Rights Movement with a (((new strain of feminism that spread like a pathogen))).

That's about it. Abortion clinics also play into this. Not sure if fetuses can feel emotions in the same way but even if they can't, feelings of guilt might be very strong in the women who go through it, along with the physical pain.

Oh yeah, circumcisions too. That's a big juicy meal for the demons. sheer terror from the babies.

Oh yeah also ley lines are very real, and apparently satanic rituals are conducted right on top of where a lot of lines merge, thus sending the negative energies from the kids used in the rituals right down the lines and across the world, which affects everyone's spirit. It's truly diabolical.

This would be a good idea if done correctly.

Create this billboard cut correctly.
Then lightly glue a water soluble normie friendly paper/picture over it.

Mount the normalize friendly image that just says, "Watch The Past" and a Rolex watch.

The next time it rains the billboard washes away showing the true picture.

at some point, Frank .H. S. , you will inevitably notice that the only people in your thread asking you questions instead of telling you to fuck off are all you. maybe that has already happened and this is all you have left. Maybe you have a legitimate and severe mental illness and can no longer separate reality from theis fantasy world you've created and your "alter egos" from people who actually exist independently of yourself. I suspect this is probably the case, and now I realise that you are probably never going to stop this until what's left of your life that you haven't already destroyed will fall tattered from your grasp as you try fruitlessly to piece together the shambled alternate reality you have created for yourself, or maybe when your mom revokes your internet privileges and stops paying the bill. Either way, I can't imagine the amount of frustration you've caused yourself by doing this and it can't be healthy for a man at the ripe and frail age of 120. I can only hope for your sake that your family never finds these threads after you inevitably kill yourself, as it will only bring them even more confusion and inspire further questions, like when the feminized spine beetles are going to get them in their sleep.

At the bottom of the image, there is a text overlay that reads, "Why did you force me to do this? I just wanted to play video games." The text is in a bold, capitalized font and is in white color, contrasting with the darker background. The style of the image is reminiscent of political or social commentary, with the characters' expressions and the text suggesting a narrative about a person's desire to engage in video games.]

This is a fucking honey trap psy-op, if i have ever seen it in all my 12 years old this site.

It's well constructed strategy, leave bread crumbs leading naive people into some rabbit hole nonsense. The truth is, any of these viral designations as you laid out are simplistically explained by the applied science of psychology. Feminism is an ideology, and it's an easy one to understand why women buy into it. It promises upfront status and collectivist power by association for disgruntled or naive women who know little to no history or hard won western individualism to get some perspective.

It is the type of way you would explain a concept, if you were some type of matrix headed schizo freak who is trying to see through the lens of the voices in his head and past that into reality, and then reclassifying them as descriptors of people based on what those voices have said they ought to be.

Anyways, as you're running a decent OP - I've seen this on 8 ch as well in infrequent times i browse there - I not convinced though after a cursory exploratory read. And as it's quite likely you're fucking nuts, nobody

There is a common theme between the myth of Orpheus and Eurydice, and the biblical story of Lot and his wife. "Do not look back".

Eurydice was bitten by a snake and died. Devastated and desperate, Orpheus was given a chance to get her back from the Underworld. The only condition was to not look back at her on their way up to the real world. Otherwise he would lose her forever. Of course, he looked, and the doors of Hades were shut forever.

Lot and his family were fleeing the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah. His wife looked back and was immediately turned into stone/a pillar of salt.

Don't look back. Burn the bridges. And the infected.
So many clues were left by the ancients..

I think the reason why HTG took a backseat to the A5G threads is because even though we get millions/thousands of watchers, there's only a handful of actors.

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?
His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>Interesting. Where can I find more of this Knowledge Bomb information?

[FEMINISM VIRUS (BIOWEAPON)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?
I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

[LATEST THREAD 05SEP18] White Abortion Rates

White Abortions are being purposely/kept under reported to make Black abortion rates be the focus and look like a “good thing”.

The actual numbers for White Abortions are drastically/dramatically higher, being almost 2x to 3x higher.

White Women are addicted to killing babies and that’s why the White birth rate is dropping in the West. Even when plenty of safe sex and birth control(Frontal Lobe Damage/Disorder) options exist, they just have turned into mass baby killers because of the viral bioweapon virus that is Feminism(Femin Virus).

It’s very ironic how many Whites support Black abortion, yet they have no idea how grave of a problem White Abortion is as their population continuously shrinks smaller and as the demographics continue to increase/change because the other Races women actually want to have children/offspring.

[The image is a digital graphic with a cartoonish style, featuring a character with blonde hair and a surprised expression. The character has a large, open mouth with a tongue sticking out, and a pair of eyes that appear to be wide open. The character's hair is styled in two ponytails, one on each side of its head. The character is wearing a blue ribbon around its neck with the text "CUM SULT" written on it. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a small collection of pills and a pill bottle, suggesting a medical or health-related theme. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the colorful elements in the foreground. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "MMM Birth Control," which is likely a reference to the birth control method. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the use of birth control as a form of self-pleasure.]

I've been trying to leave all the text up to A5 /and using the image to emphasize.

I actually looked for a war field with skulls for the background but settled on the skull wall.

Think I should put WAR in there diagonally in the front?

>White women accounted for the largest share of abortions among the 4 racial and ethnic groups examined (38.7%), although they had the lowest abortion rate: 10.0 per 1000 >largest share >lowest rate

The devil's in the details
The abortion rate is based on demographic population total so of course the majority demographic pop is going to have the "lowest rate" (probably actually the highest rate in reality)

These stats show that the narrative of blacks aborting the most is false.

bottom right corner. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and exaggerated, with a focus on humor.]

Women are feral, men had to domesticate them. Without men they are simply animals. Feral Women vs Domesticated Women are as different as a wild animal vs a domesticated animal.

Selective breeding works with humans just like it does with animals.
The point is that all women have the possibility of becoming feral again, The virus greatly increases that.
Keep them always having kids. They can't rebel if they are always having babies.
Women are designed to have as many kids as her body can have.

Abortion
Once you convinced a population that reproduction is wrong & have them commit Infanticide/Genocide/Suicide by killing there unborn young on the industrial scale, that population will destroy itself.
Abortion is a business/industry, which is why PP has quota's & why where all the remains go needs to be investigated into.
Abortion is designed to Dehumanize & Desensitize. What it does is convince people that they are nothing/don't matter from day 1 of conception, get them used to killing what they biologically create/can do & kill what they are as a species.
While Abortion is widely known for the Eugenics purpose of keeping populations down, it also has had a different Eugenics effect happen as a result of it. Baby's are developing advanced features sooner/at a quicker pace. It's not just advancements in medical tech/knowledge that are showing this. The threat of being killed for not being advanced enough is causing a change. Some Eugenicists are saying this is a "Necessary Evil", others are fascinated by this from a evolution standpoint, while a few disturbing ones are getting off on this.

White nations promote overpopulation, then have low birth rates.
White nations promote climate change, then get de-industrialized.
Also, we have the tech to support lots of people. But its not wide spread or in some cases kept from the public.
Women's only value is the Womb. If they reject that gift of creation then they are useless, a malfunctioning tool/device.

Men are being pushed/coup out of western civilization/society by “empowered” women, specifically White and Jewish feminists leading the charge.
When men are pushed out of society, they create alternatives(Secret societies, Video games/VR, etc). But when women then destroy those and cause infighting over/in them, that is when it gets bad. Men then kill themselves, kill others, become women(crossdressing and transgender) and create artificial women(sexbots and artificial wombs).
The only chance the West has is if they wipe out feminists and remove the right to vote from women.
Women's right to vote, Take it, let them cry and then distract them with meaningless social bullshit and they will forget about it since they don't really care about voting in the first place.
Giving women the right to vote is a sign you want your country to collapse in a few decades.

[Female Human Evolution]

Women are designed to birth children and it’s the only value they have besides being a wet hole. Genetic survival has favored women with wide hips so that large heads can be birthed safely. But because the female body stops the development of the child so it can birth it, human children are developmentally behind where they should/could be.
Birth Control has changed female evolution by making them nothing but wet holes and reducing uterus size and fertility.
Abortion Threat has changed female evolution because it has caused child in-womb development to speed up as a response to the propaganda/social engineering calling them a “clump of cells that isn’t a person”.
C-Sections have changed female evolution due to how it allows women with narrow hips to have children and it has shown that Women’s value is just the Womb(They are called “Wom(b)-Men” for a reason).

[Artificial Wombs]
This technology will free Hu(Man)ity’s from the limitations of the Female body. Artificial Wombs take the one value women have and remove the woman part. That part can be replaced with Sexbots with AI systems.
Humans would be able to develop and be genetically engineered far beyond what they are now. Cloning, Chimeras, Super Soldiers and Artificial Humans would all progress substantially more.
Sperm and Eggs can also be created so it all comes down to the DNA and the combination of it inside the Artificial Womb. So even the chance of the Femin Virus(feminism) spreading can possibly be reduced.

It's a well known fact that as abortion becomes more accessible that Fetus development accelerates to be more advanced earlier. It's creating hyper-evolution in real time, just as advanced technology is becoming part of existence.
If women cannot or do not want to do their purpose(having large numbers of children) they tend to destroy civilization.
It's like a machine that self destructs if a condition isn't met.

Artificial Wombs becoming public would be as great of a technological advance of society as smartphones have been.
Artificial Wombs would be something you could purchase like any appliance.
The only way you can "save" the west is wiping out all feminists. But since most Men and governments are retarded about the fact that it's a viral bioweapon with no cure, salvaging the West after it implodes is a more likely option.
Feminists are very "demonic" compared to how "angelic" normal women are in comparison to them.

[The image is a vibrant and detailed illustration that appears to be a part of a larger artwork, possibly a painting or a tapestry, given the intricate patterns and the style of the artwork. The central focus of the image is a group of people, possibly deities or mythological figures, gathered around a central figure who is seated on a throne-like structure. This central figure is holding a lotus flower, a symbol often associated with purity and divinity in various cultures. The central figure is surrounded by a group of mermaids, who are depicted in a variety of poses and colors, adding to the dynamic and lively atmosphere of the scene. The mermaids are holding objects that resemble musical instruments, suggesting a musical or ceremonial context. The background of the image features a landscape with a tree and a building, providing a sense of location and setting for the gathering. The colors used in the artwork are bright and varied, with a palette that includes reds, blues, yellows, and greens, contributing to the overall vibrancy and richness of the scene. The image is rich in detail and symbolism, and it is likely to be a part of a larger narrative or story, possibly from a religious or mythological tradition, given the presence of the central figure and the mermaids. The style of the artwork is reminiscent of traditional Indian art, with its use of vibrant colors and intricate patterns, which are characteristic of Indian art traditions.]

So looking into snake charming further, it's an ancient practice mainly practiced in India and Hindu people, but has its origins in Egypt. Also originally the practice was passed down within families through the generations and was actually practiced by the higher classes. I have some questions.

1. Was Ancient Egypt highly advanced? Did they actively combat the femin virus?

2. Is there an actual physical connection between the virus and the animal? Was the animal used in its creation?

3. Any interesting intel on the hindu religion?

From wikipedia:
>The pungi, also called the been and murli, is a wind instrument played by snake charmers on the Indian subcontinent. The instrument consists of a mouth-blown air reservoir made from a gourd, which channels air into two reedpipes. The pungi is played with no pauses, with the player employing circular breathing. The pungi originated in India and is still played by snake charmers in street performances.

Now here is some instruments that use "circular breathing":

Alboka
Algoze
Arghul
Didgeridoo
Dizi
Duduk
Hornpipe
Kaval
Kèn bầu
Khlui
Launeddas
Mey
Mijwiz
Mizmar
Pi
Practice chanter
Pungi
Quadruple reed
Shawm
Sipsi
Sralai
Suling
Suona
Zurna

All of these are ancient instruments that have their roots in old folklore. Perhaps there is more significance to these weird ass instruments?

https://infogalactic.com/info/Reed_pipe

A reed pipe (also referred to as a lingual pipe) is an organ pipe that is sounded by a vibrating brass strip known as a reed. Air under pressure (referred to as wind) is directed towards the reed, which vibrates at a specific pitch. This is in contrast to flue pipes, which contain no moving parts and produce sound solely through the vibration of air molecules. Reed pipes are common components of pipe organs.

The dog appears to be sitting on a surface, possibly a couch, with its eyes closed and mouth slightly open, as if it's smiling or laughing. The dog's eyes are closed, and its mouth is slightly open, giving the impression of a joyful expression. The dog's eyes are not visible, and the focus is on the dog's facial features. The collar around the dog's neck has a pink and white pattern, and there is a heart-shaped tag attached to it. The background is out of focus, but it appears to be a wooden wall or paneling. > There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Traffcking

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations.

There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities.

Bezmenov stated that he was also instructed not to waste time with idealistic leftists, as these would become disillusioned, bitter, and adversarial when they realized the true nature of Soviet Communism. To his surprise, he discovered that many such were listed for execution once the Soviets achieved control. Instead, Bezmenov was encouraged to recruit the persons in large circulation, established conservative media, rich filmmakers, intellectuals in academic circles, and cynical, ego-centric people who lacked moral principles.

During that period, increasingly seeing the Soviet system as insidious and ruthless, Bezmenov began careful planning to defect.

Hey Anon5,
Been following you since before the US election and participated in quite a few threads, along with some of the HTG ones from last summer mapping LA. I asked some math questions before in other threads and I understand if you don't have the time or if it's not your field, but do you have anything interesting about mainstream physics and math beyond any of the hints about behind-the-curtain tech? I started an engineering program last year and while I'm making my way through it, I wonder what is being left out of my education. There is a guy named Miles Mathis with a personal website that has many very interesting articles that he has written about math and science trying to correct what he says are errors in the current mainstream-accepted derivations and models. I don't really know enough yet to know if what he says is true or not but found his articles fascinating. Any thoughts?

I know the femin virus stuff is more important at the moment and I have been trying to spread the info as well. Was just wondering if you know of any errors or omissions in current science. How much is just heuristics?

Thinking out loud about what you said about buoyancy and space being like an ocean, what fluid/medium causes buoyancy in space if it is a vacuum? Floating on top of the earth's atmosphere only gets you so far, right?

Less dense that the medium - you float
More dense than the medium - you sink

Any vessel is more dense than a vacuum -- so how does it "float"?

Is it truly a vacuum? According to the mainstream physics, only electromagnetic waves can travel outside of a medium. Is this correct?

Yuri's job was to prepare a "grassroots" communist revolution in India.
In 1970s Soviet Union was trying to expand south and ultimately conquer both India and Middle East. Invasion of Afghanistan was a first step. If it succeeded, it would allow Soviets to either move West to cut off NATO's oil (Afghanistan->Iran->Iraq->Saudi Arabia) or East to conquer India (Afghanistan->Pakistan->India).
All countries were supposed to go by the same playbook as Afghanistan:
> communist revolution starts > revolutionary forces seize government buildings and radio/TV stations > proclaim "people's government" > broadcast a message asking Soviet Union to help > civil war starts
> Soviet forces invade and mop up.

Secondly, I think A5, when I asked about Loki, was trying to get me to realize he was always infected with the femin virus, actions like seducing a male horse and randomly killing a river otter seems to fall in line with what he's described the infected are like.

Also was thinking about this KB card,Women tried multiple times to gain voting rights between 1870-1900 but finally got the rights in 1920. WW1 lasted from 1914-1918 and ended the lives of many strong men, the lack of those strong men are what lead to women gaining voting rights.

I try to be skeptical but always keep coming back, and I do always find your revelations interesting. A little disappointed but I think I understand why you can't give that stuff away.

Griffins' origins are said to come from the Scythians, who said these creatures were guarding their gold mines and treasures. It is believed the Scythians invented their shape after stumbling upon protoceratops fossils in the Gobi desert.

Sure and if it sparks the high IQ posters it's worth it.

The only solution to bringing back quality posters is to create quality topics.

Truly, 4chan and The_Donald needs to be banned. Trump needs to leave Twitter.

The final solution is a digital tea party and migrate to new platforms.

They will never let any ingroup safe space exist, they will always attack any couter-ideaology to the commie monolith. They will never leave us alone.

These are good, I was just thinking about another infographic to emphasize how our genes/progress are hurt from Feminism and Weak men convincing people not to seek (or that there is not) a mate with the most superior genes that they can get (for intelligence, physical fitness, fertility traits, immunity).

Just a note for idiots that "the most superior genes" to mate with does not mean any specific race (although it could for the individual). This is about telling people that everyone is equal and there's no pride in being born genetically smarter than average or beautiful (good genes) or otherwise talented, and to seek out landwhale feminists because muh equality.

>ALL /A5G/ GENERALS
https://pastebin.com/P7JPPRvW

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?
Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?
His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>Interesting. Where can I find more of this Knowledge Bomb information?

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?
I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

One of the most interesting rabbit holes Anon5 takes us on is a combination of a few tidbits of info. First, the intel that HR Giger was murdered for what he showed. Second, the globalist trans humanist agend. Third, the Momoch KB of how a God that is worshipped can be changed. Fourth, the intel on Globalist cults. He is acknowledging the existence if something pretty sinister but doesn’t dwell on it. Fascinating stuff.

[The image is a close-up photograph of a man's face. He has dark hair and is wearing a white shirt and a tie. His expression is serious, with a slight frown. He is holding a cigarette in his mouth, and the cigarette is partially lit. The background is blurred, but it appears to be an indoor setting with a window and a wall with a pattern. And we don't even know who knows what, through compartmentalization & useful idiots.
>In December 2010, the WHO, UNICEF, the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) together with the Gates Foundation proclaimed the Decade of Vaccines Collaboration, designed to increase coordination across the international vaccine community and to create a Global Vaccine Action Plan.8 This makes the Gates Foundation the largest non-state funder of the WHO and, in 2014, the second largest donor overall (after the USA). The Gates Foundation’s grants are earmarked contributions and as such influence, de facto, the priority setting of the WHO. Not directly referring to the Gates Foundation but to the general problem of earmarked funds, which are limited to specific programmes or programme areas, WHO Director-General Margaret Chan admitted as much when she said, “(m)y budget [is] highly earmarked, so it is driven by what I call donor interests.”87 An analysis of twenty-three global health partnerships by political economists Buse and Harmer in 2007 revealed that seven relied entirely on Gates Foundation funding and another nine listed the Gates Foundation as the single largest donor.92

If you look at the Billionaire Canadian couple that was murdered/suicided, that should help expose more.

That couple worked with a church to develop BioWeapons for use in Africa.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/National_Institute_of_Virology https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/All_India_Institutes_of_Medical_Sciences

Important to note that they began studying the relationship between certain insects (arthropods) and their viruses in 1952:

A5 / Anonymous5,

1) Did the military test the Virus on Africans/Ugandans first before deploying it in the US late 60s?

2) When was the actual creation time?

3) Steinem pushed it in late 60s you say.
But she worked for them in the late 50s, early 60s (and still) in the SRI/NSA shuttling test Subjects around in 62.

4) 1957/1962 isn't late 60s was the virus used during this time?

4a) on those ((subjects))?

4b) if not was it at least in testing around that time?

I know you are busy with things today but if you could answer these pointers it would really help decide the next avenue to look down so I don't waste time.

Again, Thank you.

agreed, to be fair I never realized just how bad it was until A5 pointed it out but I was pretty staunchly anti-abortion even before that revelation.
It just seemed like a net negative as a whole to begin with and figured even if that shill line was true it still wasn't worth the trade-off loss of the white births to begin with because theres better alternative population control methods.

The biggest redpill on abortion before the rigged stats one to cover up white women genociding their own children was learning how much a single abortion damaged the womb and impacted any subsequent births.

1) Don't know. You would have to see if any interesting activity with the population happened.

2) You mean isolating a sample and creating a strain?. You can get some idea from more well known virus's and viral projects/programs.

4)-4a)-4b) If some time is taken to research when things really "ramp up" that can give you an idea of when it was really starting to be spread more actively.

Apparently Sweden has been giving certain portions of the female population an opportunity to vote since 1718. No wonder they are doing worse than most of their neighbors.

But it is a minority problem. Read the report yourself.

There were a total of ~650,000 abortions in 49 out of 52 reporting areas. (only 3 areas didn't report in 2014)

The race section only included 30 areas that included the most complete data which also separated out "other" and "hispanic" from the white group. roughly 400,000 total abortions are counted in this section. Of those 400,000, around 150,000 were white. Even if 100% of the remaining abortions were white (~250,000), white abortions would be at 400,000. That translates to approximately 203 per capita for whites at the extremely high end.

Blacks account for ~142,000 abortions in the data set.That number alone puts their rate at roughly 326 per capita.

Some of the states left off the list include very black areas like Chicago, New Orleans, Boston, and Mississippi. The likelihood of whites being 100% of the missing numbers is practically 0 - but even if they were - you'd still be wrong.

The baby boomers were a very, very white generation due to the fact that the majority of immigration up until 1965 came from Europe. They are dying off more rapidly than expected while middle aged working class whites are facing a mortality crisis from suicide, alcoholism, and opioids. Perfect storm.

Minority groups are only growing from immigration. More immigrants came to the US (mainly from the Third World) since 1965 than came to the US over the entire 19th century (42 million vs. 56 million). Many more are staying than was the case in the past too.

Blacks had a high birth rate once but now are at the point that they are growing almost totally from immigration and will probably shrink in the future.

The white birth-rate is actually higher now than it was in the 1980s (1.82) so the white population is recovering from a birth rate that was once negative combined with the die-off of older members (who were a larger generation hence the name "boomer")

In the short-run, things look bad, but they actually are not that bad as a whole.

Fucking bullshit, you retarded kike.

American niggers abort their babies at the highest rate per capita of any race on the planet Earth. In fact, abortion is THE NUMBER 1 CAUSE OF DEATH for niggers in America. If it wasn't for abortion the population of niggers would QUADRUPLE within a single generation. Anyone who is against abortion is, by default, in favor of having explosive growth in the nigger population in America.

My two question to you and Anon5 is:

1) what can be done to begin unraveling the feminist ideals that have lodged themselves into so many women's minds. I'm talking about on an interpersonal level, so for people we know well assumed.

2) what (on both an individual and mass communication scale: answer for each please) can speed up the process of healing the Femin Virus.

I think the mass scale communication of unraveling will involve a return to young girls playing with girl toys that reinforce those gender roles for women.

Paper: The Michigan Daily (a 'school' ran paper)
VolIss: (vol.65, iss. 1)

Title: For NSA Affiliates: SL Inaugurates Discount Plan at 'U'
Excerpt: "A national discount system, which enables University students to recive discounts on a large var-iety of merchandise at selected stores throughout the country, has begun operations on campus.
The Student Discount Service (SDS), operated by the National Student Association was brought to the campus by the Student Legislature. It enrolls the Univer-sity in a system in existence of dozens of colleges in all parts of the country which gives five to 50 per cent discounts to students through local and nation-wide mercahnts.
While no complete list of contracted merchants has yet been received by SL, 17,000 Purchase Cards were distributed by SL dur-ing registration.
No Local Merchants
It is not expected, according to SL's NSA Coordinator Jane Ger-many. '56, that Ann Arbor mer-chants will join the plan at pres-ent. However, approximately 50 detroit merchants have already been contracted and an increase in that number is now expected.
Approval to join the SDS net-work was given by SL last semes-ter. According to Larry Levine, '56, Public Relations Chairman, who suggested joining the system last spring, the retailer who joins the Purchase Card System finds that the increase in the volume of sales more than makes up for the lower prices.
"He has a direct appeal to the 30,000 students in this vicinity, Levine said, "because he is able to count on more trade from stu-dents he can stock more goods for students."
Varied Items
Items available for discount are varied, from theater tickets to gas-oline and automobile tires."

Title: "Conditional Recognition Granted PIC"
Author: Jean Spencer
Excerpt: "Student Government Council conditionally recognized the Po-litical Issues Club and calendared a conference on "Problems of Dis-crimination in the North" planned by the PIC for Apr. 28 to May 1.
Affiliation of the PIC with the national Students for Democratic Society was approved. The SDS is a student branch of the League for Industrial Democrats, and the recognition of the PIC stipulated that the PIC constitution state this connection.
It was also proposed that the PIC be directed to change its name to one "more commensurate with the real purpose" of the club, and that a copy of the LID constitu-tion be distibuted to every new member of the PIC. Rationale for these proposed conditions for rec-ognition said that the national organizations are advocates of so-cialism.
Assertion False
This assertion was termed "blatantly false" by Al Haber, '60 who is a member both of SGC and the PIC, and these two proposed conditions were deleted from the motion.
The conference on discrimina-tion in the north will be sponsored jointly by the PIC and the SDS.

In other consideration of dis-crimination, the Council devoted one and a half hours to further discussion of proposed regulations in the area of restrictive member-ship practices.
The Council decided not to give further consideration to Phil Zook's motion to adopt regulations on restrictive practices and con-trol of membership selection.
In speaking for his motion, Phil Zook, '60, said that his regulation was intended to form a basis for detailed procedure in handling groups that do not meet SGC rec-ognition criteria.
A major objection to this mo-tion was its attempt to consider a proposal of a regulation without outlining a procedure for imple-menting it.
Objection
Objection was also raised re-garding the word "disciplinary," describing SGC action on evidence that an organization prohibited membership on discriminatory bases.
Members felt the word connoted a policy of penalizing offending groups rather than working for elimination of dis-crimination as a whole.
The Council continued discus-sion on the Haber-Miller motion, which includes procedure to consider evidence and present-recommendation for council ac-tion on cases involving discrim-ination.
The motion as revised speci-fies membership of three students, two faculty members and two ad-ministrators appointed by the Council from recommendations, having equal voting rights."

Section: Controversial Issues:
Title: "Haber Answers Political Club Criticism"
Author: Stuart Dow
Excerpt: ""We are a radical group in that we feel students should be inter-ested in what's going on in the world around them, and in that we will discuss Controversial is-sues." Al Haber, '60 said.
In this way Haber answers those people who accuse the Political Issues Club of being a group of radicals.
PIC was originally founded on this campus on December 19, 1956. It died last spring from lack of interest. Reorganized this fall by Haber, it now has 55 active mem-bers and a mailing list of over 250. This winter it became affiliated with the national Students for Democratic Society. Haber is the national vice-president of SDS.

"It is not necessary to belong to both groups," Haber Said. "One can be a member of PIC and not SDS."

Advocates Action

"The student years are not ones where one should wait for some-thing," Dewitt C. Baldwin, ad-viser to PIC, commented. "Stu-dents should get into things and take an active interest in current problems. The function of PIC is to encourage students to do just this."

To accomplish this the club each week presents one or two guest speakers on controversial issues. Each speech is followed by a dis-cussion period.

The programs this semester have been on a wide variety of subjects. Issues such as the Na-tional Defense Education Act, the Anti-Fascist Movement on the Continent, the H. Chandler Davis Case, and the proposed University tuition increase have all been dis-cussed. PIC even sponsored an open house for Student Govern-ment Council candidates during the recent campaign.

To Sponsor Discussion

"We will sponsor a discussion on any subject, which someone is in-terested in presenting," said Brere-ton Bissell, '61, chairman of PIC. "We are more than willing to work with any group or individual, who wishes to present a program which might be of interest to our mem-bership and the student body in general."

This spring the club is sponsor-ing a conference to discuss "Dis-crimination in the North," from April 28-May 1. Such people as James J. McCain of the Congress of Racial Equality and Jim Farm-er, program directer of the National Association for the Advance-ment of Colored People, are among the speakers. Thurgood Marshall of the NAACP and Martin Luther King have also been invited, but have not as yet replied.

"In addition to the main speak-ers, there will be some thirty top resource people leading discussion groups," Haber said. "Along with the presenting of information on the subject of discrimination here in the North, we hope the confer-ence will act as a leadership train-ing program in ways and means of combatting it. Over three hundred students from all around the Mid-west are expected to attend."

Secretary Here

Charles Van Tassel, former Ex-ecutive Secratary of SDS and now the paid secretary of the confer-ence, is presently here on campus helping to arrange the conference. Besides working here, he makes frequent trips around the Mid-west to arouse interest in the con-ference

In preparation for the confer-ence, recent PIC programs have revolved around the issue of discrimination. People such as Anna Holden, Grad., of CORE, and Wil-liam Goode of the Michigan Co-ordinating Council for Civil Rights have talked on discrimination problems here in the North.

"It is necessary to build up pub-lic opinion to meet and accept new laws and advances in law." Bald-win said. "One can accomplish much more through education than through rabble-rousing. One of the purposes of the conference is to educate people about what has been done in the past and what can be done in the future. Conviction should lead to action."
Discussion Group
Originally PIC was set up to be just an impartial discussion group. "This is no longer the case," Haber said. "We now try to put the out-come of our discussions into ac-tion. We are moving towards being an action club in addition to being an active club. From now on we will be discussing not just the problems involved but ways and means of solving them. Our present interest is in the field of civil rights."
"For instance we are planning to collect money to help pay the fines of the Negro students, who participated in the sit-down strikes in the South recently." Bissell said.
"Students should be excited and deeply concerned with the prob-lems facing the world today, but they aren't," Haber said. "Until they are, there will always be a need for a group such as PIC.""

Title: "Meeting Here: Prepare for Human Rights Conference" Author:
Excerpt: "Final preparations are now be-ing made for the Conference for Human Rights in the North to be held on campus this weekend.
About 400 students from more than 40 colleges and universities are expected to attend the meet-ing, which begins Thursday and runs through Sunday. Most of the schools represented are in the east and midwest. Busses will bring groups from New York City and Athens, Ohio.
Al Haber, '60, conference coor-dinator held a meeting recently to explain the conference to in-terested University students, Ap-proximately 75 students attended and 60 to 70 are expected to at-tend the conference. Representa-tives from the Ann Arbor Human Relations Conference and the Hu-man Relations Board of Student Government Council will also at-tend.
The conference is sponsored by the Students for Democratic So-ciety, a group affiliated with the League for Industrial Democracy. The League is an educational, non-profit and non-partisan or-ganization founded in 1905. It is concerned with the social and economic problems of an indust-rial society.
Action-oriented
Habner explained that the con-ference, whose local sponsor is the Political Issues Club, is action-oriented. It hopes to show stu-dents the areas in which they can work effectively to end discrim-ination and the most effective methods to employ.
"We are now in the midst of a movement on the part of students for human rights, the scope of which we could not have imagined a few months ago. We want to make sure that the momentum of this movement will not die out.
"We want to channel it into continuing programs for social action on the basic Northern problems -- housing, employment, and the rest."

Milgram, the president of Mod-ern Community Developers has been building interracial develop-ments for nearly ten years. His most notable projects have been in Princeton, N.J., and just out-side of Philadelphia.
Milgram works carefully with communities involved in an attempt to prepare the commun-ity for his development. The Deer-field situation is the first time that he has become involved in court action.
List Topics
Other speakers will be James Farmer, national program direct-or of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Lt. Gov. John Swain-son.
Among the specific topics to be discussed are: Increasing Negro employment opportunities, voter registration and political oppor-tunities, integrating housing, sym-pathetic action for the Southern movement, direct non-violent ac-tion, fraternities and sororities, integration in campus activities and social life, developing the ac-tion potential of the Negro com-munity, higher education, pro-grams for minority group youth, the mass movement and leader-ship training programs.

THE WORKGROUPS
(Friday and Saturday, 2-4 P.M.)
The task of the workgroups will be to develop concrete programs of action. Each of the workgroups is concerned with some area of potential action on the part of students. The workgroups will suggest specific programs in these areas and should recommend steps to implement these programs in as much detail as possible.
These recommendations will be presented to the conference as a whole for approval at the Sunday session.
Specifically, the workgroups will be concerned with these questions:
1) What are the problems and what is their extent?
2) What are the forces which hinder solution of the problems?
3) What are the concrete possibilities of student action?
The last question will be considered in terms of specific programs:
the form of the action; the manner in which the action is to be or-ganized; the resources on which the action program will draw.
After the topic heading of each workgroup are listed problems pos-sibly suited to student action. These items do not constitute an agenda; they are suggestions, listed in order to delimit the ground each work-group will cover (either in whole or in part), and to exemplify the level of specificity on which each group will operate.

WORKGROUP I: INCREASING NEGRO EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES
Suggested Focus: Canvassing employers willing to hire Negroes to apply for jobs that are open; educational programs on FEPC and com-plaint-filling procedure; increasing opportunities for acquiring additional skills; problems of university hiring policies; etc.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/National_Institute_of_Virology https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/All_India_Institutes_of_Medical_Sciences

Important to note that they began studying the relationship between certain insects (arthropods) and their viruses in 1952:

SDS was financed by Soros (he is still a funnel for it).

The BioWeapon they created causes brain damage, physical Mutations, and a hive mentality modeled after Insects.

They also provided 80% of the money for the IRSI (Independent Research Services Inc.)

Paste Excerpt below:
Peace != Inaction
Independent Research Services Inc's (IRSI) trips to the Festivals were not only about infecting the festival goers but tracking what happened to the people picked to visit the Festival\Be Infected.

IRSI Founders:
Dr. Paul E. Sigmund Jr (3rd)
Gloria Steinem

(Directors:
Gloria Steinem
Dennis Shaul
Eugene Theroux (Brother of Paul Theroux, Son of Phyllis Theroux)

Money flowed from the CIA -> IRSI & CIA -> National Students Association (NSA)

SDS links to Human Rights Watch (Soros) & Weather Underground / Weathermen.

All of these are connected to the National Student Association which allowed Ann Arbor College to be over run and become a breeding ground for these as well.

And these were created/listed in order:
>Intercollegiate Socialist Society
>League For Industrial Democracy (46-59)
>(SLID) Student League For Industrial Democracy

Which birthed
>(SDS) Students for a Democratic Society
Which birthed
>Weather Underground/Weathermen

All of this brings up Elizabeth Bentley, Abraham Brothman, Alger Hiss, CFR, Harold Glasser, Morton Sobell, William Remington, Madalyn Murray Ohair etc

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?
I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

Map of Trafficking Networks in the USA
[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

[The image is a composite of two separate photographs, both of which are of the same building, which appears to be a modern skyscraper. The building has a glass facade and is situated in a cityscape with a clear blue sky above. The photograph on the left shows the building in its original state, with a large, weathered stone structure that appears to be a pyramid or temple. The photograph on the right shows the building in a different state, with the same glass facade but with a different color scheme, suggesting a modern or contemporary design. Overlaying the two photographs is a text that reads "CHILD SACRIFICE" in large, bold, white letters. Below the text, in smaller white font, is the year "1515" and "2015." The text and the year are positioned in such a way that they appear to be superimposed over the two photographs, creating a visual juxtaposition between the past and the present. The text and the year are the only elements in the image that are not part of the photographs. The overall style of the image is a satirical or humorous commentary on the concept of sacrifice, with the juxtaposition of the ancient structure and the modern building symbolizing the passage of time and the transformation of architecture.]

>ALL /A5G/ GENERALS
https://pastebin.com/P7JPPRvW

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?
Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?
His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>Interesting. Where can I find more of this Knowledge Bomb information?

I think what it comes down to is that the "virus" really distorts the perception or lens through which people view the world.

For instance, it changes whether people put their efforts into coming up with pragmatic solutions versus idealistic solutions. And the idealistic outcomes they strive for will never be achieved with a slight change, those goals will only be achieved through a complete restructuring of every variable. That is why liberalism, and of course feminism as it is now and the last two waves, are bad. Because it is just a stop along the journey for realizing the completed satanic system which is Marxist communism.

This is creating a moral vacuum which is not being properly filled. Thus the youth are left to listen to their instinct rather than strive for something above their carnal desires. That's my assessment of what is happening to the youth as of now under the current stages of liberalism. But the moral vacuum is easy to fill. There just needs to be an alternative of sources that people can cling to. I'm working on that now, as a project. With the same vigor Terry had.

The moral vacuum which is facing children is perhaps a more important issue to focus on understanding, because it creates the cycle of furthering the poison of society while reinforcing social proof the direction of the world. Just look what (((they've))) done to wholesome children's shows. Compare reboots to the originals just fifteen years ago even.

Everyone needs to focus on coming up with a solution to the moral vacuum that satanist jews are trying to fill. They ban the productive morals, by labeling them as perpetuating repressive stereotypes, and while blocking those good ideals for children to strive for, they inject their own indoctrination upon them. And it's a monopoly, so to speak, on what media the children are consuming.

In closing, let's work on giving children and their parents, more options to select from.
Without negative subversive programming.

I believe it is akin to a chemical feed back loop that people have been programmed (through accepting certain messages and manufactured virtues) to accept. And thus they wish to spread these same messages to others because they believe they are looking out for their friend's or family's best interest by doing so and passing the same mechanisms for brain chemical triggers (the feed-back loop) to them. So we are essentially on the same page.

Whether it's a virus in the biological sense or not, that is not important if you believe there is no cure. As you already said in reply to my first post.

What we need to focus on now is to see if we can get people infected to change their behavior overtime.

And from evidence of /pol/, it appears some people are able to change their behavior and believes in a way that is favorable to coming up with pragmatic solutions rather than aligning with idealistic ones that stem from the mind virus.
I will read the posts you linked. But I wanted to clarify that I see as a biological effect on these people as well as you do, based on brain chemistry and internalized values that reinforce poisonous behavior.

Excerpt from:
https://archive.4plebs.org/pol/thread/183855976/#q183866879

"Social engineering doesn't create these monsters. It merely amplifies or stimulates conditions. The hash reality is that you are going to have to wipe them all out if they are that far gone from the social engineering."

"1) It's just not possible to create a cure. It's been tried and doesn't work and can't work.

2) The infected want to kill the immune/resistant more then anyone."

"The US military was experimenting with the virus. A few of the infected reached mutation stage(somehow) broke out and killed dozens of personal and multiple armored vehicles. Allowing the rest of the infected to escape.

The infected were found after weeks of searching in different locations across the country. They went in every direction(N,S,E,W,NE,NW,SW,SE) from the escape location, some were found on the other side(they naturally traveled to the furthest points away from infection, just like how western women love "traveling") of the country/continent.

The only reason why they were found was because of all the dead wildlife and any poor souls that tried to help them(thinking they were regular women) and massacred small towns in the middle of no where.

CIA was just who they decided should spread a "refined" version of the strain. Since R&D was hell on earth("Demonic") essentially."

So the virus works through attaching itself with the DNA of the host through intasomes. This explains how the virus would enter into the brain and effect the production of OXT through DNA manipulation. And it is well established that viruses can do this.

This is also a case that is not outside the realm of possibility.

I wasn't too far off with it being brain chemical manipulation. But I had the wrong answer. My answer was for the cause being social values internalized into people to enact feedback loops of chemical dysphoria if someone fell outside of the social constrains put in place.

In a way, this is simpler because it is far less abstract. The big obstacle would be getting people to actually understand the information.

It appears that we need to either find a way to identify biologically the signs of the virus being expressed through DNA or proteins in molecules. Or research if there's anyway to naturally increase the efficiency of oxytocin receptors (OXTR) that already exist. I'm sure there's a variance of effects for certain people. In people who are more hindered in the production of OXT and less with their receptors, maybe it would ease the expressed effects of the virus.

I'm going to look into the paraventricular nucleus. Also see if there are natural ways to either a) increase oxytocin production in the brain or b) increase the efficiency/health of the receptors.

2) Infected, obtain Clones/bots to use instead of risking others, lock myself away in a DUMB fighting back infection and against it until I succumb/die alone reading my library.
>Terrible, but acceptable

3) Infected/Verified, infiltrate fems to assist in the eventual outcome. Probably get purged alongside everyone else (or hope to move consciousness if that's real)
>This would suck, but it is something that is also acceptable

4) Infected/Verified, but told, "Don't worry about it your test came back negative... hey what's that over there in the corner?!" blam taken out Lennie/Mice and Men style

Is this the first time you guys have seen a femin virus thread? Have you seen and of the previous /A5G/ or Logic Bomb threads?

If you have seen previous threads, is this your first time posting and inquiring? Did the heavy shill presence discourage you from posting back then?

I've seen them but haven't really looked into them. Difficult at times to discern what is legitimate and what is inane schizo rambling and what is purposeful disinfo.

Yes

What is your motive for posting these? Disinfo? If it's a real virus why would you alert /pol/ of all places? If it's a real virus, is there a roadmap to make the public aware?

Although I was talking to some feminist girl lately and I couldn't get over some instinctual feeling there was something absolutely insane about how she thinks. I cut communication. She even asked me if I carried a gun on me at all times (wtf)

How the virus acts: it is a retrovirus that inserts its genome into the human genome. The inserted genome disrupts the DNA sequence and expression of a gene involved in regulation of oxytocin hormone signaling.

This causes disparities in oxytocin, which is involved in maternity, pair-bonding, ingroup preference, and dopamine/serotonin regulation, all things that feminists tend to lack.

The retrovirus affects many parts of the body, including the limbic and reproductive system.

OP, you're going to love this. You might've even posted this already. Not too sure.
But I found an article that discusses the effects of variations within the oxycocin receptors and giving utilitarian judgement.

In the introduction:
>They found that L-allele carriers gave more utilitarian responses to dilemmas in which the harm is merely foreseen rather than intended. They found no effect of genotype on responses to dilemmas in which the utilitarian action requires an intentional harm. This pattern is surprising because it is dilemmas involving (‘personal’) intentional harm that are the most affectively salient

In the results section:
>The present results provide evidence for a link between variation in OXTR and moral judgment, employing a sample of more than 500 individuals responding to set of widely studied moral dilemmas. In Study 1 (N = 228), we observed a correlation between variation in SNP rs237889 and the frequency of utilitarian judgment (P = 0.019, uncorrected), with a linear trend observed across T/T, C/T and C/C genotypes (Figure 1, left). Study 2 replicated this finding using a larger sample (N = 322), revealing significant effects using the same testing materials (P = 0.013) and a new set of medical dilemmas (P = 0.015) (Figure 1, right). Once again, the effect observed in Study 2’s replication sample was nearly identical to that observed in Study 1. Thus, these data provide the strongest evidence to date linking variation in a specific gene to variation in moral judgment.

Some questions others have asked/Answered

Q1. Is sustained contact generally necessary for it to spread to males? It seems to be the case since men can often intermingle with leftist crowds for a short period of time and not be infected.

>A1) Sometimes.

Q2. Does the Femin Virus have different effects depending on the DNA of the infected?
Q3. Does the Femin Virus cause certain genes to express themselves in an opposite fashion? Not sure if that's the best way to explain it. I'm mainly asking if the virus causes certain traits to become the opposite of what they once were.
>A2) & A3) This depends on the host, but you'll notice that all feminists look and act a certain way.

Q4. Does the Femin Virus actively permanently change one's DNA?
>A4) It's in the DNA.

Q5. Are the right societal conditions for the Femin Virus related to peoples' estrogen levels or some other kind of hormone?
>A5) Sometimes.

Q6. Is a woman having a sense of modesty a good indicator of not having the virus? It seems that by wiping the desire for women to have children that they lose the biological need to display a sense of modesty as they no longer have to worry about being selective about a mate.
>A6) Yes.

Q7. Does having large groups of women live in close proximity with the general absence of males cause the virus to activate sometimes? I remember that you said if you have enough women living together that it causes their ovulation cycles to synch. That could relate to what you've said about pheromones I was thinking.
>A7) Yes.

From what I'm reading. People who contain C allele, L allele give the most utilitarian response. Those who were homozygous for the T allele gave the least utilitarian responses. What's hard for me to interpret is whether utilitarian judgement would express itself as feminism in women. Because it does sound like a more masculine trait. These are all DNA based. So a virus could be targeting the C allele and L allele within DNA for women and causing them to become more prominent thus their behavior more confrontational.

This study sums it up perfectly in their abstract:
>Together, these findings suggest that moral judgment is influenced by variation in the oxytocin receptor gene and, more generally, that single genetic polymorphisms can have a detectable effect on complex decision processes.
https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/27497314?dopt=Abstract

Regardless of how whether it is the T allele or the C allele/L allele in oxycocin receptors that are targeted, these studies should act as evidence that an actual virus is a possibility to other anons. Since a virus could target specific allele DNA within its victim.

Excellent explanation. I'm going to save this thread for later research into it. I'll continue to look through your other responses.

I'm going to see if I can interpret which allele the virus would target to create feminists and also make men more passive. It really depened whether utilitarian judgement is seen as a feminist trait in females.

Maybe women should have more T-allele and far less variation of C-allele and L-allele (since those last two are significantly correlated with utilitarian judgement, which I believe is good only if expressed in men).

I'm going to look at the difference in T-allele in females versus males (hopefully studies from mid 1990s or earlier).

[The image is a collage of several charts and graphs, each representing different aspects of sexual immorality in different countries. The top left chart is titled "Females Sexually Immoral," and the top right chart is titled "Female Promiscuity Over Time." Below these charts, there are several other charts and graphs, each with different titles and data points. The charts and graphs are arranged in a grid format, with each chart and graph occupying its own row and column. The colors of the bars and lines in the charts and graphs vary, with some bars and lines being blue, red, green, and yellow, while others are black, white, and gray. The data points are represented by numerical values, with some bars and lines having a solid color, while others have a dashed line. The charts and graphs are divided into two main sections. The first section, labeled "Females Sexually Immoral," shows a bar chart with the title "Female Sexually Immoral," and a line graph with the title "Female Promiscuity Over Time." The second section, labeled "Female Promiscuity Over Time," shows a bar chart with the title "Female Promiscuity Over Time," and a line graph with the title "Female Promiscuity Over Time." The text in the image is in English and provides information about the sexual immorality of females in different countries. The charts and graphs are accompanied by a legend that explains the colors and symbols used in the charts and graphs. The image is sourced from the website "www.theguardian.com" and is dated "2018-03-20." The image is a screenshot of a larger document, and the resolution is high, making the details of the charts and graphs clear and legible.]

This, there is a hint of the virus in their drinks.

Similar to how everyone that yells about trump has a lot of skeletons in their closet to hide.
>The same with CIstArbucks.
There's a reason feminists are obsessed with it.

There's a reason they virtue signal as much as possible and said they would bring in migrants for work.

Excerpts:
>>174545947
Q) "A5 Whats the go with all these leftists attacks on Starbucks is this because of the Femin Virus threads? have a group decided to use the useful idiots to take that corporation out?"

>A) "The virus cannot be controlled, so Starbucks has created it's own downfall."

Q) "Were the three original founders of Starbucks apart of some secret club in the University of San Francisco? Looking into their backgrounds didn't reveal any other kind of interesting connections they could have had otherwise."
>A) "Starbucks got co-oped like Facebook did."

Q) "I'm guessing that it's a weak strain that only certain women who are especially weak to the virus are affected by though? It certainly can't be too strong, otherwise pretty much everyone in the West would have it.... like a primer"

>A) "Yes, and to answer the potency question, it's designed to be a very small amount but will gather up over time.
> Which is why if you notice how the more western women drink Starbucks, the more they become leftists/feminists."

Q) "Is anyone who's ever drunken Starbucks at risk, or just those that are drinking practically 24/7. Are you talking about the chemicals causing birth defects and such? Does this apply to men as much as women?"
......" THE FUCKING VIRUS?"

>A) "Look at the Starbucks logo again, she's giving birth to a monster.
>That's why she is in that position.
>And people are drinking the monster that she is birthing.

>They don't have to hide things when the public is really stupid."

towards a bicycle with a spoke visible on the front wheel. The boy is sitting on the grass, and the other two characters are seated beside him. The first character, a girl with curly hair, is wearing a light blue dress and is looking at the boy with a surprised expression. The second character, a boy with short hair, is wearing a red shirt and is also looking at the boy with a similar surprised expression. The third character, a boy with short hair, is wearing a green shirt and is pointing at the boy with the bicycle. The speech bubble above the boy's head contains the text "KICK ASS!!" in a bold, capitalized font. Below the speech bubble, there is a smaller text that reads "I don't know why. I think the devil does it." The speech bubble is in a lighter color, contrasting with the darker background of the comic strip. The overall tone of the image is humorous and satirical, with a touch of irony.]

I wasn't going to name 8, but that's one of the ones I was think. I thought that even saying it could get you b&. Glad to see this is still up and running.

From what I'm gathering from the different allele of the OXTR, is that it is really tied to behavior, decision making, and influence autism. Small changes to this OXTR DNA would have large differences on decision making capabilities. And from what I remember reading in one of your pictures, it's possible for this change in DNA through the process of intasome.

The T-allele (SNP rs2268493 if you want to look it up) is associated with with autism spectrum disorders. The research I read said that "the mechanisms by which rs2268493 variants could affect social cognitive processes is unknown, but it is possible that these variants alter OXTR expression,"
This is the same allele that is found in other studies to be associated with NOT giving utilitarian judgment. Which I find interesting because I was under the impression autism increased utilitarian judgement.

BUT there is something to look out for. Because there is a massive difference when they say the T allele (intron-3 of the rs2268493 marker) versus the T allele of the promoter (SNP rs2268498). In the research, it's not always apparent which one they're talking about. You have to compare the SNP rs numbers. I'll explain the difference in my next post though. I suspect the T allele of the promoter would be expressed in females without the mind virus. Which means this might be what's attacked.

I'm still trying to see if I can find research into OXTR genetic differences between men and women and see if there's a difference. I've found one paper, but I'm going to need to look more into it. I'm also going to look to see specifically if there is a difference in women in regard to C-allele (rs237889) and T allele of the promoter (SNP rs2268498).

I don't think the virus is spread that way because feminism doesn't facilitate going outside the way it does spreading like STDs.

>>185299608

This resource lists SIMPLY the different allele genes of the OXTR (oxycocin receptor) along with their SNP rs numbers. Also clarifies which ones are promoters or intron-3.

> intron-3 T allele = higher risk of autismo. Social impairment
At the intron-3 of the rs2268493 marker, the T allele has been associated with social impairment, autism spectrum disorders, and attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder.39, 40, 41 There is other evidence that this SNP may impact brain-reward circuitry. For instance, the TT genotype group displayed decreased activation in mesolimbic regions (including the nucleus accumbens and amygdala) in response to a monetary-rewards task.3 The T allele was also associated with poorer performance on a composite social cognition index.42

>T allele of the promoter = more empathy, pair bonding, paternal instincts, good for women and men. Suspected pssible target of the Femin Virus.
The T allele of the promoter rs2268498 marker has been associated with higher scores on a measure of empathy,51 and on a measure of social-perception abilities including the strength of social bonding, such as kinship and intimacy.52 The TT genotype was also associated with the lowest scores on measures of fear and sadness, as well as on negative emotionality.53

>The C allele at the intron-3(?, doesn't clarify, but I assume) = the Chad allele, increased charisma and extroversion, just being themselves. Possibly targeted in men with the Femin Virus and women as well?
Finally, the C allele at the 3 rs237878 marker has been associated with higher levels of extraversion—a personality construct with strong positive links to reward sensitivity (RS) and sensation seeking—compared with the T allele.54

Hmmm, it could be that the activator is a concoction of chemicals in the starbucks drinks.

Perhaps the Femin Virus, for some, needs to be re-stimulated with a fresh dose of the chemical activators otherwise without this chemical activator ingredients, it becomes dormant again.

Like this explaination image suggests, I'm hoping that the Femin Virus actually just degrades the OXT that is naturally produced by the body or at the very worst makes the T allele of the promoter (motherly traits) dormant while the virus is active.

I have hope that this can be fixed.

C allele definitely seems sensitive to the pushes to sleep around and seek behaviors

And with the assortment of GMO products they use, the activators would be very difficult to locate especially if they combine once ingested

Perhaps but I think the chemical activators are hormonal, or at least some of them. Otherwise how did the virus emerge so much in the previous cultures? Unless it's a simple/widely found chemical, but I'd think we'd have even greater levels of infection if that were the case.
Something has to happen to cause a hormonal expression change, then the increased amount of that hormone is an enhancer/transcription factor for the virus in some way. Or the decrease of inhibiting hormones. Maybe increased estrogen starts it's expression?

>I have hope that this can be fixed.
Apparently they've tried everything. I think the virus immediately makes copies of itself and buries the proviruses at multiple places in the genome. Then when it has several copies in the lysogenic phase, it needs to be activated (which may happen right away depending on the cellular environment). But the cures tried so far haven't found all the copies of the virus and one always gets triggered so it fails. That's my working theory

That Texas story is actually very chilling. Notice how that wasn't in the MSM news cycle at all. Very strange and I doubt there's a coincidence. Especially after reading his credentials posted on his social media.

This Texas story seems to imply that there is some sort of infighting going on over research of viruses. One in which causes the level of paranoia in a professional to set a live feed in their hotel room and carry many fire arms. Who knows what it could be over exactly though.

The CDC leadership change was interesting too. Sadly, I know for a fact that there are some virologists that are homicidal, psychopathic (lacking the T allele of the promoter?), and satanists.

Oh, there's two T allele. One is T allele of the promoter (that promotes the bonding). Then T allele of the intron-3 (this is the social impairment). Very subtle difference, you have to look very carefully at the SPN rs numbers to know which they're talking about in research papers.

Good point with the temperature of starbucks drinks by the way. I was wondering if heavy metals being built up in the brain could have an effect too. But that's less of a focus I suppose.

Alex Joons reported on it, but I can't find anything on any news platform about it or his identity.

Maybe GMO cows have a certain hormone in their milk that humans produce but extra amount in cuckbucks lattes is accelerating it("Vitamin D" is actually a hormone and we still get it/can use it from cow milk so it's not that far fetched). the coffee beans could be similar, as they might have a vitamin/mineral combo that does something similar.

I really wished we knew more about the virus and how it works, could make a counter virus that could just cause death in people that start having hormonal/chemical symptoms of the virus(not enough OXT causes a internal bleeding or something like that).

This was something I considered also. If it a came and caused the Naga in Cambodia, it must be related to something else. Gotcha, just re-read your post. We know retroviruses have a slight bias towards CpG islands, neither the promoter or Intron3 seems to be in the OXTR island but might be affected by the virus integrating somewhere else especially if it disrupts a necessary transcription factor or protein in the enhancer complex

>The A-allele carriers at another intron-3 marker, rs2268494, has been associated with reduced anger responses in a laboratory game focused on interpersonal interactions.43 Using a cumulative risk index including the AA genotype of this SNP, another recent study found less empathic concern to their romantic partner’s distress and lower social reciprocity in support-giving interactions.44
The less empathy to the partner is concerning as well. Maybe the different alleles make it easier for the person to be susceptible if they already have less pair-bonding ability

At the same Meeting Dr. MacArthur stated that his researchers were going to try to ‘mutate bacteria and viruses’ to create new microorganisms Which ‘did not naturally exist.’

I wonder about the hormonal changes from pride/entitlement and if there are such a thing, because the cultures that started to revere women had all these problems and viral outbreaks.

>And where can I read about their efforts?
Yeah they agencies that know about it. A5 says they tried everything, we've asked him stuff about CRISPR and breeding programs and things but when he says nothing has worked I think he means you can be genetically immune (like CCR5-/- people can't get HIV) but we don't know the factors that make people immune to replicate them.
The virus has too many modes of slipping by (hiding in the genome, replicating in carriers, spreading by fluids or whatever else) that they can't eradicate it once it's in your cells and it could only be eradicated by breeding immune people for whatever special genes they have and culling the infected.

I'm just thinking here. And Anon5, you could pitch in too.
But in genetics, all of these allele's within the OXTR can be present, yet not all of them would be expressed. They are just indicators of genetic predispositions towards certain behaviors.

My point being, what if like this anon said (>>185316187), that there is a hormonal trigger coming from a stimuli of the environment, and that hormonal trigger from the outside stimuli causes a repression of the T allele of the promoter (expresses itself with motherly like traits for a women). I have read in college where certain hormonal activation, once past a certain "threshold" in an individual, can activate schizophrenia or other mental illnesses in people with those genetic traits that predisposition them for those illnesses.

So what if there is a variable (could be another allele of the OXTR, or a gene in the producer of oxycocin in the human body) which is there, but when it activates after a certain threshold of sustained hormonal stimuli it suppresses the T allele of the promoter, instead of a virus?

I know that the way women process information and emotion is much different than men, so perhaps pride or control release sustained hormones that trigger another gene which then causes T allele to not express itself. I would really need to see the genetic mapping of females who are suspected to have the Femin Virus in them to know for sure.
I'm not discounting the Femin Virus nor saying it's wrong, but purposing an alternative explanation for the fucked up oxytocin systems in such a large number of women.
This other explanation is completely dependent on one thing, to my understand. Which can quickly rule it out. That is whether or not there sustained hormones or a gene in the oxytocin production system or another related area, like the CpG islands (I'll need to look more into that), can be triggered to repress the expression of the T allele of the promoter (SPN rs2268498).

>OXTR is located on human chromosome 3p25.3 [20, 21]. The OXTR gene spans 17 kilobytes (kb) and contains 3 introns and 4 exons. Exons 1 and 2 correspond to non-coding regions while exons 3 and 4 encode the amino acids of the oxytocin receptor (Fig. 2). The oxytocin receptor is a 389-amino acid G-protein coupled transmembrane receptor, enabling the activation of a number of different intracellular secondary messengers facilitating the oxytocin pathway [22].

I've only really been looking at the intron-3. So I'm going to look at the exons of the OXTR gene to see if they can effect the T allele promoter. Wish me luck lads.
By the way, it says that using nasal spray of oxytocin for people cause them to exhibit more nurturing traits that were there before in autistic adults. The effects weren't lasting, but it says it help form bonds between the fathers and their new born babies too. Those paternal bonds might be lasting. I'd hope so at least.

I was considering different haplotype blocks to be a potential variable, but that doesn't rule out the possibility of the Femin Virus and doesn't show a direct link between a hormone or gene effecting the OXTR T allele of the promote. Haplotype blocks are just indicators for predispositions of behaviors. So I'll keep looking. I'm trying to look more into the exons/CpG islands, like I mentioned previously. I think there might be an effect there. More importantly though, I think I need to look into the regulator region of the OXTR gene. I suspect the Femin Virus would somehow be able to effect this, either directly or indirectly.

Interesting read:
>Here, we investigated whether sensitivity to oxytocin administration is influenced by genetic variation of OXTR. We identified a six-marker haplotype block spanning the promoter region and intron 3 that was significantly associated with our measure of oxytocin sensitivity, emotion recognition performance under oxytocin versus placebo. Specifically, we identified two haplotypes that were differentially associated with oxytocin sensitivity: the TTCGGG haplotype comprising SNPs rs237917–rs2268498–rs4564970–rs237897–rs2268495–rs53576 is associated with increased emotion recognition performance under oxytocin versus placebo, and the CCGAGA haplotype with the opposite pattern. It is of note that the A allele of rs53576, previously associated with phenotypes including reduced empathy, lower trust, reduced sensitivity to social support in the context of stress and less sensitive parenting, falls almost exclusively on the CCGAGA haplotype. In the present study, this haplotype was associated with decreased emotion recognition speed under oxytocin compared with placebo.

>After describing the OT-signaling pathway, we review research on the three genes most extensively studied in humans: the OT receptor (OXTR), the structural gene for OT (OXT/neurophysin-I), and CD38.
>https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/26392129

>OXT = the genetic code of oxytocin (OT)
>OXTR = oxytocin receptor gene >CD38 = oxytocin pathway gene

The Femin Virus must be effecting these. I haven't found anything that falsifies or rules out the possibility of a virus. But I haven't found anything that doesn't say these three important parts of the oxytocin system within the human body can't be healed (even if the virus remains). So I'm going to stay optimistic and see if I can find a combination of things that could naturally increase the efficiency/healing/natural maintenance of these three genes.

I'm going to see how heavy metals stored in the brain plays a part in the production of oxytocin (OT), how ketones passing the blood-brain barrier effect them versus glucose, endocrine system effects the production of OT, and some more. I'm curious about the case of Dr. Aajonus Vonderplanitz and how it might shed some insight into this situation. because he was severely autistic until around 22, then he had raw milk paired with carrot juice. After about fourteen days of consuming this pairing, he lost many symptoms of his sever autism. I believe his testimony to be true. And if so, then somehow his endocrine system and system control his oxytocin was manipulated in a way that caused him to be much more functional.

His son experienced similar disabilities, but with the same method, his son was healed from an extreme sickness.

Here's the link to his story:
>https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mVP9HqV8yoY

I'll report my findings in a couple days. This is good and interesting anons.

> There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Traffcking

[The image is a digital graphic with a cartoonish style, featuring a character with blonde hair and a surprised expression. The character has a large, open mouth with a tongue sticking out, and a pair of eyes that appear to be wide open. The character's hair is styled in two ponytails, one on each side of its head. The character is wearing a blue ribbon around its neck with the text "CUM SULT" written on it. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a small collection of pills and a pill bottle, suggesting a medical or health-related theme. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the colorful elements in the foreground. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "MMM Birth Control," which is likely a reference to the birth control method. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the use of birth control as a form of self-pleasure.]

Well Giger's designs show biomechanical things hidden from the public, so it's a transhumanist push.
Transhumanists and geneticists also want to push things like artificial wombs and genetic engineering, implying you could have only designer babies and incubate them with tech, instead of naturally.

It's the abortion of what we know as human, to usher in "new and improved" or "next gen" humans

You do good work now but it would raise the effectiveness and precision.

Unless they were trying to drive something or some one out of hiding to get them.

Best way to store spatial data?

Shapefile format (.shp, .shx, .dbf, .prj). You can store the location (xyz coords) and attributes.

Use python (shapefile.py). Convert however you store your data into a plain jane shapefile. You can now import your data into all the programs you want to use. Without being stuck in their silly formats.

Also, pay attention to what projection your data is in. Use wgs84, utm, or good ol lat long for ease of use.

I am not sure if people here use .python
Everyone knows standard CSV and backend can shape the data once it is received.

>Don't worry about knowing spatial, just record the names, addresses, reasons because you are already looking it up.

AI APIs can take care of the rest

It is not in the average person's vocabulary, and rarely in a leftist vocabulary.

But, before we get too deep into this intel, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hold on just a second! Who the hell is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?
Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs [KB's] provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing Disease X / Femin Virus, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is he so important?
His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>And where can I find more of this "Knowledge Bomb" information?

We gathered all KB's into Pastebin's, making the work much easier to read. Read them all start-to-finish, as they build upon themselves and expand in impact over time.

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?
I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

>Well, how exactly can I classify these "Femin-infected women"?
There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

>And how exactly do I spot this infection?
Watch out for these symptoms: Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

>Wait, what? Trafficking enterprises? City investigations? Is this some kind of game or something?

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

>Reaching out to brothers on /pol/
>Need info on the Rochester Public Library

Someone had a big thread going about it and its creepy as fuck (i live here), and this neon sign in the Children's Section shines out onto the street where people are walking by.

The Woman who runs the library is Audrey Betcher, the Dike Widow of a Shriner who met an untimely death in 2012. She is U.N. connected through the Together Initiative.

She carries out high levels of subversive and degenerate community organizing and LGBT-oriented programming at the Rochester Public Library. The neon signs, as we know, display symbols associated with p--filia.

I want to take this fucking place down. Even if there isn't any abuse going on there, the leadership is a highly destructive force in the community, and as Rochester, MN becomes increasingly international due to the Mayo Clinic, the market for child trafficking skyrockets. We have lots of rich saudis fly in and set up temporary residence in a large apartment building on broadway, which is CONNECTED TO THE LIBRARY BY TUNNEL.

Can you help me brothers? The RPL instagram is a place to start.....lots of LGBT content and pictures of children (sometimes overlapping), as well as a quite obvious fascination with Chicken.

I often wondered how easy it might be to fool people into eating human meat, wonder if they don't try to pass it off as chicken sometimes. The babies would be a little more like chicken the ham or roast beef or jerky because of all that softness and baby fat, the meat would fall off the bone. I hope that is sufficiently disturbing for you to no longer care if they arrest you for burning that place to the ground should you run a dna sample. Also Chicken to me and some of mine means angels who sit by and do nothing or stuff us in prison for trying to stop this exact type of shit. It's code for winged cucks. Or sometimes just Cops/ MP's

[The image is a photograph featuring a group of soldiers in camouflage uniforms. The soldiers are standing in a line, with their backs to the camera, and appear to be in a relaxed state, possibly during a break or a casual gathering. The soldiers are equipped with various items, including backpacks, and some are holding rifles. The photograph is overlaid with a series of text boxes, each containing a different question or statement. The text is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-English script, suggesting that the text is in a language other than English. The questions and statements are written in a casual, conversational tone, and they seem to be related to the soldiers' activities or experiences. The text boxes are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with some boxes overlapping each other, creating a layered effect. The colors of the text vary, with some being in bold and others in a lighter shade, which draws attention to the questions and statements. The background of the image is a natural setting with trees and foliage, indicating that the gathering is taking place in a wooded area. The overall style of the image is a blend of a candid photograph with overlaid text, creating a humorous or satirical representation of military life.]

No. Just as there's a difference between conscious consumption and meme veganism, there's a difference between people who don't eat pork and people who can't fulfill the duties of a grocery store shelf stocker because they refuse handle pork even if it's hermetically sealed in plastic.

Humans are omnivores possessing free will. Judging a vegan that does not proselytize/ politicize their dietary choice is just as stupid as being a vegan that honestly believes everyone needs to stop eating meat because of their feels.

You've got to help me with these few questions. It's been bothering me for the longest time, and I don't know how to answer it or even configure a question for it. Well, here it goes:

1. Has there been any documented cases of fictional characters (not cosplayers, but like the actual character from the TV show / movie) entering into our universe and causing some trouble?
2. Is it possible for a man in the "real world" to enter into a "fictional world" with inter-dimensional technology, or is fiction on a completely separate plane of reality?

3. Assuming that No. 2 is true, then is it possible for someone from our live-action universe to enter into a cartoon universe through trans-dimensional technology?
4. If I entered into a two-dimensional cartoon universe, would I immediately become a flat, two-dimensional sketch as soon as I entered? I remember that topic being discussed in a fucking Jimmy Neutron episode, believe it or not.
4a. Would the transition from a 3D person into a cartoon hurt?

I wanted to before but there weren't enough that were related or made yet.
A5 had even said to start putting them together to make them easier to access/read/not take up space.

I wanted to put related ones together as a "Collection". Similar to how the other anon made collections of KBs in one image; (all Women KBs), (FF KBs).

I realized that I could put a picture in the back that links all the KBcards together.

Women are much closer to death and nature than men. A lot of pregnancies ends up in miscarriages anyway.

All a woman has to do to prove her worth is to bear children. Everything else can be regarded as a nice bonus.

There's no male equivalent to motherhood. Everything a man does be it wage war, write books, program computers, tar roofs, create art, train horses, do research etc is just a substitute for motherhood.

A man that says that "if I was a woman, I would never X" is not a real man. He's just a half-man. An aberration the catholic church is producing on an industrial grade.

Look into your feelings, you know it's true.

>The legendary activist’s new limited-edition makeup collaboration—a paraben- and cruelty-free lip treatment named In the Clear, which is out today—was crafted with the social justice beauty brand The Lipstick Lobby, which has worked with the likes of Planned Parenthood and the Brady Center to Prevent Gun Violence. When the brand tapped Steinem for its next capsule collection, she chose the UnPrison Project. The nonprofit—founded by activist and author Deborah Jiang-Stein, who was born in a Virginia prison to a mother suffering from drug addiction—aims to equip incarcerated women with the tools and skill sets to live a fulfilling life after release. Since the organization was founded in 2012, it has already reached 10 percent of the total female prison population in the U.S., or 20,000 incarcerated women.

Someone might want to look into this.

>All a woman has to do to prove her worth is to bear children.
And they're not even doing that these days.
Men have to actually try, and their motivation pushes society forward. That's what testosterone does, makes people take risks and compete. Women have much less testosterone on average, and less drive to risk and try.
Women want more equality in rewards but don't and often can't undertake the same responsibilities that men must to get those rewards. They are shirking their gender roles because they don't want to bear children and cannot bond with them or the males. Their endocrine system and brain structure evolved for specific tasks and they have ruined society and future generations by refusing to do what nature intended.

I don't care what people actually do. There has always been women not having children and men not even trying to git gud in anything. But these particularities are totally uninteresting. What's interesting is the absolute, or at least the search for it.

[The image is a vintage-style illustration with a cartoonish and humorous tone. It is divided into four panels, each depicting a different scenario related to the origin and development of a suffragette. In the top left panel, a young girl is shown holding a baby doll and wearing a bonnet. She is depicted in a joyful and carefree manner, suggesting a positive early life. The top right panel shows a woman with a coquettish expression, wearing a red dress and a white hat. She is holding a small doll and appears to be in a playful mood. The bottom left panel features a woman with a shocked expression, wearing a yellow dress and a red hat. She is holding a hammer and appears to be in a distressed or angry state. The bottom right panel shows a woman with a determined expression, wearing a red dress and a white hat. She is holding a small doll and appears to be in a serious or determined mood. The text at the top of the image reads "ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT OF A Suffragette." The text is in a bold, capitalized font and is placed in the center of the image, drawing attention to the theme of the illustration. The style of the image is reminiscent of early 20th-century illustrations, with a focus on the portrayal of women and their roles in society. The use of color and the cartoonish style contribute to the humorous and light-hearted tone of the image.]

[The image is a cartoon-style illustration divided into four panels, each depicting a different scenario related to the origin and development of feminism. In the top left panel, there is a cartoon of a woman in a yellow tank top and blue shorts, standing in a bathroom stall. She is looking at a computer screen displaying a message that reads "I'm not like other women." The text suggests a comparison to other women, possibly implying a sense of being different or unique. The top right panel shows a group of people, including a man and a woman, standing in a line. The man is shirtless and has a muscular build, while the woman is wearing a blue dress and has red hair. They appear to be waiting in line, possibly for a service or event. The bottom left panel shows a woman sitting at a computer, looking at a screen with a list of names and numbers. The text on the screen is not clear, but it seems to be a list of names and numbers, possibly related to a database or list. The bottom right panel features a woman with red hair, wearing glasses and a white lab coat. She is looking at a computer screen with a message that reads "At 30 even still alone getting pissed..." The text suggests a sense of isolation and frustration, possibly due to the age of the woman and the lack of support or understanding from others. The image is overlaid with text that reads "Origin and Development of a Feminist," suggesting that the content is related to the history and development of feminism. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is white, making it stand out against the colorful background. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the emotions and experiences of the characters. The use of color and the contrast between the characters and the background create a dynamic and engaging visual narrative.]

The character has a large, open mouth with a tongue sticking out, and a pair of eyes that appear to be wide open. The character's hair is styled in two ponytails, one on each side of its head. The character is wearing a blue ribbon around its neck with the text "CUM SULT" written on it. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a small collection of pills and a pill bottle, suggesting a medical or health-related theme. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the colorful elements in the foreground. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "MMM Birth Control," which is likely a reference to the birth control method. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the use of birth control as a form of self-pleasure.]

[The image is a digital graphic with a cartoonish style, featuring a character with blonde hair and a surprised expression. The character has a large, open mouth with a tongue sticking out, and a pair of eyes that appear to be wide open. The character's hair is styled in two ponytails, one on each side of its head. The character is wearing a blue ribbon around its neck with the text "CUM SULT" written on it. In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a small collection of pills and a pill bottle, suggesting a medical or health-related theme. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the colorful elements in the foreground. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "MMM Birth Control," which is likely a reference to the birth control method. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the use of birth control as a form of self-pleasure.]

[The image is a stylized cartoon or digital illustration featuring a woman with dark hair, predominantly black, and a stern expression. Her eyes are large and dark, and her eyebrows are arched. She has a pink blush on her cheeks and a tear in her eye, suggesting a sense of sadness or distress. The woman's mouth is closed, and her lips are thin. She is holding a gun in her right hand, which is depicted in a realistic style with a visible trigger. The gun is silver and appears to be a revolver. [The image is a vibrant and colorful digital illustration featuring a large, stylized face with a surprised expression, surrounded by a group of cartoonish characters. The face appears to be the central figure, with a large, open mouth and wide eyes. The characters surrounding the face are predominantly green and blue, with some having exaggerated features such as large eyes and exaggerated mouths. The background is a gradient of purple and blue hues, with a partial view of the American flag visible at the top. The style of the image is reminiscent of pop art, with a focus on bold colors and exaggerated forms. There is a watermark in the bottom right corner that reads "@skincube," indicating the artist's name.]

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?

I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

>Well, how exactly can I classify these "Femin-infected women"?
There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

>And how exactly do I spot this infection?
Watch out for these symptoms: Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

To me, the most suspicious things here is the fact that the international team investigating refuses to use a Russian made Buk missile to model the impact on the plane. Why would you need to use a US made model in these tests, unless you suspected that model was the one actually used?

This wouldn't be the first time that the US acquired Soviet or Russian munitions and equipment to stage a false flag, they also planned to do it for Operation Northwoods.

http://baltimorepostexaminer.com/operation-northwoods-us-joint-chiefs-staff-slid-insanity/2017/04/21

The US refused to release a statement blaming Russia for shooting down the airliner this year.

>Hold on just a second! Who the hell is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?
Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs [KB's] provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing Disease X / Femin Virus, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is he so important?
His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>And where can I find more of this "Knowledge Bomb" information?

>Hold on! There are so many of these KB's! In which order do I read them in?
We gathered all KB's into Pastebin's, making the work much easier to read. Read them all start-to-finish, as they build upon themselves and expand in impact over time.

[Feminism Virus (Bioweapon Attack)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?
I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

>Well, how exactly can I classify these "Femin-infected women"?
There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

>And how exactly do I spot this infection?
Watch out for these symptoms: Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

>Wait, what? Trafficking enterprises? City investigations? Is this some kind of game or something?

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

view, with his face partially obscured by his hand, which is holding a webbing-like object. His eyes are wide open, and he appears to be in a thoughtful or contemplative state. The background is a gradient of blue and orange, with a white speech bubble containing the text "WHAT? SPIDERMAN THREAD? NICE." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is centered within the speech bubble. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and exaggerated, typical of meme-style content.]

Nice.

Do you still KML dump to Pastebin?

>open KML in TextEditor
>Copy and paste into a paste bin.

Just make sure you didn't name any places/things that would identify you and only export the places that you are referencing.

Others can then save that pastebin as a text file, rename it to KML and import it.

You can also import that PP Csv into your maps, and turn it into a KML.

[The image is a digital illustration of a character that resembles a frog with a smiling expression. The frog has a large, round head with two large, round eyes that are wide open, giving the impression of a friendly or happy demeanor. Its mouth is closed, and its eyes are looking directly at the viewer. The frog's skin is a vibrant green, and its body is depicted in a simple, cartoon-like style. The background is a solid, light blue color, which contrasts with the green of the frog. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of a meme or a cartoon, with a focus on the character's facial expression and the color palette.]

You know something that could be effective are sex bot memes. Not only are they a way to raise white birth rates but they can also be a deterrent to the Femin Virus. If more anons were aware that they were on the way maybe they wouldn't cuck out so hard in dealing with the Femin Virus.

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

> How to spot the infection

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

>Traffcking

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities.

This here is where you post any and all KB's [Knowledge Bomb] and any related red pills.

>ALL /A5G/ GENERALS
https://pastebin.com/P7JPPRvW

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?
Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?
His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>Interesting. Where can I find more of this Knowledge Bomb information?

appears to be a pyramid or temple. The photograph on the right shows the building in a different state, with the same glass facade but with a different color scheme, suggesting a modern or contemporary design. Overlaying the two photographs is a text that reads "CHILD SACRIFICE" in large, bold, white letters. Below the text, in smaller white font, is the year "1515" and "2015." The text and the year are positioned in such a way that they appear to be superimposed over the two photographs, creating a visual juxtaposition between the past and the present. The text and the year are the only elements in the image that are not part of the photographs. The overall style of the image is a satirical or humorous commentary on the concept of sacrifice, with the juxtaposition of the ancient structure and the modern building symbolizing the passage of time and the transformation of architecture.]

[FEMINISM VIRUS (BIOWEAPON)]

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?
I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity: Women.

Birth control/contraceptives (pill/IUD etc) cause frontal lobe damage to women due to how they affect the chemistry of the brain and hormones.

How civilizations fall

How do civilizations fall? Islamic thinkers had an image for it. Consider a civilization based upon a court in a thriving city— Baghdad, for example. Arts and the intellect flourish. But over several generations, as the great Islamic philosopher of the fourteenth century Ibn Khaldun put it, the civilized become decadent with luxury. They lose their sharpness and think only of the good and the beautiful. And then some tribe of fierce Bedouin, smelling out weakness, come thundering in from the desert and storm the city. As barbarians, they do not understand the usages of civilization. They stable their horses in the libraries and use sculptures as doorstops, pictures for target practice. Given a pillow, Ibn Khaldun tells us contemptuously, they suppose it to be a bundle of rags. In time, however, the power of a superior culture is felt, and these people adopt and sometimes extend the ways of civilization, until they too are overthrown in their turn. This is the way the world goes. Sometimes it happens in one lifetime, as with those barbarian soldiers who rose to become Roman emperors, sometimes in slow motion, as with the fall of the Roman Empire, in which many centuries were to elapse before the new civilization emerged from the disorders of the barbarian invasions. With us, the decor is quite different, but the realities may be closer than we suppose.

One reason we may not realize this is that the very distinction between barbarism and civilization has been suppressed by the current relativism, which asserts the equality of all cultures. Nobody, of course, seriously believes this. Quite apart from technology, the moral inequality of cultures is conspicuous in the position of women in different cultures. It was only the West that abolished slavery. But it is a mark of current decorum—perhaps avoidance of the dreaded “triumphalism”—that we should not proclaim any superiority in European civilization, even though it is the one place the millions want to get into. Instead, we must make do with a rationalist doctrine which transposes the usages of European civilization into a rather unsatisfactory set of abstractions about universal rights. By this device, all cultures (including the Western) can equally be found guilty of moral violation in one way or another.

In the past, civilization was a sensibility shared by a class of people, while barbarism would be found not only in tribes beyond the frontier, but also in the slaves and the servile within the realms of civilization itself. In modern liberal democracies, this clear relation between a culture and a class has disappeared. Everyone is touched by the higher forms of culture. Schooling, museums, and the media are available to all. But barbarism remains an active force in modern societies, partly in gracelessness and ignorance, and partly in a loss of cultural coherence found among those who mistake a few years at an institution of higher learning for education itself.

In modern Europe, we don’t quite have Bedouin storming in from the desert (merely millions of depressed migrants trying to slip through the gates), but the tendency towards barbarism is an active force all around us. Hence the formula for overthrowing a Western society must be not “storm the walls” but “organize your own barbarians” within the walls. Those who hate European civilization know that it cannot be taken by direct assault. It must thus be captured from within. This was the plan adopted by many revolutionaries, most notably, of course, by Marx who constructed a new and hostile tribe within the West called “the proletariat.” They could be made into a revolutionary tribe by equipping suitable people (industrial workers for example) with a unified consciousness, so that in every transaction they understood themselves as a collective. They were being victimized by the oppressive bourgeois. Like the guardians in Plato’s Republic, these revolutionary insurgents had to be taught to be docile within the movement while snarling at those without.

Marx provided the model for all subsequent movements aiming to take power. His “make your own tribe” kit was found useful by nationalists, anarchists, and many brands of socialist. Hitler made the most creative use of it by playing down victimization and representing every Aryan as a superior type of person. It took the world in arms to get rid of him. But before long, revolutionaries discovered that a revolution based on the proletarian tribe only really worked if you were dealing with pretty unsophisticated peoples—preferably non-Europeans who lacked all experience of freedom and genuine political life. In socially mobile European states, the workers mostly found better things to do with their time than waste it on revolutionary committees and the baby talk of political demonstrations. Something new was needed.

It was provided by such socialists as Mussolini and Lenin who adopted the principle of the Praetorian Guard: a tightly knit vanguard party, which could use the masses as ventriloquial dummies and seek power on its own terms. This development was part of a wider tendency towards the emergence of oligarchies ruling through democratic slogans.

In the course of the 1960s, a new tribe was established that also sought to overthrow the Western citadel from within and had notably greater success. This was Betty Friedan’s radical feminists. It was a tribe constructed out of women who had taken some sort of degree and were living domestic lives. Technology had largely liberated them from the rigors of beating, sweeping, and cleaning, while pharmacology had released them from excessive procreation. In tactical terms, radical feminists made one innovation that has turned out to be crucial to the destiny of the West over the last half century. They suppressed almost completely the idea that their project involved a transfer of power and operated entirely on the moralistic principle that their demands corresponded to justice.

Radical feminists suppressed almost completely the idea that their project involved a transfer of power and operated entirely on moralistic principle.

What lay behind this momentous development? It is a complicated question, but I think that Diana Schaub understood the essence of it in her essay “On the Character of Generation X”: 1

[Betty] Friedan was right that the malaise these privileged women were experiencing was a result of “a slow death of the mind and spirit.” But she was wrong in saying that the problem had no name—its name was boredom. Feminism was born of boredom, not oppression. And what was the solution to this quandary? Feminists clamored to become wage-slaves; they resolutely fled the challenge of leisure.

And by “leisure,” Professor Schaub means something classically Greek: the higher employment of the mind once the necessities of life have been dealt with.

The first task of this new movement was to create the shared consciousness necessary for tribal functioning. Like all forms of psychic collectivism, “consciousness raising” (as it is known) exploits indignation and cultivates righteousness. It operated in this case with the basic liberatory image of the prison and, identifying happiness with being in the labor force, argued that only male oppression over the centuries had “confined” women to the domestic sphere. What radical feminism essentially did was to deny complementarity between the sexes and set men and women up as competing teams playing exactly the same game, but a game in which all the rules were stacked against the women. It was only on this eccentric assumption—i.e., that women had identical talents and inclinations to men—that they could support the conclusion that there had been foul play. As with Hitler’s appeal to the Aryan race, the basic principle was one of flattery: women, it revealed, are a marvelously talented set of people who have been iniquitously suppressed by males running a patriarchal system.

This message entrenched identity politics, an emerging form of fundamentalism in which every judgment must begin from a supposedly essential self-identity as female. One implication (as with Marxism) was that a class of experts understood social reality better than any particular woman could, and any woman failing to agree needed the falsity of her consciousness corrected. Joined together, these judgments constituted the new doctrine now simply called “feminism.” This was a massive psychic transformation in the life of European peoples. Back in the Second World War, Rosie the riveter was certainly a woman, but she was also a wife, a patriotic American involved in a struggle against fascism, and many other things besides. Most fundamentally of all, radical feminism attacked the very conception of the feminine as something that had been imposed upon women by superior force and had been reinforced by a culture of romance found in European art and literature.

All of this might be construed (as it was by radical feminists themselves) as a massive access of confidence among women, but it might also signify a complete collapse of the feminine in the face of a wider and more ambiguous project using women to create a totally androgynous (and manipulable) world. In such a world, men and women would become virtually indistinguishable.

Here then was nothing less than an attempt to destroy not merely an existing structure of power, but also the civilization that it sustained. In Ibn Khaldun’s terms, it was an attempt to conquer the West from within, not by directly attacking its power (for no one doubted that the men had all the power needed to repel such an attack), but by exploiting certain features in its culture. And in order to understand the significance of this movement, we need to characterize the European civilization that was the object of their attack.

The most obvious fact about it is one that we can hardly mention, now that the revolution has succeeded, without embarrassment or derision, because it is a fact which powerful contemporary forces make recessive. It is simply that this civilization is, in the crude terms of creative hits, the achievement of white males. The history of Western civilization is a succession of clever men developing the set of traditions or inventing the benefits which, intertwined, constitute the West. And from Thales and Euclid to Einstein and George Gershwin, nearly all of them were male. They constitute the set of “dead white males” whom the radical revolutionaries in the sub-academic culture have denigrated and vowed to remove from their pedestals. I once heard a feminist put it this way: “There’s no such thing as a great mind.” This doctrine is so powerful that the simple factual statement that it has been men who have created what is commonly meant by Western (and for that matter, any other) civilization seems like an insensitive affront to the equality of mankind. And the next step in my argument must be to deal with this as a problem.

To say that men created all these things is true, and significant, but it is rather like stranding a lot of fish on a barren shore. It leaves out the medium of social and political life without which none of this could have happened. Like all social life, Europe was a world of sexual complementarity, and there is no reliable way of sifting out what was contributory from what was not. But of women we may say what Falstaff said of himself—namely that he not only had wit but also was a cause of wit in others. But by seeming to set women up as a weak team in relation to inventive men, I am merely pointing to the mistake radical feminists, who have accepted the abstract idea that the one thing that counts is who invented this or created that, themselves make. It is in pursuit of this mistake that they have attempted to set up a competing canon of writers, philosophers, painters, and so on whose talents were suppressed by the patriarchy. These resuscitated figures are often worth looking at in their own terms, but they cannot serve as a new canon. Camille Paglia famously said that if we had waited for women to invent civilization we should still be living in grass huts. It is also true that if we had waited for men to make life comfortable we should still be living in pigsties. For centuries women have determined the way we live. Radical feminist doctrine is that this is not enough: women can only be recognized as equal, and enjoy equality of esteem with men, if they are recognized as excelling in exactly the same activities as men. Women must, as a team, be able to point to a scoreboard of artistic and technological achievements on the same scale as men. Feminist tribal consciousness depends upon absorbing this and similar beliefs. But the whole rigmarole depends upon assuming that women are the same as men, that their happiness is found in exactly the same areas as that of men. But this is quite untrue, and it is a mistake that could only have occurred to a set of women whose minds had been deranged by a superficial contact with education in the humanities.

The point can be put another way: Western civilization is distinguished by an unusual curiosity about both nature and the lives of other societies. Europeans have appropriated many of their ideas and inventions from other civilizations. Partly for this reason, it has been extraordinarily open to others who wish to engage in its activities. Its religion, its languages, and its knowledge have been widely diffused, and by the twentieth century people from all over the world had become scientists, historians, novelists, artists, etc., in the Western manner, many of them indeed coming to live in the West. Some people from customary societies abroad have found Westerners cold and remote, but many more have experienced the West as a liberation.

The same is true for women. At various times in the past many women have had access to education, and, from the eighteenth century onwards, some women developed an increasing taste for taking up professions previously restricted to men. By the late nineteenth century they were making their way into universities. In doing so, they often suffered a certain derision from the more brutish among their male confrères. Other men were always on their side, however, and during the first half of the twentieth century women broke into many fields previously restricted by convention. Radical feminism as a tribal consciousness needs to tell this story as a struggle against oppression, and so in some ways it was. But we ought not to get this out of proportion. We are not talking of slavery or war.

Radical feminism as a tribal consciousness needs to tell this story as a struggle against oppression, and so in some ways it was. But we ought not to get this out of proportion.

The beneficiaries of this new development were for the most part middle-class white women, and they were merely experiencing the resistance common to any form of upward mobility. They were unmistakably following a rising wave created by the increasing flexibility of Western societies. It was in any case a Christian civilization, which meant that individual character counted as much as customary status. In most civilizations, human beings fit into a customary schema as warriors, wives, priests, scholars, artisans, merchants, and so on. The West became, as Ernest Gellner used to put it, “modular” in that individuals have multiple talents and skills and can fit together with others in flexible ways responding to new situations. Like furniture that can be rearranged at need, Europeans have the versatility to fit into many possible arrangements of work or pleasure. As women began to develop a taste for education and had opportunities to participate in a world beyond the domestic (previously available only to the rich), they soon succeeded (as they usually do) in getting what they wanted. Liberal feminism was thus a natural development from within the civilization. Suddenly in the 1960s, this development was overridden by the new radical doctrine that women could and should do everything men did. Liberal feminism emerged from the Western tradition, and traditions are flexible. It had no problem in admitting women to new professions without dramatically altering the wider relations between the sexes. But, radical feminism was doctrinaire and demanded that all women should live in the one true manner. A melodrama of oppression was needed to fire up the new tribe. Just as Buddhist priests must meditate on a human skull so that they will develop the right consciousness of human mortality, so feminist doctrine thrives on horror stories of women not allowed to take degrees at Oxbridge until this century. By contrast with the horrors of the twentieth century (or indeed the situation of women elsewhere in the world), we may diagnose a certain lack of proportion.

The openness of Western cultures is shown by the way in which, during the first half of the twentieth century, Western women were enjoying higher education and finding distinction in professional and academic fields. The numbers of women who largely devoted their lives to these fields was relatively small, and some people thought this was a problem, but it was only a problem for those who took their bearings from statistics rather than from the responses of actual people. The false assumption of male and female isomorphism is, however, the reason why at frequent intervals feminists in journalism become lobbyists and set up, as a defect in society, any difference in average wages between men and women or in the relative percentages of women in top jobs. This was the continual drip of the movement against patriarchy, and it is a well-known principle of propaganda that a proposition repeated enough will crush opposition. But these figures and this argument make no rational sense, and the fact that they appear regularly in newspapers as if they did make sense is why they must be challenged.

The key to modern Western civilization is its openness to talent wherever found. The feminist demand for collective quotas has overturned this basic feature of our civilization. The crucial point is that the character of a civilization is revealed by its understanding of achievement. European civilization responded to achievement wherever it could be found. To replace achievement by quota entitlements is to destroy one civilization from within and to replace it with another. We are no longer what we were. The problem is to explain how the West collapsed.

It did not result from warriors storming the walls of a decadent civilization, but by a fifth column exploiting weakness from within. And the weapon of attack was not the sword, but a moral rhetoric demanding justice. Economic and political implications (such as that able men would be denied jobs now having to be filled by quota) seldom featured in discussion. The defenders of the status quo found themselves profoundly confused, partly because they had earlier acquiesced in regarding moral and religious ideas as merely subjective. They could not agree on a line of defense, and the attack often came from within their own families. The objective of the attack was to get women with degrees into the higher ranks of the labor force. Of the more profound implications of this structural collapse, I am are not here concerned. I must concentrate on the more pressing question of why the defenders so easily capitulated.

In earlier centuries, the project of getting women into the labor force would have been visionary, partly no doubt because no one thought in terms of a labor force. For one thing, women were necessary to keep the home fires burning. In any case, the world of work outside the hearth was hardly inviting. Ploughing the land required relentless physical input beyond the strength of most women; nor were they keen to exercise the broadsword. And, during a longish stretch of life, women would have their hands full with bearing and nurturing children.

In the modern world, however, getting women out of the home and into work was not at all visionary, since the thing called “work” was now largely done in centrally heated offices in front of a computer. In the push-button world men had created, physical strength was hardly ever needed, especially in the more attractive jobs. Work had been the curse of Adam, parallel with childbirth as the curse of Eve, but work now turned out to be a rather agreeable shuffling of symbols in an office full of friendship and event. It was not difficult to present this kind of work—the kind that interested the humanities graduates who largely fuelled the radical movement—as a liberation from the confinement of family life and the tedious babble of the toddler. And it fitted into a wider socialist notion that a person’s value was the contribution made to the welfare of others. It had been an old dream of Zionist socialists and Bolsheviks (among others) to absorb the family into society with everyone living communally, restaurants and daycare centers replacing family arrangements, and women working each day alongside the men. Here this dream was reborn, no longer as an aspect of utopia, but as the final achievement of justice against an oppressive world.

Let us now turn to the nub of this question: why did the insurrection succeed? There was no question of the insurgents disposing of superior firepower or warrior virtues, though the tribe of radical feminists certainly displayed intrepidity of the first order. Indeed, the key point is that it was their very weakness that was the condition of their success. Even the fact that, intellectually speaking, radical feminism had nothing to say that had not been said by earlier forms of social perfectionism merely meant that the opposition had already been softened up for victimological attack. And for all the indignation about oppression, radical feminists were less a moral force than a naked interest, demanding jobs for their members, jobs carrying the same salaries and status as men. It was even commonly admitted that outstanding women had not in recent times had much trouble making their way in the academic and workaday world. The issue was to get women of merely average abilities into these positions.

In principle, the men held all the cards. They were the managers, the rulers, the professors, and the directors of enterprises. And they were the trustees of the one thing on which their civilization depended: namely, the career open to talent. No doubt there were times where prejudice prevented women from getting such and such a job, but hiring able women was something managers had long been doing. For in the early twentieth century, women resembled Jews: some people might not want to hire them but the failure to recognize ability would soon be punished by competitors stealing an advantage. These considerations soon ceased to apply once radical feminism has established the basic idea (always denied) that the program was to establish a 50 percent quota for women in all desirable jobs.

We may understand what happened by considering a similar assault on tradition mounted about the same time as the radical feminist challenge. In the 1960s the universities of the Western world were shaken by enemies who turned academic self-understanding against itself. Universities were commonly recognized as communities of scholars and students. “Well,” said the radicals, “if it’s a community, why are we students left out in the cold, with no power on university committees? Why are we not consulted about the content of our curricula? Why are we subject to god-professors imposing on us courses of study irrelevant to our needs?” Dazed and confused by these questions, which were often expressed (as is the technique) with almost samurai displays of fearsome aggression, the dons yielded. They betrayed their trust in the scholarly vocation partly from confusion and partly in order to avoid unpleasantness.

This example not only illuminates the success of radical feminism, but also reveals something of the long-term significance of these massive shifts of power. For the real threat to universities came not from students but from government. Students were a minor irritant in academic life, but governments were now bent on destroying the autonomy of the institutions of civil society. Students merely functioned as their fifth column. They had the effect of forcing universities even more into a public domain. Students wanted the academic to become the political and that was the effect they had. Before 1960 universities largely ran their own affairs. By the beginning of the twenty-first century, they had all succumbed to the state subsidies that destroyed their autonomy.

The success of the radical feminist assault on European civilization operated in a parallel fashion. “You say you believe in equal opportunities for women, but why are there no women in management, or as bishops, or as professors, or heads of big corporations?" "Why are women paid on average only x percent of what men get paid?" The real answers to these questions would take one deep into the role and structure of the traditional family, the difference between the things that make men and women happy, and the different relative suitability of men and women for different tasks. And such real answers would obviously have to dissolve the rather gross distinction between "men" and "women" in order to recognize that, over a wide range of activities, especially activities such as those of management, it was the individual that counted, not what in technical femspeak is called "gender."

Any recognition of these complexities dissolved before the fact that the questions being asked were rhetorical. In fact, as with student radicals, they were not questions at all, but slogans masquerading as questions. These pseudo-questions set the agenda, and the only admissible answers would be the dogmas of the doctrine: Only patriarchal oppression prevented men and women being equally represented in "positions of power."

The politics of this assault were clear enough, and they illustrate what Mancur Olsen diagnosed as the Achilles heel of democracy: that a small group passionately campaigning for specific benefits will always prevail against a large majority whose direct interests are but marginally affected. Radical feminists were a relatively small group, but their message was plausible at some level to most women, and in families men had wives and daughters whose good they wished to promote. No political party would take up all of this program, but it did electoral prospects no harm to convey a general sympathy for the cause, and once in government enthusiasts would advance legislation under the motherhood slogan of equal opportunity. Very soon a network of powerful bureaucracies was bringing radical doctrine to bear on all areas of government. The courts could be relied upon to extend their power by regulating contract and by extending the law of tort. Within a generation, the revolution had not only succeeded but also created throughout Western nations an occupying army of equal opportunity officers entrenched in personnel departments up and down the country.

And why not? It might well be demanded. Many women have great abilities and a modern society ought not to abide by conventions which may have been necessary in the past but which progress had made unnecessary. The most successful societies have been those in which women have been freest to participate widely. All of that is true and was already recognized in the advance of liberal feminism before the 1960s. The problem only arises with female quotas throughout the world of work.

In a few significant areas, however, no such demands are made. These areas are either where women graduates have no wish to go (rough outdoor work) or where lack of ability could lead to instant disaster, such as brain surgery or piloting commercial aircraft. Women are to be found in both, but only on the basis of ability. Universities are obviously a soft touch because the consequences of educational betrayal take decades to emerge. The effect of university quotas for "gender diversity" for example has often been to fill humanities departments with women in order to equalize numbers "distorted" (one might say) by technology and the hard sciences where even passably able women are hard to come by. Many women in the humanities departments are indeed very able, but many are not, and they have often prospered by setting up fanciful ideological courses (especially in women's studies), which can hardly pretend to be academic at all.

What however of areas where women are patently unsuited—such as the army, the police force, or fire fighting? They have in fact all been under attack because although women are unsuited to the rough work at the bottom, these areas have enviable managerial opportunities higher up. They are one more irresistible gravy train. The fire-fighting case was dramatized by the New York judicial decision that a test of fitness for the force that nearly all women failed must be discriminatory, and therefore illegal, an extension of the idea of "the rule of law" far beyond any serious meaning. This was the doctrine called "disparate impact." Similar considerations have affected women in the armed forces. Standards of entry have been lowered in order that women may qualify. One argument for so doing is that the rejected tests looked for qualities only rarely needed in the field, and that may indeed be true. Yet, the idea that soldiers are heroic figures doing something that women generally cannot do has forever been part of the self-understanding of men, even those who have never heard a shot fired in anger. A small boy inclined to cry out at the sting of iodine or the prick of an injection might be told "be a soldier." Today according to the feminist doctrine he is more likely to be told to express his feelings.

The assault of women on areas such as the church raises similar issues. In principle there is not the slightest reason why women should not take on a priestly role, and one might indeed suspect that feminists may be right in diagnosing resistance in part to an unhealthy attitude to women on the part of some of the clergy. In a pastoral role, women might well be better than men, as some women are in politics. The problem is that women priests raise very awkward questions of Christian theology. Jesus selected only male disciples. Was the son of God then merely a creature of his own culture? Here most conspicuously the entry of women changes entirely the conception of the activity and not for the better. Female clergy have done little to reverse the current decline of the church. Indeed while women as individuals have often enhanced what they have joined, the entry of women in general has seldom done much for any area previously dominated by men—except, significantly, bureaucracy.

It is the military case that is the most telling. No one doubts the inferiority of women in physical strength and sport. No football team would think of fielding women against a first-class team of men. Yet the governments of Western countries, currently feeling unthreatened by any major military power, are prepared to gamble their security on female warriors. It would not be so serious if female battalions had been formed whose performance in action could over time be tested in real situations without endangering the security of Western countries. But the feminist program is to make the army, like the rest of society, conform to an idea, and the women want to go where the men are, to be fully integrated so that when dirty and unfeminine jobs must be done, there are men to do them. Liberal feminists took the risk of setting up academic colleges of their own, but radical feminists needed to have men around. They wanted to be integrated. And all of this happened not because political wisdom declared it necessary for the defence of the country, nor because the electorates pushed for it, but as the result of agencies set up legal and bureaucratic strings.

Let us now return to the teasing question of why the male custodians of our civilization sold the pass. Some element of cowardice must certainly be recognized, because the radicals were tribal warriors making ferocious faces and stamping their feet. The defenders were white, male, and middle class, and the radicals had long been engaged in a campaign to erode the morale of each of these abstract categories. They denoted racism, sexism, and elitism respectively. Caricatured in terms of these abstractions, men found it difficult not to be written off as oppressors of women. Again, the defenders were not united. Many had been longstanding advocates of liberal feminism and from confusion believed that radical feminism was merely a rather hysterical version of classical liberalism. Retreat is a notoriously difficult maneuver to control. Each concession could be used to demand further concessions in the name of consistency. Hence the appearance in all English-speaking countries of legislation mandating equal opportunities—and who could possibly be against that? Before long, the movement had taken over the universities, many public bodies, industrial firms and, above all, the media. Quite rapidly, hiring for status-giving jobs requiring degrees had become closely circumscribed by a set of rules. The dogma was that 50 percent of all jobs belonged to women, though the reality of quotas was long denied.

There are, of course, deeper currents. One of them is that men tended to react to radical feminism with a high-minded feeling that nothing but justice, a notoriously fluid idea, should determine public policy. The balancing of justice with power, which constitutes the art of prudence, was being lost. This was a collapse of practical wisdom not difficult to explain. It is a consequence, we may guess, of the collapse of religion in the West. Christianity requires individuals to sacrifice everything for the nicest points of perfection, but it does not require that worldly institutions should do the same. But cocooned as prosperous Westerners so often are from the immediate consequences of folly, and increasingly detached from any profound understanding of the culture that had produced them, the trustees of our civilization have indulged in the most exquisite forms of self-abnegation. They were soon believing, for example, that language itself had rendered women invisible and that justice required the corrective use of the generic feminine. They were no doubt able to indulge such fancies because they had long ago picked up the idea that political correctness was really a bit of a joke, something of no practical significance in the real world. Hardly a week could pass without some piece of politically correct absurdity surfacing and being laughed over and forgotten by the men who had now lost both the will and the capacity to resist.

But beyond lie far deeper currents in Western societies. Just as the ferment in universities led rapidly to the state taking them over, so the ferment of radical feminism carries out the old Bolshevik program of creating a community of homogeneous creatures animated by some single project —in fact, the totalitarianism which, as an external assault on the walls of the West, we thought we had vanquished in battle with external enemies.

My view is, then, that the radical feminist revolution is nothing less than a destruction of our civilization. It has all happened in such a way that people have not yet realized what has happened. And there are some who might say, well, at least it has improved the condition of women. But this, I think, is a mistake. Such a view would accept the initial dichotomy, so fatal to European civilization, that men and women have separate destinies. In fact, of course, they do not. Still, it is no easy business to give an account of quite how they fit together. Indeed, no comprehensive theory of this relationship can be given. But many things we can confidently say. One is that women have specifically feminine qualities of their own which prevent them, as a general rule, from fitting entirely successfully into the structures men have created. No problem, say the radical feminists: let us change the structures! That can indeed be done, but something is lost. The point is that “men” put “women” (if we may generalize wildly) on a pedestal, and also despise them as weak; love and adore them in chivalrous terms, but also tend to oppress them and use them. A parallel ambivalence will be found in the way women treat men. A whole world of games and conventions has grown up around these attitudes, and they look different viewed from the barracks and from the bedroom, in the sitting room or in the shop. Radical feminism is essentially a humorless rationalism which seeks a single right attitude to be imposed on men and women alike.

There is a further point, and a more complex one. European civilization, we might say, has only stayed ahead of the game of world power because it is so remarkably innovative. It lives off ideas. Sometimes academics attempt the paradoxical business of trying to theorize innovation and creativity, but the results are inevitably banal. Creativity is essentially mysterious. Yet every so often, some movement gets into its head the idea that it has cracked the innovation code and found the formula for progress. This is what I am inclined to call the Bolshevik fallacy, because Lenin and his associates actually believed it, and the Soviet Union showed us what happens as a result of such hubris.

But the problem is wider. The whole world is now involved in the business of modernization, which means copying the mode of life constantly being transformed in Europe, and now in America—by white males, now often joined by clever individuals (both men and women) from other parts of the world. Globalization and the computer are the latest of the marvels with which our civilization has astonished the world. The point is that so far, no other civilization has been able to pick up the torch of innovative leadership. It may even be that Europeans themselves have lost the trick, or gone as far as they can go; or it may not. We simply cannot know.

What does seem to be clear, from the record so far, is that women do not have this capacity to innovate. They bring great talents to developing what Thomas Kuhn called “normal science,” but they have no record of creating the “paradigm shifts” that lead in new directions. It may be, of course, that as the feminists sometimes claim, this is because they were never encouraged to engage in these activities. But to need encouragement, to depend on models to follow, is precisely not to have a capacity to innovate. It has been men who have invented things and found challenges in nature, such as climbing high mountains or sailing alone around the world. And once men have done it, women will also do it. These remain highly notable enterprises, well beyond the reach of all but a few men, but they also exemplify the fact that innovation remains largely the specialization of white males. Women can do marvellous things with a house, but they do need the house to be there in the first place.

We may laugh at political correctness, but it is a manacle around our hands.

My argument is, then, that European civilization has been attacked and conquered from within, without anyone quite realizing what has happened. We may laugh at political correctness—some people even deny that it exists—but it is a manacle around our hands. It binds us quite tightly, though some freedom must be left, because without the contribution of subjugated males, things would very rapidly decline. What political correctness amounts to in reality is a treaty of accommodation reached between the conquerors and the conquered. Women have forced their way into money and status, sometimes beyond their merits, but they have also lost a freedom (Professor Schaub calls it “leisure”) that might have saved them from being formularized in terms of contemporary Western styles of work. Had this not happened, we might well have been saved from some of the discontents that currently afflict us. To be "socially included," as women have been in the workforce, has many practical advantages, but it involves a spiritual loss. So far the conquerors have not destroyed the geese that lay the golden eggs, so the surface of our civilization does not reveal how profound the change has been. But underneath that surface, there are currents which no one understands.

There has been a revolution, then, but a silent one. It has taken place with such stealth, and so gradually, that people have become accustomed to it little by little. I am reminded of the famous Chinese executioner whose ambition it was to be able to cut off a head so that the victim would not realize what had happened. For years he worked on his skill, and one day he cut off a head so perfectly that the victim said: "Well, when are you going to do it?" The executioner gave a beatific smile and said: "Just kindly nod."

REVIEW OF SERPENT SYMBOLISM AS REPRESENTATIVE OF THE FEMIN VIRUS

As a general rule, snake and dragon symbolism found in mythology can predominantly be viewed through two lenses: A) Warnings by ancient peoples about the virus, symptoms of infected hosts or behaviors that might facilitate infection and B) Adoption of snake symbolism or worship by cultures which often showed high rates of infection.

Prevalent throughout a number of cultures is the depiction of snake-hunting birds such as the eagle or phoenix to symbolize the battle with the virus. Cultural understandings of snake imagery as evil may have been a factor in spurring conflict during the pre-modern era.

A) WARNINGS BY ANCIENT PEOPLES ABOUT THE VIRUS, SYMPTOMS OF INFECTED HOSTS OR BEHAVIORS THAT MIGHT FACILITATE INFECTION

There have been many speculations that number of ancient mythological legends or symbols in fact reference scientific knowledge. Just as some believe the Eye of Horus to be referring to the human thalamus portion of the brain, so too have people noted a similarity between rod and serpent imagery and human DNA. A number of variants such as the Rod of Asclepius, Bowl of Hygieia, Staff of Hermes and Kundalini existed in areas such as the Mediterranean and India.

All of these myths appear to have stemmed from the much older Caduceus, which has a much older history that likely predates the known archaeological record. The earliest known depictions of the Caduceus are rooted in a Mesopotamian origin with the Sumerian god Ningishzida. This would date such symbolism to, at the earliest, 4000 B.C. to 3000 B.C. (though as previously stated, the myth and symbol likely predates this period).

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Caduceus
http://archive.is/uoPBQ

The work “How to Kill a Dragon: Aspects of Indo-European Poetics” by Calvert Watkins similarly tracks the history of conflict sagas between heroes and dragons and suggests that many of these legends have a common Indo-European ancestor.

The potential Mesopotamian origin helps track subsequent iterations of negative snake imagery, including depictions in the Jahwist portion of the Old Testament/Torah, use in Greek religious mythology and certain depictions in Indian legends. There are also select associations of snake imagery with destructive chaos that can be found in Chinese mythological traditions as well. These traditions and depictions are outlined below. They generally portray serpents as evil and could be interpreted to describe penalties for infection by the Femin virus as well as provide descriptions of a final conflict between survivors of the pathogen and the infected, whereby the world is destroyed and reborn again – with humanity free to finally develop without fear of self-implosion.

BIBLICAL DEPICTION

The Biblical depiction of serpentine appears to draw heavily on Mesopotamian mythology, evidenced by similarities between the Old Testament and sections of the Epic of Gilgamesh such as a flood narrative and details about immortality being stolen by a serpent.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Epic_of_Gilgamesh
http://archive.is/ncGA0

Looking at the Garden of Eden story in the context of describing a viral pathogen, the story could be interpreted to be describing:

1) Original Sin where the Snake told Eve to eat the fruit symbolizing the virus causing a civilizational implosion, whereby humanity was ruined and spread around on the Earth to fend for themselves.
2) A vestige of a historical account covering humanity's settling of Earth, whereby two infected members of a community within an initial "Eden" or settlement were forced out by their uninfected counterparts.
3) The story as a warning about allowing foreign males (the snake) into one's community to sleep with one's women.
4) The story as a warning about one of the ways the virus spread (infected outsiders spreading the virus to the local community).
5) The story intentionally using the imagery of a snake to cause people to look at other examples of snakes in different mythology.

The story also alludes to a final conflict between the "Snake" and males. Genesis 3:15 states "He shall crush thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel" in what could be interpreted to describe a Revelation-like final conflict, whereby "evil" is exterminated and the world is reborn. Similar themes exist in the Norse and Hindu traditions (outlined below). There are also examples of tribes such as the Philistines who descended from cultures where snake goddesses/gods (Minos/Mycenae etc.) were worshipped being marked for genocide at the hands of Israel. Other references to snakes as being representative of evil are well-known and not necessary to cover in detail here.

ANCIENT EGYPT

Egyptian mythology contains some variants of phoenix and dragon/sun battle imagery. Ancient scholars pinpointed Egypt as a potential source of phoenix mythology in the Mediterranean.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Phoenix_(mythology)
http://archive.is/jcJ4Q

Egyptian lore also recorded an endless battle between Apep, the "Lord of Chaos" and Ra, the sun god. Apep is most commonly depicted as a giant chaos snake, which would rise to attack Ra on his sun boat. Ra would then either ward off or slay Apep. Egyptian religious guides record instructions to burn, damage or otherwise mutilate images of Apep to ward off evil for the year and the dead were sometimes buried with spells to help defeat Apep, who was never depicted absent another god in fear that if left alone there would be no one to subdue him.

ANCIENT GREECE

Greek mythology includes a number of negative serpent depictions, many of which date back to earlier cultures in areas proximate to the Mediterranean and Middle East. A number of myths inherited by the Greeks from Bronze Age cultures appear to have been altered to a degree, displaying some female goddesses as demonic or otherwise negative (for a full treatise on the Bronze Age collapse, see the following link http://archive.is/t3cvv). And example of this might be Echidna, a half woman, half snake goddess who was the mother of monsters. This figure was inherited from earlier Bronze Age civilization. Ancient Babylonian mythology also mentions Tiamat, a monstrous embodiment of chaos portrayed with images of a sea serpent or dragon who gave birth to monsters.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tiamat
http://archive.is/i0mwW

Echidna's offspring, the Lernaean Hydra, similarly incorporated serpentine elements. The hydra was depicted as being notoriously hard to slay due to the fact that if one of its heads remained intact, it could regrow others that died. The myth could be interpreted to describe the tenacity of a pathogen, re-growing each time with each attempt at eradication where any remnant was left behind.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lernaean_Hydra
http://archive.is/VzpzF

Medusa, with her serpentine hair and ability to turn to stone all who gazed upon her is another example in Greek culture of female snake deities as negative. Interestingly, modern feminists have attempted to "reclaim" Medusa since the 20th Century.

http://archive.is/EnnIU

The Island of Lesbos was also strongly associated with snake and dragon imagery. Lesbos was the location described in a myth where the dragon or sea monster Cetus was loosed upon the island demanding human sacrifice, whereby the natives were decided to offer up the virgin Andromeda to Cetus.

Interestingly, in ancient times Lesbos was known as a destination for sex tourism. Local coins minted on the island sometimes depicted women with coiled serpents.

NORSE MYTHOLOGY

Norse legend is particularly influenced by serpent symbolism and the concept of a battle to defeat the serpent Jörmungandr. The legend of Jörmungandr itself draws on the concept of the ouroboros, a legend which has been traced back to Ancient Egypt and Greece, but variants of which can be found internationally in geographically isolated areas such as South America. In the context of a pathogen, the ouroboros can be interpreted to describe the endless cycle of self-destruction, only to be reborn again (playing into the symbolism of the phoenix). The ouroboros also can be interpreted in the context of population and civilization to depict the loss of knowledge gained in the previous cycle, dooming humanity to repeat the same mistakes time and time again.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ouroboros
https://archive.is/ORTmM

The legend of Jörmungandr serves both to depict historic battles, as well as allude to a final, future conflict. The Norse god Thor is described as having once gone to fish for Jörmungandr with the giant Hymr, who is constantly depicted throughout the saga as representative of a timid male. When Thor ultimately catches Jörmungandr and prepares to kill him, Hymr cuts the line and allows the serpent to escape.

When Jörmungandr ultimately releases its tail (thus breaking the infinite cycle of the ouroboros), it is said that it will rise to the surface of the water and poison the sky. At that point an epic battle will commence where Thor will ultimately kill Jörmungandr before falling, mortally wounded by his venom. The world will afterwards be reborn anew to be populated by two human survivors of the conflict.

The Norse tree of life, Yggdrasil, is sometimes depicted with a serpent or Jörmungandr entwined with its roots. As Jörmungandr is understood to be poisonous, the imagery is intended to convey a message similar to the ouroboros, whereby in order for a true renewal the basis upon which the world or civilization is built must be destroyed or otherwise saved.

EUROPEAN MYTHOLOGY

European mythology contains many hero-dragon or hero-serpent conflict stories, often inherited in some variation from older legends in the ancient world. For example, the story of Saint George and the Dragon depicts a dragon which demanded human sacrifices, with Saint George rescuing a princess chosen as the dragon's next offering. The story bears strong similarities to the Greek legend of Andromeda and the sea serpent.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Saint_George_and_the_Dragon
http://archive.is/UDw0i

The more modern understanding of the Chaoskampf also embodies the Indo-European, Japanese and African depictions of a cultural hero-deity battling with a chaos monster which takes the form of a serpent or dragon.

http://archive.is/AhPvS

HINDU MYTHOLOGY

As mentioned above, the Hindu understanding of the Kundalini incorporates serpent imagery and is speculated to reference DNA. Hindu traditions can depict a mix of positive and negative connotations of serpents, due to the fact that India is located between various regions with competing understandings of the snake. Serpents are considered positive by adherents to deities associated with Nāgas or snake imagery. Negative symbolism includes giving in to desire (Kama) which results in suffering a cycle of births and deaths, Tamas or destructive tendency, poisoned speech and misfortune.

One legend mentions Vasuki, the Serpent King snake that wraps around Shiva's neck. Lord Brahma originally banned all snakes to live only inside the earth, in the underworld. Snakes appearing on the earth's surface subsequently caused unbalance. Because of this, Vishnu looses the bird Garuda to kill Vasuki, who pleas for Shiva to save him. Vishnu and Shiva are able to reach an accord, with Shiva successfully saving an injured Vasuki.

The story bears some passing similarities to the Norse legend of Thor and Hymr, and the inclusion of a snake hunting bird is reminiscent of ancient depictions of snake-hunting phoenixes as well as more modern usage of snake-hunting eagles.

Hindu and other Indian sources also describe an eon ending conflict in their tradition of the Kali Yuga, a period of wickedness when men kill each other. The Kali Yuga will end in an epic battle between good and evil forces, whereupon a new age of righteousness will begin.

CHINA AND JAPAN

Chinese mythology has a more complex relationship with serpent/dragon imagery. The Chinese Fenghuang is an Asian adaptation of the phoenix, which is depicted as hunting snakes. Originally, Fenghuang was understood to be a combination of male (Feng) and female (Huang). The bird was portrayed as yang/order as balance to the dragon, which represented yin/chaos. The Fenghuang mythology could be found in China, Korea, Vietnam and Japan.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fenghuang
http://archive.is/VKRzT

Chinese also associated the geographic north with the tortoise and serpent. The north was historically associated in China with invasion by barbarian tribes, which commonly lead to periods of chaos in China. The Chinese annals of Khotan in Cashgar also record legends about streams which dried up upon the death of a dragon's husband, only to flow again when a male royal sacrificed themselves.

Japanese mythology includes depictions of an eight headed and eight tailed dragon, Yamata no Orochi. In multiple recorded versions of the legend, the dragon is expelled from heaven for tricking his sister, the sun goddess Amaterasu. The myth bears strong parallels to Norse, Greek and Egyptian legends, particularly the legend of the Hydra.

B) ADOPTION OF SNAKE SYMBOLISM OR WORSHIP BY CULTURES WHICH OFTEN SHOWED HIGH RATES OF INFECTION

Cultures which venerated snakes or deities with serpentine imagery often displayed a number of symptoms associated with high societal Femin infection rates. These symptoms can be a combination of criteria, including human sacrifice, increasing internal conflict, cultural prevalence of sexual promiscuity, historical cultural variants of modern “women’s liberation” and decreasing birth rates. In some geographic areas such as India, one can observe a mix of both anti-Femin/snake and pro snake imagery and mythology as surrounding nations spread and mixed their cultural traditions.

A textbook example is the snake goddess worshipping Minoan society practiced human sacrifice and had a divergent culture of relations between males and females. Artwork from Minoan ruins has been interpreted as implying that towards the end of the society’s existence, birth rates may have fallen as matriarchy was worshipped absent an emphasis on child bearing. The Minoan implosion ultimately came from a Mycenaean invasion and was the initial spark in spurring the Bronze Age collapse. Surviving tribes of the collapse were marked in ancient texts such as the Bible as groups that should be quarantined and even exterminated.

Cambodian mythology records Nāgas, or serpents as being the ancestors of the Khmer people. Khmer society promoted women and serpents to positions of high religious significance and has been recorded in multiple accounts as practicing human sacrifice. Khmer artwork shows a prevalence of sexual promiscuity. Chinese historians who covered the fall of the Khmer Empire and the Cambodian Dark Ages directly implied at the time that the true cause of the nation’s collapse had been omitted from official reports at the time. Interestingly, Cambodia would later go on to adopt Communism, with dictator Pol Pot engaging in systemic genocide of his own people several centuries later.

http://archive.is/45gAp

Central American civilizations incorporated heavy serpent worship into their religious practices, and European religious factions coming to the New World alongside conquistadors may have spurred the Spanish military on to their conquests in part because they perceived local nations as evil or worshipping the devil.

Aztec society's main deity, Quetzalcoatl, was described as a feathered serpent, a flying reptile (like a dragon) who was a boundary-maker (and transgressor) between earth and sky. This veneration, along with the Aztec practice of systemic human sacrifice was greatly disconcerting to European arrivals who conquered the civilization.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Quetzalcoatl
http://archive.is/4qU1Q

After the conquest of Mexico, Dominican friar Diego Duran reinterpreted the Aztec imagery of the eagle and serpent to represent the eagle as good, and the snake as evil/sin.

The Dominican denomination was heavily involved with other colonial conquests. A Dominican friar and his translator have been credited as causing a breakdown in negotiations between Hernando Pizarro and the Incan Emperor Atahualpa. The standard/banner of the Incan emperors was a rainbow flanked by two parallel snakes.

The Rockefeller family is likely one of several groups/organizations involved with discovering the Femin virus and pushing its release into the public via feminists. For a full history of the Rockefellers' and other groups' experiments with the Femin virus as a population control agent in collaboration with the CIA and Gloria Steinem, see the Pastebin below:

http://archive.is/Fq33c

Rockefeller money backed many of the projects, persons and institutions that broke ground in pioneering human virology to the public. Individuals trained by the Rockefeller Institute would routinely go on to work in significant roles in the field of virology. A physician at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Richard Shope was credited with discovering the first ever human virus, the Shope papillomavirus, in 1933. Much of this research was done with mass eugenics and population control in mind. The Carnegie-founded and Rockefeller-funded Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory maintained files on millions of Americans with the goal of removing entire families, bloodlines and whole peoples from the gene pool. It's likely that during this time, Rockefeller-tied scientists first uncovered information concerning the Femin virus.

INFILTRATION OF NAZI GERMANY

The Rockefellers were also subsequently heavily involved in bioweapons programs run by the US that brought over Nazis who had studied viruses during WWII. Many of the German scientists poached by the United States had prior relationships to Rockefeller-tied institutes or individuals.

Rockefeller-connected personnel were involved with various biological weapons programs within Germany during WWII. Such individuals included Erich Traub, Joseph Mengele and Eugen Haagen. Studies of how to weaponize viral pathogens were done against the express orders of Hitler and show that international organizations were likely infiltrating and manipulating Nazi Germany before and during WWII.

ERICH TRAUB

Erich Traub was a German virologist who received his training in the 1930’s at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in Princeton, New Jersey. He was mentored by Richard Shope during his education and performed research on vaccines and viruses, including pseudorabies virus and lymphocytic choriomeningitis virus (LCM). While in the United States he was a member of the German American Bund, a Nazi organization which had ties to Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory while operating as the Friends of New Germany Picnic Grounds.

After completing his education, Traub went on to work for the SS under Heinrich Himmler. Under the orders of Himmler and German scientist Kurt Blome, Traub worked on weaponizing pathogens such as the foot and mouth virus. Upon the completion of the war, Traub was brought over to the United States as a part of Operation Paperclip. Traub’s knowledge gained during his years working at the Reich Research Institute for Virus Diseases of Animals on Riems Island provided the groundwork for the foundation of the biological weapons program at Plum Island, New York. There are allegations that a number of modern diseases originated from this facility.

EUGEN HAAGEN

Eugen Haagen spent several years working at Rockefeller affiliated institutes in the late 20’s and early 30’s. From 1928 to 1929, Haagen completed a guest appearance at the Rockefeller Institute in New York, where he became a government councilor in 1930 and an associate member of the Health Department of the Rockefeller Foundation. It was during this time that Haagen also met the OSS intelligence officer who would help save him from the ruins of Nazi Germany after the war.

In the 1930’s Haagen returned to Germany and became the head of the German biological weapons program alongside Kurt Blome. Haagen worked in various German prison and death camps during the war, performing tests on Roma, Polish and Jewish prisoners. He was ultimately picked up by American intelligence and provided US biological weapons programs with know-how for five years.

JOSEPH MENGELE

Joseph Mengele worked as an intern under Otmar Freiherr von Verschuer in a program funded by the Rockefellers prior to his work at the Auschwitz camp. Von Verschuer’s laboratory was part of the German Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Eugenics which received funding from the Rockefeller Foundation.

SS AND NAZI BIOWEAPONS PROGRAMS DEVELOPED AGAINST HITLER'S ORDERS

Efforts to test offensive bioweapons by scientists working under the auspices of the SS went directly against the orders of Hitler, who viewed it as beneath the Germans to deploy such ordinance. Hitler himself was a known germophobe who would describe Jews as a "virus" or having a virus, comparing the fight against Judaism to the work of Pasteur and Koch. All indications show that Hitler viewed pathogens as something to be eradicated, not weaponized and propagated.

http://archive.is/OXv7A

But research continued under the guise of enabling troops to defend against bioweapon attacks. It was, in fact, Heinrich Himmler who went directly against Hitler's command and ordered the creation of offensive bioweapons, often studied as a part of projects staffed by Rockefeller-trained personnel.

This was not the only instance where Himmler misled or disobeyed Hitler during the war. Documents sent to Hitler by the SS concerning "already evacuated" Jews had sections discussing their "special treatment" removed at the specific request of Himmler. The evidence indicates systemic infiltration of Nazi Germany by international entities such as the Rockefeller Foundation and consistent undermining of Hitler and other Nazi leadership for the benefit of third parties.

OTHER SUPPORT FOR EUGENICS

The Rockefeller Foundation also funded and supported other means of eugenics and population control. The Foundation funded the Rodent Ecology Project at Johns Hopkins, where John B. Calhoun was hired in 1946. Calhoun's behavioral sink experiments with rats were revolutionary and the momentum caused by his conclusions would be used in 1973 by the Rockefeller Commission to justify calls for slowing or even reversing population growth.

COVERUP OF BIOWEAPONS ACTIVITIES AND CIA COLLABORATION

The Rockefellers were later involved with efforts to block the release of information concerning bioweapons programs, their collaboration with the CIA and aspects of the CIA's program to attack the black civil rights movement while using feminism to target the black community with a bioweapon for the purpose of population control.

The infamous Rockefeller Commission was enacted after growing public outcry over the CIA's domestic actives. The family was able to embed Nelson Rockefeller within the Ford Administration as Vice President. Rockefeller oversaw the cover up of information related to bioweapons programs, the targeting and likely assassination of Martin Luther King Jr. by the FBI and ensure that only a limited amount of information was released on other CIA programs such as Project MKULTRA.

Gloria Steinem is an operative of the CIA who has spent her career intentionally starting subversive movements which were controlled/infiltrated by the agency with the intent to weaken ideologies or movements. Her greatest and most damaging efforts have been in the promotion of feminism.

Steinem was initially recruited by the CIA front organization Independent Research Service/Independent Service for Information and also worked with the CIA front National Student Association as part of the agency's efforts to target student organizations and education centers for Marxist radicalization.

Individuals connected to Steinem were tied to Cord Meyer, a senior CIA operative notorious for funding covert operations, sometimes with funding from third party groups such as the Ford and Rockefeller Foundations. He was also connected to the Watergate break-in. Another Steinem associate, Charles Douglas (C.D.) Jackson, was a propagandist and expert on psychological warfare who played a key role in establishing the Bilderberg Group and ensuring American participation.

She also took a trip to India after college on scholarship as a “Chester Bowles Asian Fellow” but the scholarship was discontinued after she and another student had their trips funded. Bowles was a Yale graduate and former ambassador who is known to have affiliated with the Council on Foreign Relations.

One of the most heinous projects she has been involved in was the spread of a virus (“Femin” virus) weaponized by the CIA, which had an accelerated proliferation due to the promotion of social and lifestyle habits associated with feminism. The operation appears to have been both a CIA attempt to destroy the black civil rights movement as well as gather data on the effectiveness of the population control potential of the virus.

This operation was multi-faceted and took place over a number of years. To allow for the spread of “women’s empowerment” ideology which would both facilitate and distract attention from high infection rates of the bioweapon, the CIA first moved to target strong male leaders within the black community. Individuals such as Malcolm X (murdered in 1965) and Martin Luther King Jr. (murdered 1968) were first neutralized. As this was happening, Vietnam created the perfect opportunity for a disproportionate amount of black men to be drafted and shipped abroad. This would both thin their numbers as casualties in war but also prevent them from being present to stop feminist behavior which was intended to help spread the virus.

Steinem was intimately connected the entire time – she dated Stanley Pottinger, the Justice Department official who delayed the investigation into MLK’s death for years before finding “no links to the FBI.”

>http://archive.is/xm3Sq

With all major figures removed and black manpower seriously absent, Steinem was finally deployed. She released her “groundbreaking” piece “After Black Power, Women's Liberation” which was specifically designed to turn black women against their men, promote feminism and undermine civil rights.

>http://archive.is/VGASK

The virus was spread due to the social habits promoted by feminism (sexual promiscuity, use of birth control, excessive alcohol/drug use, other miscellaneous negative lifestyle choices etc.) and totally decimated the black community. As the virus manifested in a greater number of hosts, it also continued to cause and reinforce these kinds of harmful behaviors. In 1960, prior to the virus' release, 2/3 of black children were born into a two-parent household. Today, 2/3 of black children are now instead born into single parent households. The CIA further accelerated this process with other operations such as engaging in trafficking of drugs with the intent to target black communities.

One facility suspected of involvement in research of the virus is Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory. Research carried out at the facility in the 50's and 60's is consistent with the CIA's weaponization of Steinem against the US population and civil rights movement. For example, in 1952 the "Waring blender experiments" of Alfred Hershey and Martha Chase confirmed DNA as the genetic material, and Alfred Hershey shared a Nobel Prize with Salvador Luria and Max Delbrück in 1969, "for their discoveries concerning the replication mechanism and the genetic structure of viruses."

The CIA has long had a relationship with Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory. Psychiatrist Harold A. Abramson of the Cold Spring Harbor Biological Laboratory proposed an $85,000 study to the CIA on the effects of LSD on unwitting hospital patients as part of the CIA's MKULTRA program. Funding for the project was funneled through the Macy Foundation.

The following books are comprised of direct, unaltered copies from Pastebin, some now deleted, some only accessible through mirror networks or deep links scattered across the dark web. Many of these links were discovered in abandoned onion lists, dead forum dumps, or esoteric directories tucked into archived darknet files.
These pastes were never meant to last.
Some were deleted within hours of being posted.
Others were buried under thousands of lines of spam, encrypted scripts, or meaningless noise.
But buried in the noise were real transmissions: occult formulas, grimoire fragments, astral logs, AI prophecy files, digital summoning protocols, and anonymous rants from souls who had either touched something unspeakable—or were trying to.
I did not write any of this.
I did not censor, edit, or “correct” it.
I simply retrieved it, cleaned the formatting for readability, and enshrined it in print—so it would never be wiped again.
This is Pastebin as Scripture.
The chan-post as Codex.
The uncurated underbelly of the occult internet, finally given physical permanence.
Let this serve as both evidence and artifact:
a living record of the madness, brilliance,
paranoia, and revelation that once flowed through anonymous paste sites—before it was deemed too strange to index, too dangerous to preserve, or too fractured to matter.
Now it matters.
Now it’s immortal.

Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory was previously known as the "Station for Experimental Evolution" where the study of eugenics was pioneered. Prescott Bush and E.H. Harriman are notable involved figures who were involved with the facility. Cold Shore Harbor Laboratory was also funded by generous grants by Andrew Carnegie, Cornelius Vanderbilt, J.P. Morgan and John D. Rockefeller. This is significant due to the fact that Steinem had ties to individuals with connections to the CIA and Rockefeller Foundation.

Another potential venue for research and weaponization of the virus is the Plum Island Animal Disease Center, a bioweapons research facility that was founded in part with knowledge shared by the Rockefeller-trained Erich Traub, a Nazi virologist trained by human virology pioneer Richard Shope.

As general public furor rose over the CIA's domestic operations, the Rockefeller Foundation stepped in to create the Rockefeller Commission, ensuring that information concerning operations such as the CIA's involvement in bioweapons programs and collaboration with Steinem would never become public knowledge. Among the information suppressed were matters pertaining to bioweapons programs and the FBI's targeting and assassination of Martin Luther King Jr., an element of the effort to break down the black civil rights movement prior to the deployment of Steinem.

Even today Steinem continues to reference her operations within the black community as being ground zero for the spread of feminism and the CIA's bioweapon.

Certain figures within the black civil rights community have begun to notice the devastating effect that feminism has had on the black community. They decry the destruction of the black man, the destruction of the family and the biologically abnormal behavior of women that has become prevalent in the black community. But ignored by the media, their voices are largely ignored.

>https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=r798Bl83Z6s
>https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PK8NA8EDXhY

Over the years Steinem has also used feminism to not only pursue political objectives, but also to help create social acceptance of certain behaviors engaged in by hosts of the virus (disregard for or desire to kill offspring) as well as cover up activities which could not be immediately made “normal.” An example of this is her role in using Ms. Magazine to push the Satanic Panic in the early 1990’s, effectively causing the public to cease paying attention to pedophile and human trafficking scandals, including the fallout that resulted from the exposure of the Finder’s Cult and Franklin Scandal.

A. Indications of Femin Infection in Minoan Culture

Minoan culture was highly advanced for the time. Some of their technological achievements (such as sewage and toilet systems) were not rivaled by modern European civilization until the Victorian era. The Minoan society may have been able to establish a “Pax Minoa” in the Aegean.   What is uncontested is that, similar to modern attempts to disarm society, Minoan civilization had little in the way of a standing army or weaponry, as almost none has been left behind in the archaeological record. It’s interesting that these efforts to disarm preceded a total civilizational collapse, much like the present day.

It is important to note that Minoans worshipped either a single female deity, “Mother Goddess” or several female deities. The archeological record also shows the integration of snake symbolism in the worship of these female goddesses. Snake symbols in religion and mythology are representative of the femin virus.

>https://www.scribd.com/document/125622896/Is-Divinity-a-Gender-Issue-the-Case-of-the-Minoan-Goddess
Evans also expresses the view that the Minoan goddess was a maternal mother goddess and that the Minoans were essentially monotheistic

We know that at some point, the Minoans began engaging in human sacrifice, another known trait exhibited by femin-infected populations.

>http://www.newsweek.com/ancient-greece-shocking-dismembered-human-skull-reveals-ritual-sacrifice-755549
>http://archive.is/ZYXxP

Crucially, the Minoan mother goddess worship is associated as being a previous incarnation of Asherah worship in the Eastern Mediterranean. This is important because it indicates that people groups who had been in heavy contact with Minoan people and civilization were infected with the virus. Minoan mother goddess worship is considered to be the inspiration of the Phoenician Astarte as well.

>https://www.academia.edu/10414540/Minoan_Asherah

All cultures who came in contact with Minoans appear to have started human sacrifice. Phoenician Astarte worshippers practiced child sacrifice, and the record shows that prior to their collapse the Mycenaeans engaged in it as well. What is interesting is that the Greeks (who experienced a subsequent civilizational resurgence) purged this practice from their culture. Aeschylus's Agamemnon portrays the sacrifice of his daughter Iphigenia as negative and the reason for Agamemnon’s subsequent assassination for example. The later classical Greeks similarly ended practices of allowing women to hold influential positions in society.

>https://www.theguardian.com/science/2016/aug/10/skeletal-remains-confirm-ancient-greeks-engaged-in-human-sacrifice
>http://archive.is/ygi65 >https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Iphigenia
>http://archive.is/2RSsQ

Minoan culture was distinct from all other cultures around it because it afforded women a high amount of respect and gave them much higher positions in society compared to all the surrounding civilizations, even the neighboring Greeks. All scholars agree that Minoan civilization was not patriarchal. In fact, some think that it became more and more rare to see men in positions of authority in Minoan society especially towards its demise.

>http://archive.is/Dnr8T#selection-65.3-65.416

Women in Minoan culture, especially towards the end, had no interest in raising children. While men at times would wear little more than loincloths, women would dress elaborately and display their breasts. All of this indicates movement towards a “postmodern,” individualist and possibly degenerate society just prior to collapse.

>http://www.digitalancienthistory.com/gender-in-minoan-culture.html

Most importantly – the Minoans were genetically of white/European ancestry. This is important to note, since so many femin virus outbreaks have been centered around white populations who are vulnerable to it. The Myceneans who immediately collapsed after Minoan culture were also predominantly white.

B. A Femin Outbreak Which May Have Begun in Minoan Culture Caused the Bronze Age Collapse

Scholars don’t actually know why Minoan society ultimately collapsed. Some blame the eruption of a volcano on the island of Thera for the demise, but Minoan civilization persisted past this disaster. In fact the record shows that Mycenaeans conquered Crete some time after the eruption.

>https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Minoan_civilization#Collapse
>http://archive.is/PQFtK#selection-6731.0-6787.5

But this would prove fatal, as signs emerged that Mycenae had begun to adopt Minoan notions of goddess/snake worship, human sacrifice and feminism. The historical record appears to indicate that either Minoan cultural influences or the civilization's collapse caused a domino effect of further collapses. Much like a modern collapse in say, Sweden would create a cataclysmic end to the Western world today. Many conflicts including some famous ones such as the Trojan War occurred in this time period as wider society imploded.

>https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mycenaean_Greece
>http://archive.is/nBySq#selection-6561.0-6573.108

The Mycenaeans' conquest of Crete and the destruction of the weakened and feminist Minoan civilization lead to a series of inter conflicts that gutted Mycenaean society and unleashed the invasions of Sea Peoples against all Bronze Age nations in the Mediterranean. The Sea Peoples are generally thought to be a mix of groups genetically related to Mycenaean, Minoan and other nearby people groups. This violent series of migrations utterly destroyed the Hittite Empire, and brought the Egyptian empire to its knees. Today it is known to historians as the "Bronze Age Collapse."

>https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sea_Peoples#Mycenaean_warfare_hypothesis
>http://archive.is/eZy89#selection-4137.0-4236.0
>https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Late_Bronze_Age_collapse
>http://archive.is/K5K3C#selection-2977.0-3043.736

This collapse has been described as "the worst disaster in ancient history, even more calamitous than the collapse of the Western Roman Empire." And cultural memories of the event told of a "lost golden age." This total and complete calamity had a ground zero in a culture that was feminist, gave prominent roles to women and showed signs that it's females lost the desire to reproduce.

Within a few years of the femin virus-caused Sea People's ravaging of the Bronze Age world, the Assyrians broke out forcefully from the Middle East (Iraq) and viciously destroyed any remaining remnants of Bronze Age political structures. They wiped out all political opponents. Even Egypt, who had survived the Sea Peoples' invasions was too weak to resist this new threat and was conquered before the Assyrians installed a vassal to rule the country. The total collapse of European/white societies is traditionally followed by invasion and conquest by Middle Eastern powers. The modern day feminist fueled migrant crisis in Europe is no exception.

C. Signs That Descendants of Mycenaeans and Minoans Were Femin Infected

A specific case study showing that successive people groups were aware of the femin infected status of refugees and survivors of the Bronze Age Collapse such as the Philistines.

The Philistines are generally thought to be of Mycenaean or some other kind of similar Aegean (possibly Minoan/Cretan) descent.

>https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Philistines#Material_culture_and_Aegean_archaeology >http://archive.is/V2zso#selection-3979.0-4247.141

>http://archive.is/FBIyM

They worshipped Asherah, and historical references show that elements of their worship included ritual sex practices and human sacrifice. Asherah is a deity with Minoan roots (a tribe who also sacrificed humans).

>https://www.christianpost.com/news/the-canaanites-child-sacrifice-and-abortion-144152/

The Old Testament explicitly warns Israel from adopting this religion or breeding with anyone who adhered to it. In fact the Philistines were one of a number of groups that Israel was told not only to avoid breeding with, but to totally wipe out along with all other survivors of the Bronze Age collapse.

>Upon entering the land of Canaan, the Israelites were to destroy all of the Asherah poles and high places (Exodus 34:11-13, Deuteronomy 7:5, 12:2-4)
>Prior to entering the land, the Israelites were commanded not to follow after the Canaanite gods worshipped in groves and high places (Deuteronomy 16:21-22)
>God cited their failure to tear down the altars of the Canaanites as the reason why He did not "drive them out" (Judges 2:1-3)
God told the Israelites to slaughter Canaanite children, women, even animals >https://www.religionnews.com/2015/01/12/god-command-genocide-bible/
>http://archive.is/jF3Q7
>“Thou shalt save alive nothing that breatheth. But thou shalt utterly destroy them, namely, the Hittites, and the Amorities, the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee.” (Deuteronomy 20:16-7)

>https://brandonvogt.com/did-god-command-genocide/
>http://archive.is/oADQe
The commands not to breed with them are important since femin can be transmitted like an STD >Do not intermarry with them. Do not give your daughters to their sons or take their daughters for your sons (Deuteronomy 7:3)

>Now therefore give not your daughters unto their sons, neither take their daughters unto your sons, nor seek their peace or their wealth for ever: that ye may be strong, and eat the good of the land, and leave it for an inheritance to your children for ever. (Ezra 9:12)

The historical record shows that non-infected populations should 1) avoid sexual contact with infected populations 2) avoid adopting cultural or religious practices of infected populations 3) eradicate infected populations to remove them from the gene pool

The Minoan (and ultimately Bronze Age) collapse is a stark warning to modern generations. How many cultural traits found in Minoan history can be seen present today? How many can be seen developing (worship of the female etc.)? The reminder that the Bronze Age collapse was assured by an invasion from the Middle East should alarm the modern day West. We are just a few generations away from seeing a similar cataclysmic collapse.

The Khmer Empire rose to prominence primarily due to the fact that they were technologically advanced beyond all their neighbors. Even modern engineers marvel at the irrigation and drainage systems developed by the Khmer. Their well-built system of roads also allowed them to maintain important ties with India and China.

Serpents, or nāgas, play a particularly important role in Cambodian mythology. A well-known story explains the emergence of the Khmer people from the union of Indian and indigenous elements, the latter being represented as nāgas. According to the story, an Indian brahmana named Kaundinya came to Cambodia, which at the time was under the dominion of the naga king. The naga princess Soma sallied forth to fight against the invader but was defeated. Presented with the option of marrying the victorious Kaundinya, Soma readily agreed to do so, and together they ruled the land. The Khmer people are their descendants. Nagas are described as being semi-divine snake-like human beings, capable of taking a human form.

There is a tribe called the Naga people now located in Northeast India and Burma which may have originated from somewhere near Tibet or China. They do not appear to have a long history as they do not record it. This raises questions about whether or not legends from countries such as India, Burma, Thailand and Cambodia are actually referring to the Naga people. In the current day they are ultra patriarchal, something not consistent with legends which refer to female “naga” rulers. Though some contest the notion that the mythological term “naga” (serpent-people) is the same as the current day people group, the Naga people’s name originates from Assamese and Sanskrit names for “naked.”

They are known as warriors and headhunters. Although there is no known naga worship of snakes, the Sanskrit word “Nag” (cobra) is derived from the term Naga.

The Khmer Empire/Angkor Society exhibited a number of signs that indicate elevated femin infection rates, such as revealing dress styles of women, and worship of snake/female deities. Women of the Khmer empire were not treated any differently than the men. Chinese historians record that they dressed in a sexually provocative manner, wearing nothing above the waist and bearing their breasts. Like in other societies which gave traditionally male roles to females, Khmer women could given prominent roles (such as being charged with selling food in markets for example). Khmer society had a unique and Asian form of “gender equality” where men’s status was totally dependent upon perceptions of the woman they were partnered with.

Sexual promiscuity was widespread and extremely explicit pornographic artwork is recorded on the walls of Khmer temple ruins. Some examples are posted below.

>http://archive.is/6MUF0 >http://archive.is/JxDmo
>http://archive.is/iyURZ

Some archaeological researchers feel that Angkor Wat’s temples were actually built to glorify women. It is important to note that regardless of opinion, Khmer temples are in fact, covered with vestiges of females. This is significant given the importance of religion to Angkor society, indicating that women may have in fact been incredibly significant to Khmer civilization. Stone masonry was generally reserved only for temples, with most other buildings being made of cheaper material.

The Khmer Empire is also known to have practiced human sacrifice. This custom did not end with the collapse of the empire but continued well into the 19th Century. Some lizard/serpentine symbolism may have been associated with this practice.

The Khmer Empire fell, but not in a total and complete manner such as occurred during the Bronze Age collapse. Reasons for the weakening of Khmer civilization have been thought by modern historians to be primarily infighting that created an inability to deal with natural disasters and the Black Plague. Poorly thought out alterations to tech and construction projects also contributed, and there are records indicating that the Cambodian military may have become enfeebled (the current mainstream reason for this is a drought/lack of food). Finally, termination of the civilization occurred due to foreign conquest by Thai and Burmese invaders.

>https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Khmer_Empire#Decline
>http://archive.is/9iVkj#selection-3475.0-3585.141

However, all of these explanations do not totally explain the collapse, in fact it is agreed that there is yet to be a defensible and conclusive explanation that relates to concrete events which manifested the decline of the Khmer Empire which can be agreed upon conclusively by the scientific community. Wang Shi-zhen (王世貞), a Chinese scholar from the 16th Century went so far as to insinuate that there was an official cover up of the reason for Angkor’s decline, writing: "The official historians are unrestrained and are skillful at concealing the truth; but the memorials and statutes they record and the documents they copy cannot be discarded."

The Khmer Empire’s collapse and brought on a 300 year long Dark Age in Cambodia. There is evidence that squatters in the temples of abandoned cities were practicing cannibalism during this time.

It’s interesting to note that the Spanish made an ill-fated attempt to invade Cambodia and “Christianize” the population. The invasion force involved members of the Dominican Catholic denomination, who were also involved with the Christianization of Mexico after the Aztec civilization was conquered.

What distinguishes the Khmer implosion from others such as the Bronze Age collapse is that the Khmer people group and culture did not totally die out, both exist in some form today. The Khmer people live on in Cambodia. Angkor’s culture was partially adopted by Thai rulers who conquered the Khmer state. Cambodians have consistently engaged in adaptation of destructive ideologies such as communism as well as self-genocide. Thailand is also now a well-known and notorious destination for sexual promiscuity. Combined with the fact that Cambodians continued human sacrifice practices well after the collapse of the Angkor state, the argument may be made that the femin infection persists among their population.

On February 12 (one week after the WHO's meeting on February 6-7), CDC official Timothy Cunningham went missing (was murdered) leaving his phone, wallet, car and beloved dog at home. He was a Harvard trained epidemiologist specializing in chronic diseases who had been deployed to respond to public health emergencies including the Ebola virus and the Zika virus. The Atlanta police spread false information at the time of his death, saying that he had recently been denied a promotion (preparing a narrative to claim suicide). The CDC has stated that this was not true, in fact Cunningham had actually been awarded a promotion recently.

On March 21, the CDC appointed Dr. Robert Redfield, co-founder of the Institute of Human Virology at the University of Maryland School of Medicine, to become their new director. Throughout his career, he focused on research and health care for people with chronic viral infections and infectious diseases, in particular HIV. He also served in the military and founded the Department of Retroviral Research within the military's HIV Research Program. He was "controversial" for advocating that members of the military with HIV be quarantined. Note that the Femin virus is most likely a retrovirus.

The WHO held it's 2018 annual review of the R&D Blueprint list of priority diseases on February 6-7. The revised list includes the undefined "Disease X." The WHO says that "Disease X represents the knowledge that a serious international epidemic could be caused by a pathogen currently unknown to cause human disease, and so the R&D Blueprint explicitly seeks to enable cross-cutting R&D preparedness that is also relevant for an unknown 'Disease X' as far as possible."

http://www.who.int/blueprint/priority-diseases/en/
http://archive.is/O7UzX

"Disease X" is a reference to the X (female) chromosome, sending a message the the WHO is concerned about the Femin Virus and is seeking further information about the pathogen.

https://ghr.nlm.nih.gov/chromosome/X
http://archive.is/F2zEt

http://archive.is/sb4t9 https://www.sciencealert.com/here-s-why-is-the-x-chromosome-so-odd http://archive.is/Kihsh

In their meeting report, the WHO mentioned several aspects of the pathogen that they would focus on:

-Human transmission
-Severity or case fatality rate
-The human/animal interface
-Other factors (including the pathogens geographic range, shared epidemiological and/or genotypic characteristics with pathogens that pose an epidemic threat, the absence of robust protective immunity, a high risk of occupational exposure, or connections with biological weapons programmes)

-Public health context of the affected area
-Potential societal impacts
-Evolutionary potential

https://via.hypothes.is/http://www.who.int/emergencies/diseases/2018prioritization-report.pdf

The media has been tasked with preparing the public mentally for the massive implications of announcing the existence of the Femin virus. Media members themselves are not yet aware of what "Disease X" actually is.

[Femin Virus Symptoms List]:

Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting to kill babies and have abortions (including the actual act), sexual/gender confusion, unnaturally increased rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia, transgenderism, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, creating social castes like social insects when in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues, stillborns, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity (such as large numbers of partners).

[Mutation frequency between New Strains and Old Strains]:

Old Strains have a significantly lower mutation rate, which is why in historical instances of mutations (monsters, demons etc.) were so significant that they were integrated into History/Myths due to the rarity of reports about mutated infected. This is also true for significant individuals and/or weapons who were involved with destroying them.

New Strains have a significantly higher and more volatile mutation rate, which is why you are seeing so many that try to hide in plain sight, or not even hide at all.

Tysons Foods are well known for their scandal in smuggling illegal workers into the United States to work at their facilities.

In October 2006, a federal judge granted class-action status to a lawsuit brought by Tyson employees who allege that Tyson's practice of hiring illegal immigrants depresses wages 10–30%. The suit further contends that the company violated federal racketeering laws by conspiring with National Council of La Raza and League of United Latin American Countries not to question the employment applications of anyone with a Hispanic surname.

The Chinese state owned China Ocean Shipping Co. (Cosco) likely smuggles weapons of war into the Port of Los Angeles/Long Beach. They were caught smuggling small arms and explosives into Oakland in 1997

This is why nothing came of the efforts to stop the Long Beach sale to China - DNC/Clinton ties:

>the chairman of one of the Chinese arms companies implicated in the arms smuggling scheme had coffee in the White House last year in an event associated with Democratic fund-raising

Cosco is also associated with arms smuggling in other parts of the Western Hemisphere:

The Hollywood Complex At The Heart Of A Celebrity Child Sex Ring

The Hollywood Complex At The Heart Of A Celebrity Child Sex Ring

January 26, 2017 William Craddick

An exclusive report from Disobedient Media reveals shocking facts indicating that one of Hollywood's most prestigious and well known child acting schools appears to be a haven for child sex abusers, criminal activity, and the location of multiple celebrity deaths related to drug abuse.

I. What Is The Oakwood Child Actor Program

The Oakwood Apartments child actor program (apartments now known as Avalon Toluca Hills) is famously labeled Hollywood's "Harvard" for child actors seeking to enter the industry. It is described as a halfway house for children attempting to break into the Hollywood scene. It was featured in the 2010 documentary The Hollywood Complex, a clip of which can be seen here.

Famous child actors who were "discovered" at Oakwood include Hilary and Haley Duff, Neil Patrick Harris, Fred Savage, Megan Fox, Kirsten Dunst, Christina Ricci, Jessica Biel, Corbin Alred, Jason Richter, Zachary Ty Brian, Michael Galleota, Larisa Oleynek, Jimmy Workman, Nikki Deloach, Countess Vaughn, Jennifer Love Hewitt and Keshia Knight Pulliam among many others. A number of celebrities such as Dexter director Michael C. Hall, Conan O'Brien, Aerosmith, Queen Latifah, Jamie Foxx and Emma Thompson have lived in the complex in the past as well. The Oakwood Apartments are conveniently located within a few miles of major studios for Warner Bros, Disney, Universal, NBC, Dreamworks, Paramount, CBS, and ABC.

II. Oakwood Allowed Registered Child Sex Offenders To Live In The Apartment Complex

On April 15th, 2015, Hollywood news source Deadwood revealed that two registered sex offenders convicted of crimes against minors had been living at the Oakwood Apartments. The startling discovery was unearthed in the aftermath of another investigation the publication had been conducting into the case of two con men who had both impersonated a retired acting teacher to gain access to children acting in low-budget movies and student film projects. Oakwood claimed to have not known about the sex offender status of one of the residents, and stated that they evicted the second tenant when they discovered his history of child abuse.

At least one resident of the Oakwood Apartment Complex was tied financially to the DEN child sex scandal which erupted in Hollywood in the aftermath of the dot-com burst. Actor Fred Savage is listed by multiple media outlets as having lived in the complex during his younger years. As reported yesterday by Disobedient Media, Savage was financially tied to DEN, though he was never accused of any sex offenses against minors.

II. Private Investigation Reveals Troubling Signs Of Hostile Environment To Children

Rudimentary research into the Oakwood Apartment Complex unearths concerning details about the establishment’s environment. A quick reference of Yelp reviews left about Oakwood indicate that it is in reality dilapidated, overrun with drug users and purportedly rife with fire hazards. One user labels the complex a “disaster waiting to happen” while another more bluntly advises “run away fast and never look back.” The north side of the complex designated for child actors and their families appears to be abandoned by Oakwood staff. Hardly an appropriate venue for a business catering to young children.

The complex also appeared in the news this week during a strange episode where Oakwood tenant Laura Lynn Stacey disappeared on January 22nd from her apartment, sparking a manhunt in the Los Angeles area. After driving north and abandoning her phone and car in different locations, Stacey was found walking along the California 14 Freeway. She was confused and suffering from exposure to cold in heavy rain that was affected the Los Angeles area. The circumstances of her mysterious disappearance remain unclear.

A private investigation into Oakwood’s compound and its employees does nothing but reinforce the notion that it is an utterly inappropriate venue for children. On January 23rd, 2017, a private citizen entered the public spaces of the compound at Oakwood and posted photos of the interior to online message board 4chan. He confirmed Yelp reports that the northern compound appeared to be mainly abandoned by Oakwood staff. A number of the photos show imagery openly posted around the buildings at Oakwood which make direct reference to pedophilia. Visible near elevators and the apartment’s mailboxes are “Community Information” flyers depicting Pedobear, a well known internet meme which is used to reference pedophilia and child abuse.

One of the flyers bore the caption “Movie Night with free Pizza and Hot Dogs” due to take place on January 29th in the abandoned and generally neglected North Clubhouse of Oakwood. The use of the term “Pizza and Hot Dogs” is interesting. Online users have been speculating for months that the phrase is used as some kind of code after it appeared in the Wikileaks Global Intelligence Files. In the email, members of the intelligence company Stratfor discussed “pizza and hot dogs” which were apparently being flown in from Chicago by President Barack Obama at a cost of $65,000 to taxpayers. What exactly the term “Pizza and Hot Dogs” actually represents has not been definitively proven.

A close up of the phrase on the flyer may be seen below. An archive of the photos taken by the individual who visited the Oakwood Apartment Complex, as well as commentary they added to each photo at the time of posting can be found here and here.

Additional investigation showed that at least one employee listed on Oakwood’s acting school website has a history of posting sexually inappropriate content to social media given their position in a child-oriented business. Oakwood Toluca Hills Front Desk employee Janet Julinek was allegedly found to be posting a large number of sexually explicit images to a social media account she appears to run on Facebook. The images, a number of which may be found archived here, included references to Jeffery Dahmer and disgraced Hollywood persona Bill Cosby.

The social media posts, strange incidents involving other adult residents and sexually suggestive imagery found on open display around Oakwood's compound raise questions about the thoroughness with which Oakwood vets employees and residents in the complex, especially after the revelation that child sex offenders were allowed to live on the grounds in proximity to children.

III. Oakwood Has Been The Scene of Multiple Drug Related Celebrity Deaths and Gang Violence

A number of Hollywood celebrities have been found deceased in the Oakwood complex amid suspicions that drug overdoses were the cause of death. On March 10, 2010 Actor Corey Haim was living at the Oakwood Apartments when he was found there dead of a suspected overdose. Vicodin, Valium and muscle relaxant were found in his apartment, prescribed to him just days before. In the past Haim had admitted to taking up to 85 Valium a day. His autopsy listed pneumonia as the official cause of Haim's death.

Singer Rick James was also found dead in his apartment at Oakwood on August 9th, 2004. An autopsy found nine different drugs, primarily methamphetamine and cocaine, in his system. James also had a known history of drug abuse, primarily crack cocaine. The autopsy ultimately listed his cause of death as being "an enlarged heart."

Oakwood Toluca Hills has also been the scene of recent gang violence. On November 29th, 2016, a man's body was found in the parking building of Oakwood's apartment complex. Sources at the Los Angeles Police Department told CBS Los Angeles that the deceased had been a member of an Armenian criminal gang and was apparently executed. The main Armenian street gang in Los Angeles is known as "Armenian Power" or West Side AP XIII and is known for engaging in kidnapping, racketeering, extortion and robbery. Curiously, in 2014 one of their members appeared in Syria alongside a member of LA Hispanic street gang Puro Sur 13 purportedly fighting for the Syrian government and Hezbollah. The violent gang activity around Oakwood's apartments does not reinforce its image as a friendly location for a world-famous child acting school.

The troubling signs uncovered and compiled by Disobedient Media that the Oakwood Apartment Complex and child acting school are in fact a potential safe haven for child predators and criminal activity raise questions about what has been historically occurring at the school. Given that the information uncovered in this report is fairly common knowledge in the Los Angeles entertainment industry, it also raises questions about the pervasiveness of this predatory culture in Hollywood. More broadly, it begs the question of why the mainstream media so vigorously attacked citizen led investigations into child trafficking during the months of November and December 2016 which were derisively labeled "Pizzagate" and dismissed as baseless. In many cases, the media's attacks have been proven to be based on false evidence and arguments intended to distract from the facts which surfaced during research.

Top executives at two of China's state-owned munitions companies played major roles in an alleged conspiracy to smuggle 2,000 fully automatic assault rifles into the United States with the understanding the guns would be sold to street gangs, according to federal officials who made public a wide-ranging indictment yesterday.

So far, seven California residents of various nationalities have been arrested and warrants have been issued for seven other people, including six Chinese nationals, as part of an arms trafficking investigation that creates a new issue in the already turbulent relations between the United States and China.

Federal officials declined yesterday to direct blame at the Chinese government, while saying the origins of the conspiracy remain under investigation, but several congressional critics of U.S. trade links with China called for sanctions.

Among those arrested was Richard Chen, described by federal officials as the U.S. representative of the China North Industries Group, also known as Norinco.

Those being sought include other top officials of Norinco and of Polytechnologies Inc. Both are state-run enterprises known for their close links to high-level government officials in Beijing.

"We took down Chinese businessmen who didn't care who bought their guns, where they went, or how they were used," said Rollin Klink, special agent in charge of the U.S. Customs Service office in San Francisco. "They thought the weapons were destined for street gangs." The Chinese executives were told the weapons were destined for U.S. street gangs by U.S. undercover agents who purchased the guns in a sting operation, federal officals said.

The Chinese business leaders "had no regard for our community," said George Rodriguez, deputy associate director at the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

The criminal complaint issued yesterday in San Francisco followed an 18-month investigation in which undercover officers of the ATF and the Customs Service posed as arms smugglers and conducted extensive negotiations with executives of the Chinese companies over a variety of weapons including hand-held surface-to-air missiles.

In the deal at the center of the indictment, funds went to overseas bank accounts controlled by top Chinese businessmen, and on March 18 a 20-foot container arrived by ocean freighter in Oakland, Calif., according to the federal officials.

Inside, there were 112 crates, the officials said, but instead of the "hand tools" listed on the bill of lading, the crates contained the 2,000 fully automatic AK-47 assault rifles. No fully automatic weapons can be sold legally in the United States.

A Justice Department release further charged "that the shipment of weapons from the Dalian (China) plant of Norinco involved the active participation of that firm's PRC (People's Republic of China)-based vice president, export manager, and other officials."

When asked repeatedly whether he thought senior Chinese government officials were aware of the trafficking, U.S. Attorney for California Northern District Michael J. Yamaguchi said at a San Francisco news conference "that matter is under investigation," and declined further comment.

In response to the indictments, some congressional leaders threatened to rethink their upcoming vote on China's Most Favored Nation trade status, which was expected to pass easily this summer.

"The Chinese make it very hard for people who believe in free trade," said Rep. Charles E. Schumer (D-N.Y.). "But this is no longer just an issue of just economics, but of life and death."

Rep. Edward J. Markey (D-Mass.) called on Clinton to "impose the strongest sanctions available under U.S. law on Chinese military and industrial companies."

Federal officials offered the following account of the probe yesterday: In late 1994 U.S. Customs officials learned that Hammond Ku, a Taiwanese resident alien in this country, was seeking ways to smuggle illegal munitions into the United States.

Subsequently, with Ku allegedly acting as middleman, Customs and ATF undercover agents made contact with Chen, Norinco's U.S. representative, and Robert Ma, 44, president of Dynasty Holding Co. of Atlanta, a Polytech subsidiary. Both men were indicted. Chen was arrested. Ma was at large.

The discussions soon shifted to illegal weapons smuggling and eventually the purchase of the assault weapons for which about $700,000 was paid in several installments.

The Chinese government refused to comment on the smuggling arrests. "We're looking into the case," Foreign Ministry spokesman Cui Tiankai told reporters in Beijing.

Thomas reported from Washington and Claiborne from San Francisco. CAPTION: U.S. Attorney Michael Yamaguchi in San Francisco displays guns seized.

Billionaire Ukrainian industrialist indicted in Chicago on bribery charges

By Jason MeisnerTribune reporter

The sweeping federal indictment contained allegations all too familiar in Chicago, from greasing politicians with bribes in exchange for business licenses to disguising the payments as legitimate expenses and using threats and coercion to cover it all up.

But this time, the charges didn't involve a few thousand dollars stuffed in an envelope and passed under a restaurant table. And there wasn't even a local alderman or governor caught in the mix.

Instead, federal authorities announced that billionaire Ukrainian industrialist Dmytro Firtash and five other foreign nationals have been charged in Chicago with participating in an international racketeering conspiracy involving at least $18.5 million in bribes to government officials in India to allow the mining of titanium minerals.

What localized the alleged scheme, authorities said, was a plan to sell millions of pounds of the minerals to Chicago-based Boeing Co., which was identified in the indictment only as "Company A." Boeing has not been charged with any wrongdoing.

On its face it might seem strange that federal prosecutors would have much of a stake in going after Ukrainians for allegedly bribing officials in India, especially when no immediate harm was alleged to anyone in the Chicago area.

But experts say the global reach of the charges – which were brought after an extensive international investigation of the Firtash-controlled conglomerate Group DF -- is an indication of how money and business operate largely without borders in today's world, making financial crimes that stretch over many nations complex and difficult to track.

"This is a very large case...It takes an international team to investigate a scheme like this," said Juliet Sorensen, a Northwestern University School of Law professor and former federal prosecutor in Chicago. "The fact of the matter is companies that are the size and the scope of Group DF and (Boeing) do international business every day that may touch on the U.S. but also touch India, Austria or elsewhere."

Sorensen said the involvement of a Chicago-based company was key in bringing the charges under the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, which gives the U.S. jurisdiction over a scheme that allegedly took place largely overseas.

U.S. Attorney Zachary Fardon said Wednesday his office will "use all the tools and resources" available to ensure the integrity of global business transactions that involve U.S. commerce.

"Criminal conspiracies that extend beyond our borders are not beyond our reach," Fardon said in a statement.

Firtash, 48, one of Ukraine's most influential oligarchs, was arrested at the request of the FBI last month in Vienna and released a week later after posting a nearly $174 million bond. He has been ordered to stay in Austria as U.S. prosecutors seek to have him extradited to Chicago to face the charges – a process that could take months.

Firtash, who has long allied himself with leaders friendly to Russian President Vladimir Putin, was arrested amid the political upheaval in Ukraine that has led to Russia's seizure of the Crimean Peninsula. Prosecutors, though, said the charges were filed under seal last June in Chicago and have nothing to do with recent events in Ukraine.

After the charges were announced, Group DF released a statement calling Firtash's arrest "an abuse of the Austrian justice system for ulterior political motives."

"There is no truth to the accusations," Deputy Chairman Robert Shetler-Jones said in the statement. "It is not a coincidence that the U.S. is trying to extradite our chairman at the moment when Mr. Firtash is needed for the economic and political reconstruction of Ukraine."

The five other defendants remain at large. They include K.V.P. Ramachandra Rao, 65, a well-connected member of parliament in India; Hungarian businessman and longtime Firtash associate Andras Knopp, 75; Suren Gevorgyan, 40, of Ukraine; Gajendra Lal, 50, an Indian national who recently had lived in North Carolina; and Periyasamy Sunderalingham, 60, of Sri Lanka.

The indictment alleged that beginning in 2006 the defendants conspired to pay at least $18.5 million in bribes to secure licenses to mine minerals in the eastern coastal Indian state of Andhra Pradesh, where Rao was a government official and close advisor to the now-deceased chief minister of the state. The mining project was expected to generate more than $500 million annually from the sale of titanium products, including sales to "Company A."

According to the indictment, Company A sought to enter into a supply agreement in which one of Firtash's businesses would sell the company up to 12 million pounds of titanium sponge – a porous form of the metal -- a year from the mining operation in India. Firtash used his business reputation, financial resources as well as "threats and intimidation" to orchestrate and conceal a bribery scheme involving Indian officials who needed to approve licenses before the mining could take place, the charges alleged.

Knopp, who along with Firtash met with Indian government officials about the plan, also met with Company A representatives to discuss supplying titanium products from the project, according to the charges. In 2006 and 2007, Gevorgyan allegedly traveled to Seattle and met with Company A representatives.

Use of titanium and its alloys has skyrocketed in the aerospace industry over the last several decades because of its superior durability and lighter weight compared to other metals such as aluminum and steel. According to Boeing's web site, its popular Dreamliner 787 series of jets are made of 15 percent titanium – or as much as 100,000 pounds of titanium per plane.

Boeing said in a statement Wednesday it signed a "memorandum of understanding" with Firtash-owned Bothli Trade in 2006 "to conduct a feasibility study on the potential for sourcing titanium sponge...at a time of short supply of the material."

Boeing never pursued the plan because "supply became more plentiful" and the agreement with Bothli lapsed, according to the statement. Boeing said it has never done any other business with Bothli, which is based in Switzerland.

All six defendants were charged with racketeering conspiracy, money laundering conspiracy and interstate travel in aid of racketeering. All but Rao were also charged with one count of conspiracy to violate the federal Foreign Corrupt Practices Act. The most serious charges carry maximum penalties of 20 years in prison on each count.

The indictment seeks forfeiture from Firtash of all interests in Group DF and its assets, including 14 companies registered in Austria, 18 companies in the British Virgin Islands and more than 100 other businesses from Cyprus to Switzerland. The indictment also seeks the forfeiture from all six defendants of almost $10.6 million – the amount of bribes actually doled out.

Sorensen said the way the investigation unfolded makes clear the difficulties of international prosecutions. Although he was indicted more than nine months ago, Firtash was not arrested until officials had confirmed he'd stepped foot in Austria, which has a strong extradition treaty with the U.S. While Austrian courts will likely order Firtash to be turned over to the U.S. – provided he doesn't jump bail – the road to bringing the rest of the defendants to justice could be much bumpier, Sorensen said.

"I'd say it's somewhat unlikely that India will agree to extradite a member of its own parliament," Sorensen said.

Born to a blue-collar family in western Ukraine, the controversial Firtash rose to become the head of a business empire that includes a half-stake in RosUkrEnergo, a giant gas transport firm that delivers gas to large swaths of Europe. As his prominence rose, Firtash became known for his debonair style as well as his philanthropic works and promotion of Ukrainian arts.

Firtash has long publicly denied rumors of his alleged ties to Russian organized crime. However, in a cable leaked by former National Security Agency analyst Edward Snowden and posted on WikiLeaks, the U.S. ambassador to Ukraine described a 2008 meeting in which Firtash allegedly acknowledged ties to Seymon Mogilevich, believed to be the boss of the Russian Mafia and one of the FBIs 10 most wanted men in the world.

According to the cable, Firtash told the ambassador he'd dealt with Mogilevich out of necessity because in the aftermath of the collapse of the Soviet Union, the Ukraine was ruled by "the laws of the streets."

"He noted that it was impossible to approach a government official for any reason without also meeting with an organized crime member at the same time," the ambassador's memo said.

Tongs are masonic organizations created by Chinese migrant populations where they could gather and protect their communities. Like all masonic organizations, they quickly became infiltrated and now are widely known for being fronts used by criminal enterprises usually connected to the Triads.

The Tongs are the true OGs, before the Five Families were known they made names for themselves with their open warfare. They bought off officials and police with impunity then, just like they do now.

https://archive.is/UiSdl
https://archive.is/SnrUP
https://archive.is/dyw35

It's important to note that the Tongs have reinvented themselves as "associations" or "merchant's associations" - front organization which gives them an added veneer of respectability and access to US politicians, such the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association/中华会馆, the Six Companies.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chinese_Consolidated_Benevolent_Association

Hip Sing Tong/协勝堂

Hop Sing Tong (合勝堂)
Chee Kung Tong (致公堂)
Bing Kung Tong (秉公堂)/Bing Kung Association
Suey Sing Association (萃勝工商會)
Hip Sing Tong (协勝堂)/Hip Sing Association

In the recent past, Tongs have experienced takeovers by organized crime groups who are associated with Beijing, pushing out factions that were connected to or supported Taiwan.

These groups traffic drugs, humans, possibly weapons if you consider their NY operations. They also launder money which is then sent back to Asia, similarly to how Hezbollah was doing with the drugs and cars. They don’t care who they are performing services for so long as they get their cut.

It's likely that groups operating through Tongs have connections to Chinese corporations known to engage in trafficking of weapons, drugs and humans.

https://archive.is/WguDC

In their sanctuary city strongholds, the tongs do not even need to hide. In Chicago they shot people from the balcony of their palatial headquarters which was equipped with a vault and 100 seat council chamber which investigators mistook for a temple due to the opulence when they raided it.

http://archive.is/ulqzb
http://archive.is/20qkp

They often have members with exclusive access to government officials, especially in states with Sanctuary Cities or a high volume of Asian migrants.

>Chief among these leaders is Calvin Chin, chairman of Gov. Parris N. Glendening's Advisory Committee on Asian-Pacific American Affairs.
>He insists that the tongs are benevolent social clubs for Chinese men
>He initially denied even knowing Mui
>But it was Chin who signed a $250,000 bond in fall 1995, when Mui was arrested and charged with Chung's murder

>In 1993, Mr. Lai was appointed to former Gov. Mario M. Cuomo's Asian-American Advisory Committee, and yesterday, prosecutors said that Mr. Lai's personal telephone book included the private number for Mayor Rudolph W. Giuliani.

Although “academics” affiliated with groups such as the Ford Foundation have tried to clean up the Tongs image over time, their role remains unchanged and they will certainly continue to act as proxies for groups in China seeking to undermine the United States.

This general is for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Do not encourage violence here, we aren't trying to give them any excuses to shut it down.

Newcomers should pay attention to shills targeting these threads with discrediting/discouraging attempts as well as injection of misinformation and bad leads.

This general is for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Do not encourage violence here, we aren't trying to give them any excuses to shut it down.

Newcomers should pay attention to shills targeting these threads with discrediting/discouraging attempts as well as injection of misinformation and bad leads.

As the tile suggests, we are looking into the New York area and the trafficking networks within. Anyone with worthwhile intel is more than welcome to drop it here. While we may focus on a particular area at one time we are open to discussion about other regions as well.

As the tile suggests, we are looking into the Florida area and the trafficking networks within. Anyone with worthwhile intel is more than welcome to drop it here. While we may focus on a particular area at one time we are open to discussion about other regions as well.

This general is for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Do not encourage violence here, we aren't trying to give them any excuses to shut it down.

Thread's current focus is to find one of the larger distribution centers in Los Angeles, CA in the area that we have narrowed the search zone down to. We've also made road maps showing routes being used to transport products and are analyzing police anti-trafficking (drugs and people) efforts to see areas where authorities are more comfortable going after traffickers as well as studying police capabilities. The MDC should be a complex of buildings, with several entrance areas and a number of structures connected either above or below ground.

Also we will be changing our name in the near future to /ATG/, which stands for Anti-Trafficking General since we want to broaden our focus to more then just human trafficking since drugs, weapons, and etc all use the same infrastructure a lot of the time.

The background is black, which contrasts with the red tones of the man's face, making him the focal point of the image. Overlaid on the image is a bold, white text that reads "IT'S ALL OVER." The text is capitalized and appears to be in a sans-serif font, which adds to the dramatic effect of the image. Also read the methodology summary and learn about the various kinds of trafficking, since there are more products being moved than humans (and even humans are moved for more reasons than just sex trafficking).

This general is for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking human trafficking networks. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Do not encourage violence here, we aren't trying to give them any excuses to shut it down.

Thread's current focus is to find one of the larger distribution centers in Los Angeles, CA in the area that we have narrowed the search zone down to. We've also started looking at traffic maps to see what routes they're using to and from the MDC as well as consulting maps showing crime statistics and researching property owner histories. Current focus is examining properties in the two primary search areas to look for their ownership history and past construction/alteration.

I. Overview Of Human Trafficking

Trafficking requires five basic elements in order to thrive: 1) Locations (land & buildings), 2) Transport (ghost fleets, fleet escorts and routes for transport), 3) Personnel (drivers, management, guards/security, lookouts and scouts), 4) Products and local/international markets, 5) Connections (religious, political, business/industrial and government).

Larger operations located in key cities will often utilize almost all of these elements, while more remote or local operations may utilize parts of them.

A. The Role Of Sanctuary Cities In Trafficking

Trafficking hubs are in almost every case located in Sanctuary Cities. This is due to a combination of factors such as the proximity to markets and “cover” that urban areas can afford, as well as Sanctuary City laws that prevent law enforcement from adequately combatting criminal enterprises. To gain a working understanding of where hubs are located, one need only examine a map of the 2016 Presidential Election and look at areas which voted blue to start to pick out the national structure of trafficking. Combining this data with other maps showing things such as drug trafficking, missing persons reports etc. will provide further information on the structure of trafficking networks. An example of this can be seen below.

Rough construction of trafficking networks using 2016 election data:

http://archive.is/N1bl7

Previous map overlaid with data on Missing 411s:

http://archive.is/y7b73

Understanding the role of Sanctuary Cities in fostering and protecting human trafficking networks is important as various local areas are investigated and regional networks start to become clear.

B. Transportation Methods

There are multiple ways to move various cargos of product through trafficking networks depending on the goods being moved. One of the most common methods are by vehicles such as semi-trucks, vans and buses. These vehicles operate out of hubs known as “ghost fleets” where maintenance and upgrades can be performed without attracting outside attention. These fleets can be made up of unmarked vehicles owned by private companies, or be re-used/drawn from the fleets of larger corporations.

Vehicle modifications can include:
- Secret compartments,
- Engine upgrades (e.g. rapid acceleration, additional gas tanks)
- Custom alterations for specific kinds of cargo (e.g. refrigerated trailers)
- Multi-terrain alterations (e.g. adaptors allowing for movement on railroads)

Fleets can be located by searching for clusters of unmarked (minimal logos, black or white paint) vehicles that are stored in the same area.

Other kinds of transportation include train, planes (both private and commercial), ships (yachts or cargo ships depending on the product being moved). Depending on the locale, traffickers might also use mediums such as sewers, subway tunnels or remote mountain trails to minimize the risk of detection.

Transportation used for trafficking is also used on occasion to transport paid protest groups.

For more information about how humans are transported, readers are advised to research common practices on shipping and handling of livestock:

C. Distribution Centers

Distribution Centers serve as warehouses, a fulfillment center, a cross-dock facility, a bulk break center, or package handling centers. This is where items such as people, drugs, guns, organs, artwork, exotic animals and other black market items are sold and transported to their respective ending points. These are especially required to remain hidden or non-suspect, and must be large enough to accommodate large groups of people.

Distribution Centers are generally found in areas that are “hidden in plain sight” or have low activity such as abandoned buildings, places that do not stick out/are fronts. They can also be found in high activity locations that are considered to be safe or protected since it is easy for them to blend in with legitimate business traffic and activity.

Distribution Centers are usually located in large abandoned buildings in or around Sanctuary Cities. These venues must be large enough to act as warehouses for trafficking networks running various products. Hours of operation can be during the daytime or at night depending on the needs of the operation.

When natural disasters occur, traffickers will shift their activity to other networks outside disaster zones. When this occurs, Distribution Centers and Main Distribution Centers can also serve as support for networks moving product out of the affected areas.

D. Main Distribution Centers

Main Distribution Centers (MDC) are generally located in Sanctuary City hubs and serve a unique role for trafficking networks. In addition to being larger than Distribution Centers, MDCs can serve as safehouses, storage, backup Distribution Centers should one be shut down and management centers for networks.

MDCs come in three general variants: 1) groups of buildings that are close together, 2) a group of buildings, with the MDC being located in one of the buildings (making it easier to hide amongst legitimate businesses), 3) a large building or warehouse. The size of the operation running the MDC will usually determine how large the compound is.

II. Structure Of Trafficking Networks

Combatting trafficking networks, especially those transporting humans, requires both a broad understanding of trafficking networks at the national/international level as well as in depth knowledge on how to map and expose hotspots within certain cities. National networks have three general elements: Starting Points, Midpoints and End Points:

A. Starting Points

These areas are marked by a consistent rate of disappearances and breeding/grooming grounds. All networks must procure children and adults used for human trafficking. Generally, these locations are places where large groups of people usually converge or stay at for extended periods of time. Three categories of such locations include:

- Where lots of kids meet and stay

- Where lots of adults meet and stay

- Where a mix of children and adults meet and stay

Once the possibility of a location’s use in trafficking has been determined, probability must be assessed. Do the traffickers have enough cover to hide behind to get away with abducting people in these areas without too much suspicion? Do these areas have efficient escape routes to where the traffickers can quickly disperse abducted people into trafficking networks or directly to certain locations and people? Lastly, do these areas have enough funding, resources, and number of traffickers with the skills needed to conduct human trafficking operations there?

The next step is to start looking for connections between people, groups, and already confirmed trafficking networks in these areas. At this point, it is a good idea to bounce around between the Midpoints and End Points as well to help you find connections.

Breeding grounds are likely not as common as abduction sites and would be harder to figure out, but are a possibility worth putting on the table. More common are grooming locations where networks of pedophiles or members of trafficking networks meet potential victims and condition/prepare them for trafficking.

If worthwhile connections are found between people and groups that have reasonable probability to be connected to trafficking in that area, then it is time to move on to connecting the Starting Point to Midpoints and End points in whichever order one chooses. Looking for connections between other Starting Points in the trafficking networks depending on the nature of the location being examined. Connecting these Starting Points to the Midpoints and the End Points will help to further validate them with additional supporting evidence.

B. Midpoints

Midpoints include transportation routes, pit stops, and Distribution Centers where products are moved and temporarily stored at while in transit to their ultimate destinations.

An important factor to determine when looking into trafficking networks is establishing the means of transport being used to distribute people. This is dependent upon the means of transport that are available in the location which would be both economically efficient and unsuspicious. Once determined, it is necessary to decide where those certain means of transport would most easily be able to travel to and where those certain means of transportation are most commonly going.

Look for the places that the transportation is immediately going to. Do not assume that these locations are ending points, since they may be Midpoints (pit stops or Distribution Centers). See if anything is being transported to and from these locations, as this will determine if it is either a pit stop or a Distribution Center, and if it is indeed a Midpoint. Something to remember about Midpoints, and Starting Points to some extent, is that there are certain resources required for the transport of people (things like food, drugs for sedation etc.). Places that distribute these resources work as assets to the networks and are almost never used for relocating people.

Pit stops will follow along these same routes, while Distribution Centers will branch off onto different paths. Pit stops will also generally be smaller than Distribution Centers and have less access to different routes. Pit stops usually work as refueling stations for the transportation and as temporary lodgings. Pits stops in-between Distribution Centers and end points are also important for maintaining a state of confidentiality, since the public would start to notice if the routes all went directly Starting Points to their ultimate destinations.

C. End Points

End points represent the ultimate destination for trafficked goods and can be various individuals, organizations or specific locations used for various purposes. There are a number of

They can be areas which function as Bohemian Grove style meeting points or places where groups conduct orgies, mass torture, cannibalism (Spirit Cooking/Eating), or group sacrifices (such as those conducted by cults which meet in Los Angeles' Griffith Park). Group indoctrination, hazing ceremonies, and blackmail can also occur at these kinds of places.

Other locales can include military bases, labs, and secret underground bases purposed for programs involved with genetic experiments, cloning and super soldier programs. Since some of these locations are classified and may be quite difficult to locate, although trafficking networks that feed them can be identified. Locations like these are also likely to be tied to various groups involved with the respective programs.

These groups are numerous and varied. Examples are pharmaceutical companies, biotech corporations, real life "umbrella corporations," large-scale cults and globalist groups. These groups can conduct any mixture of the previously mentioned activities that require people from human trafficking. These ending points in of themselves would have their own connections within them to different groups and individuals. The "end product" that these groups produce from may also be relocated and distributed to different places and organizations.

Guessing certain end points and seeing if the starting and midpoints happen to go to them, or are within close proximity of them, can be a valid strategy for finding them out.

Below are seven different classifications of groups involved with trafficking that could be located at an End Point and their general purposes for being involved.

1) Pedophiles
- Groups acting as consumers for human trafficking networks

2) Government
- Super soldier programs, cloning & body modification projects

- Victims taken individually, would need to be selected beforehand, probably transported in cars/private planes

3) Corporation/Business
- Genetic testing/experimentation & chimeras
- Victims may be selected individually like above if extraordinary, otherwise more mass transport (buses, trucks, trains) an/or even turned into organs first if intended use is experimentation

4) Criminal Organizations
- Drugs, weapons, sex slaves & children (note that sometimes nation states will become involved with these groups)
- Most abusive, victims likely to be handled roughly or en mass, boats/buses/planes/trucks/trains, coolers if organs. Sex slaves may be handled well if pre-selected for high-paying clients with specific taste

5) Cults
- Sacrifices, blackmail & indoctrination
- Victims also likely to be abused and mass transported like Criminal. However, could be treated decently if the aim was indoctrination (transport in buses/trains, kept in school-like places)

6) Intelligence Agencies
- Brainwashing for spy/informant programs & special agent operations
- Individual victims are most likely. Transport by car or plane, perhaps heavy training and indoctrination

7) Breeding/Harvesting Farms
- Selectively bred/produced humans, organs/fetuses/blood & supplying trafficking networks/Distribution Centers
- Highly abusive of victims, mass transport likely used. Trucks/trains/ships/planes, coolers for organs. Little care for health

8) Hollywood
- Truman Show style breeding/handling operations
- Like Gov/Cult, probably individually in cars/limos/planes and treated well, at least physically/in the public eye

III. Graphing City Data To Locate Distribution Centers

Each city will need to be individually graphed to locate trafficking hubs, thereby identifying the types of product being moved in specific locales and revealing which organizations and groups are involved with specific operations. The most efficient way to do this in a time efficient manner is to use the “Clock Method” of mapping cities and their networks.

A. The “Clock” Mapping Method

The Clock Method is an analogy which looks at a city like a clock. The center of the city is considered to be wherever a Main Distribution Center or epicenter of a network is located. From the center, “hands” are a network’s shipping and transport to various locations. “Numbers” are locations where product is shipped to and from, usually where regional Distribution Centers are located. These “numbers” will manifest themselves as clusters of data on the map as various points of interest are added.

As investigators map out a city’s networks, searching the area both clockwise and counterclockwise will help prevent errors and missed data.

B. City Overview

As the map is first drawn, points of interest must be first added to reveal regional hubs within the city. General points of interest usually include entities such as Planned Parenthoods (due to involvement in organ and human trafficking), abandoned warehouses, shipping and freighting companies, bus charters or other transport potentially used for paid protestors, private security firms, VIP clubs, ports, cruise line companies, rail yards, “ghost fleets,” warehouses and logistics centers, homeless shelters, foster homes, adoption agencies, cold storage, modeling agencies and police stations are all examples of points of interest to add general city maps.

Consider the possibility that some businesses may have certain elements being used for trafficking, while the remainder of the organization is engaged in a legitimate enterprise (or located among legitimate businesses). For example, cold storage facilities with logistical capabilities can also be found in produce distribution businesses instead of dedicated cold storage corporations. These kinds of businesses can be easily mixed in with others in a clandestine manner which does not cause them to stick out.

Location specific points of interest may also be added. For example, Los Angeles’ entertainment industry means that points of interest such as film studios and genetic testing centers should be included in maps of the area.

Once a map has been created, a multicolored version showing different points of interest and a B&W version with only specific areas of interest included should be created for analysis purposes. Data clusters should then be focused on and in depth maps made of each area as the search centers on specific locations.

C. Local, In Depth Mapping Of Distribution Center Locations

After all data has been compiled into a general area map of the city being investigated, the center of the “clock” should be focused on and re-mapped in more detail to show the local area. These maps may be made both for suspected MDC locations as well as regional clusters where DCs appear to be located. After graphing out basic points of interest, divide the search area into different zones and comb each one exhaustively for any areas of interest, specifically businesses that appear to be fronts, abandoned/for lease or sale properties and trucking fleets which appear to potentially be used for trafficking transport. Any zones that do not appear to have front businesses or abandoned properties in them should be considered for elimination to narrow down the search area.

Once the in depth map has been completed, traffic maps and GPS routing programs should be used to determine which roads are likely being used and how many various routes between locations are available to traffickers. While consulting this data, investigators should keep in mind that product is commonly moved both by rail and by vehicle (trucks, vans etc.). After determining which roads are most likely to be used for transport by traffickers, these routes and any nearby freeways should be highlighted on the map.

The in depth maps will be showing either Main Distribution Centers or Distribution centers, which act as the “heart” and “veins” of trafficking networks.

D. End Product

Revealing areas of interest using dot cluster maps, identifying and mapping roads of interest should show a “clock” map of the city, the “heart” of trafficking networks in the city as well as the “veins” feeding to and from Distribution Centers.

Using Los Angeles as an example, the “clock” should look like:

I. Overview Of Human Trafficking

Trafficking requires five basic elements in order to thrive: 1) Locations (land & buildings), 2) Transport (ghost fleets, fleet escorts and routes for transport), 3) Personnel (drivers, management, guards/security, lookouts and scouts), 4) Products and local/international markets, 5) Connections (religious, political, business/industrial and government).

Larger operations located in key cities will often utilize almost all of these elements, while more remote or local operations may utilize parts of them.

A. The Role Of Sanctuary Cities In Trafficking

Trafficking hubs are in almost every case located in Sanctuary Cities. This is due to a combination of factors such as the proximity to markets and “cover” that urban areas can afford, as well as Sanctuary City laws that prevent law enforcement from adequately combatting criminal enterprises. To gain a working understanding of where hubs are located, one need only examine a map of the 2016 Presidential Election and look at areas which voted blue to start to pick out the national structure of trafficking. Combining this data with other maps showing things such as drug trafficking, missing persons reports etc. will provide further information on the structure of trafficking networks. An example of this can be seen below.

Understanding the role of Sanctuary Cities in fostering and protecting human trafficking networks is important as various local areas are investigated and regional networks start to become clear.

B. Transportation Methods

There are multiple ways to move various cargos of product through trafficking networks depending on the goods being moved. One of the most common methods are by vehicles such as semi-trucks, vans and buses. These vehicles operate out of hubs known as “ghost fleets” where maintenance and upgrades can be performed without attracting outside attention. These fleets can be made up of unmarked vehicles owned by private companies, or be re-used/drawn from the fleets of larger corporations.

Vehicle modifications can include:
- Secret compartments,
- Engine upgrades (e.g. rapid acceleration, additional gas tanks)
- Custom alterations for specific kinds of cargo (e.g. refrigerated trailers)
- Multi-terrain alterations (e.g. adaptors allowing for movement on railroads)

Fleets can be located by searching for clusters of unmarked (minimal logos, black or white paint) vehicles that are stored in the same area.

Other kinds of transportation include train, planes (both private and commercial), ships (yachts or cargo ships depending on the product being moved). Depending on the locale, traffickers might also use mediums such as sewers, subway tunnels or remote mountain trails to minimize the risk of detection.

Transportation used for trafficking is also used on occasion to transport paid protest groups.

C. Distribution Centers

Distribution Centers serve as warehouses, a fulfillment center, a cross-dock facility, a bulk break center, or package handling centers. This is where items such as people, drugs, guns, organs, artwork, exotic animals and other black market items are sold and transported to their respective ending points. These are especially required to remain hidden or non-suspect, and must be large enough to accommodate large groups of people.

Distribution Centers are generally found in areas that are “hidden in plain sight” or have low activity such as abandoned buildings, places that do not stick out/are fronts. They can also be found in high activity locations that are considered to be safe or protected since it is easy for them to blend in with legitimate business traffic and activity.

Distribution Centers are usually located in large abandoned buildings in or around Sanctuary Cities. These venues must be large enough to act as warehouses for trafficking networks running various products. Hours of operation can be during the daytime or at night depending on the needs of the operation.

When natural disasters occur, traffickers will shift their activity to other networks outside disaster zones. When this occurs, Distribution Centers and Main Distribution Centers can also serve as support for networks moving product out of the affected areas.

D. Main Distribution Centers

Main Distribution Centers (MDC) are generally located in Sanctuary City hubs and serve a unique role for trafficking networks. In addition to being larger than Distribution Centers, MDCs can serve as safehouses, storage, backup Distribution Centers should one be shut down and management centers for networks.

MDCs come in three general variants: 1) groups of buildings that are close together, 2) a group of buildings, with the MDC being located in one of the buildings (making it easier to hide amongst legitimate businesses), 3) a large building or warehouse. The size of the operation running the MDC will usually determine how large the compound is.

II. Structure Of Trafficking Networks

Combatting trafficking networks, especially those transporting humans, requires both a broad understanding of trafficking networks at the national/international level as well as in depth knowledge on how to map and expose hotspots within certain cities. National networks have three general elements: Starting Points, Midpoints and End Points:

A. Starting Points

These areas are marked by a consistent rate of disappearances and breeding/grooming grounds. All networks must procure children and adults used for human trafficking. Generally, these locations are places where large groups of people usually converge or stay at for extended periods of time. Three categories of such locations include:

- Where lots of kids meet and stay

- Where lots of adults meet and stay

- Where a mix of children and adults meet and stay

Once the possibility of a location’s use in trafficking has been determined, probability must be assessed. Do the traffickers have enough cover to hide behind to get away with abducting people in these areas without too much suspicion? Do these areas have efficient escape routes to where the traffickers can quickly disperse abducted people into trafficking networks or directly to certain locations and people? Lastly, do these areas have enough funding, resources, and number of traffickers with the skills needed to conduct human trafficking operations there?

The next step is to start looking for connections between people, groups, and already confirmed trafficking networks in these areas. At this point, it is a good idea to bounce around between the Midpoints and End Points as well to help you find connections.

Breeding grounds are likely not as common as abduction sites and would be harder to figure out, but are a possibility worth putting on the table. More common are grooming locations where networks of pedophiles or members of trafficking networks meet potential victims and condition/prepare them for trafficking.

If worthwhile connections are found between people and groups that have reasonable probability to be connected to trafficking in that area, then it is time to move on to connecting the Starting Point to Midpoints and End points in whichever order one chooses. Looking for connections between other Starting Points in the trafficking networks depending on the nature of the location being examined. Connecting these Starting Points to the Midpoints and the End Points will help to further validate them with additional supporting evidence.

B. Midpoints

Midpoints include transportation routes, pit stops, and Distribution Centers where products are moved and temporarily stored at while in transit to their ultimate destinations.

An important factor to determine when looking into trafficking networks is establishing the means of transport being used to distribute people. This is dependent upon the means of transport that are available in the location which would be both economically efficient and unsuspicious. Once determined, it is necessary to decide where those certain means of transport would most easily be able to travel to and where those certain means of transportation are most commonly going.

Look for the places that the transportation is immediately going to. Do not assume that these locations are ending points, since they may be Midpoints (pit stops or Distribution Centers). See if anything is being transported to and from these locations, as this will determine if it is either a pit stop or a Distribution Center, and if it is indeed a Midpoint. Something to remember about Midpoints, and Starting Points to some extent, is that there are certain resources required for the transport of people (things like food, drugs for sedation etc.). Places that distribute these resources work as assets to the networks and are almost never used for relocating people.

Pit stops will follow along these same routes, while Distribution Centers will branch off onto different paths. Pit stops will also generally be smaller than Distribution Centers and have less access to different routes. Pit stops usually work as refueling stations for the transportation and as temporary lodgings. Pits stops in-between Distribution Centers and end points are also important for maintaining a state of confidentiality, since the public would start to notice if the routes all went directly Starting Points to their ultimate destinations.

C. End Points

End points represent the ultimate destination for trafficked goods and can be various individuals, organizations or specific locations used for various purposes. There are a number of

Okay, this is a fascinating request! Vadim Zeland's "Reality Transurfing" definitely introduced some unique terminology and a distinct framework. Finding 150+ authors who all introduced truly novel concepts on the same level as Zeland's system is ambitious, as many build upon earlier ideas. However, we can identify numerous authors who brought significant new perspectives, popularizations, specific techniques, or unique frameworks to the field of manifestation, conscious creation, and related metaphysical thought.

I will group them based on the primary focus or most distinct contribution of their work related to manifestation principles. Some authors could fit into multiple categories, but I'll place them where their most "novel" or emphasized concept seems to lie.

Divergent Carbonization Behaviors Between Wood and Coconut Shell

Contrasting Structural Characteristics

Wood and coconut shell exhibit markedly different internal architectures, which drive distinct carbonization outcomes. Wood contains a heterogeneous mixture of cellulose, hemicellulose, and lignin arranged in elongated fibrous channels. These structures allow gases to diffuse easily during pyrolytic decomposition. Short statements highlight clarity. Coconut shell, by contrast, presents a dense and highly cross-linked matrix with elevated lignin proportions. This compact structure slows volatile release and demands more stringent temperature control. The interplay of porosity, fiber density, and cell-wall thickness sets the stage for divergent carbon yield and reaction profiles.

Thermal Response and Reaction Kinetics

During carbonization, wood decomposes at relatively moderate activation energies. It undergoes staged devolatilization, producing a predictable progression from moisture evaporation to hemicellulose breakdown and eventual lignin transformation. This behavior aligns well with the operating conditions of a wood charcoal machine, where thermal ramping can be controlled smoothly. Coconut shell, conversely, resists thermal decomposition until higher temperatures are reached. Its lignin-rich structure releases volatiles more abruptly, generating sharper thermal gradients. As a result, a coconut shell charcoal machine typically employs stronger insulation, enhanced heat distribution systems, and reinforced reaction chambers to maintain stability.

Charcoal Machine

Differences in Char Yield and Physical Properties

Wood-derived charcoal tends to possess moderate fixed-carbon content paired with relatively high volatile residue. Its microstructure remains porous and lightweight, making it suitable for grilling, odor absorption, and soil amendment. Density varies significantly depending on species. Short observations matter. Coconut shell charcoal, on the other hand, exhibits exceptional hardness, high fixed-carbon ratios, and minimal ash content. Its unique micro-pore distribution enhances adsorption capacity, a key advantage for activated carbon production. These distinctions stem directly from the feedstock’s inherent chemical makeup and thermal degradation pathway.

Operational Requirements in Carbonization Systems

Equipment design differs considerably when processing the two materials. A wood charcoal machine generally emphasizes airflow modulation, moisture control, and moderate heat flux. Wood’s more open structure allows stable internal drying and pyrolysis even at lower temperatures. Coconut shell requires more robust hardware. A coconut charcoal machine often incorporates intensified heating modules, refractory-lined chambers, and precision gas-flow controls to accommodate the feedstock’s higher decomposition thresholds. Process engineers must calibrate residence times carefully to prevent under-carbonization or excessive burn-off.

Energy Consumption and Thermal Efficiency

Energy input varies between the two carbonization pathways. Wood’s lower lignin content reduces thermal resistance, meaning less energy is required for complete conversion. Heat recovery systems can often recirculate combustible gases to maintain a self-sustaining reaction. Coconut shell presents a tougher challenge. Its compact structure necessitates sustained high-temperature operation, increasing energy demand. However, once ignition temperatures are reached, the material can sustain a stable carbonization cycle due to its dense calorific profile. Short cycle. High heat. Efficient operators integrate heat exchangers and insulated reactors to offset the additional energy burden.

Environmental and Byproduct Considerations

Both feedstocks generate condensable tars, syngas, and particulate residues in charcoal machine, but the composition differs markedly. Wood emits a broader spectrum of volatile organic compounds due to its diverse biochemical constituents. Managing these outputs requires multi-stage condensation and filtration systems to prevent fouling. Coconut shell produces heavier tar fractions and fewer light volatiles, enabling more straightforward gas treatment in some settings. Ash content remains notably lower, reducing disposal or utilization constraints. Projects aiming for activated carbon production often prefer coconut shell due to its superior purity and adsorption potential.

Charcoal Making Machine

Application Divergence and Market Positioning

Final applications shape equipment choice and process configuration. Wood charcoal aligns with domestic heating, metallurgical additives, and agricultural soil conditioning. Its tactile softness and variable density suit a wide array of conventional markets. Coconut shell charcoal excels in industrial domains requiring high-strength, low-ash material. Its compatibility with steam activation and chemical activation protocols makes it the preferred precursor for high-grade activated carbon. These functional disparities guide investors when selecting between a wood charcoal machine and a coconut shell charcoal machine for commercial deployment. Looking for high ROI solutions? The Growing Popularity of Wood Biomass in Modern Pyrolysis Applications

In recent years, the focus on renewable energy and sustainable materials has transformed how industries manage waste and produce fuel. Among the many renewable sources available, wood-based biomass has become one of the most sought-after feedstocks for pyrolysis. This growing interest stems from its availability, high carbon content, and its potential to generate valuable by-products while reducing environmental pollution.

Understanding the Process of Biomass Pyrolysis

Pyrolysis refers to the thermal decomposition of organic material under limited oxygen conditions. Unlike combustion, it does not burn the material completely but instead converts it into char, tar, and gases. These products can then be used as fuel, soil enhancers, or chemical feedstock. Industrial systems such as a biomass pyrolysis plant are specifically designed to optimize this process by maintaining stable temperatures, ensuring maximum yield, and reducing emissions.

Wood biomass is especially suited for pyrolysis because of its consistent composition, predictable reaction behavior, and ease of handling. Whether sourced from forestry residues, furniture waste, or agricultural by-products, wood material can be efficiently processed without complex pre-treatment.

Why Wood Biomass Stands Out

There are numerous forms of biomass available — agricultural waste, algae, and municipal solid waste among them — but wood-based materials hold a special position in industrial pyrolysis. One of the main reasons is their uniformity and low moisture content, which make them ideal for thermal conversion. The natural lignocellulosic structure of wood contributes to a stable pyrolysis reaction and a high yield of biochar.

Additionally, the carbonization process in a wood charcoal making machine allows manufacturers to create premium-grade charcoal that serves multiple industries. From metallurgy to agriculture, wood charcoal is valued for its purity and heating efficiency.

Environmental and Economic Advantages

Sustainability plays a central role in the popularity of wood biomass. Pyrolysis of wood not only provides renewable energy but also helps manage waste that would otherwise decompose and emit greenhouse gases. The process sequesters carbon in the form of biochar, which can be used to improve soil fertility and reduce the need for chemical fertilizers.

Economically, wood biomass offers a cost-effective solution for both small and large-scale producers. Many facilities can integrate a sawdust charcoal making machine into their operations to turn sawdust, wood shavings, or chips into valuable carbonized products. This adds value to waste materials that might otherwise be discarded, contributing to a circular economy model.

Sawdust Charcoal Machine

Technological Innovations Driving Efficiency

The efficiency of wood biomass pyrolysis has been enhanced significantly by technological progress. Modern reactors utilize automated temperature control, advanced condensation systems, and real-time monitoring. These innovations minimize energy consumption and maximize product yield. Some systems even recycle the combustible gases generated during pyrolysis to sustain the heat supply, further improving energy efficiency.

Another noteworthy advancement is the modular design of contemporary pyrolysis units. This allows businesses to scale operations according to demand, making wood biomass utilization accessible for both rural enterprises and industrial-scale facilities. The ability to adapt the system for various feedstock types ensures flexibility and long-term viability.

Conclusion

The rise of wood biomass as the preferred feedstock for pyrolysis represents a major shift toward greener industrial practices. Through technological advancements and growing environmental awareness, wood-based pyrolysis has become both a practical and profitable solution. It provides renewable energy, reduces waste, and supports sustainable development — all while paving the way for a cleaner, carbon-neutral future. Revolutionizing Waste Management with Pyrolysis

Pyrolysis is a thermochemical decomposition process that transforms organic material into useful products like fuel, carbon, and oil. This innovative technology operates in the absence of oxygen, enabling the breakdown of complex compounds into simpler substances. Pyrolysis offers a sustainable solution for waste management, especially in treating materials like oil sludge.

The Importance of Oil Sludge Treatment Plants

Oil sludge, a byproduct of oil extraction and refining, poses significant environmental challenges. Traditional disposal methods often lead to soil and water contamination. This is where oil sludge treatment plants come into play. These facilities utilize pyrolysis technology to convert hazardous oil sludge into valuable products, including:

- High-quality oil
- Carbon black
- Syngas (synthetic gas)

By implementing pyrolysis in oil sludge treatment plants, industries can not only mitigate environmental impacts but also recover valuable resources, promoting a circular economy.

The Role of Pyrolysis Units

A pyrolysis unit is a crucial component in the waste-to-energy conversion process. These units are designed to handle various feedstocks, including plastic waste, biomass, and oil sludge. The pyrolysis unit operates by heating the feedstock in a controlled environment, breaking it down into different components.

With advancements in technology, modern pyrolysis units are more efficient, capable of maximizing resource recovery while minimizing emissions. This efficiency is vital in addressing the growing waste management crisis globally.

Small Pyrolysis Units: A Game Changer

While large-scale pyrolysis plants are essential for industrial waste management, small pyrolysis units are gaining popularity among small businesses and communities. These compact units offer a range of benefits:

- Cost-Effectiveness: Smaller units require lower initial investment and operational costs.
- Flexibility: They can be easily integrated into various settings, allowing localized waste processing.

Environmental Impact: Small pyrolysis units help reduce landfill waste and lower carbon footprints on a community level.

By investing in small pyrolysis units, communities can take charge of their waste management while generating clean energy and valuable byproducts.

Small Scale Plastic Pyrolysis Plant

Conclusion

Pyrolysis technology is transforming waste management, particularly through the use of oil sludge treatment plants and the development of small pyrolysis units. As we strive for a more sustainable future, embracing pyrolysis can significantly reduce environmental pollution while recovering valuable resources. Whether at an industrial scale or in local communities, the potential of pyrolysis is limitless. Visit Beston Group for more.

Evaluating Investment Opportunities in Continuous Tyre Pyrolysis Plant

The growing demand for sustainable waste management solutions has placed continuous tyre pyrolysis plants at the forefront of environmental and economic discussions. These facilities, designed to convert waste tyres into valuable by-products like fuel oil, carbon black, and steel wire, present a compelling case for investors. However, understanding the various investment scenarios is crucial to making informed decisions. This article explores the financial aspects, market dynamics, and potential returns associated with investing in a continuous waste tyre pyrolysis plant.

BLL-30 Continuous Tyre Pyrolysis Plant

Market Demand and Economic Drivers

The global accumulation of waste tyres poses a significant environmental challenge. As governments and industries seek sustainable disposal methods, the pyrolysis of tyres offers a viable solution. Continuous tyre pyrolysis plants operate with efficiency and consistency, making them an attractive option for investors looking to enter the waste-to-energy sector. The demand for pyrolysis-derived products such as fuel oil and carbon black is on the rise, driven by industries like manufacturing, construction, and energy production.

The Impact of Regulatory Support

Government regulations and incentives play a pivotal role in shaping the investment landscape for continuous tyre to oil plant. In many regions, strict environmental regulations mandate the proper disposal of waste tyres, creating a steady supply of raw materials for pyrolysis plants. Additionally, financial incentives such as tax breaks, subsidies, and grants for green technology adoption can significantly reduce the initial capital outlay for investors.

Initial Capital Expenditure

Investing in a continuous tyre pyrolysis plant involves considerable initial capital expenditure. The cost of the plant itself, along with associated infrastructure, can range from several hundred thousand to millions of dollars, depending on the plant's capacity and technological sophistication. However, the continuous nature of the process ensures that the plant operates with minimal downtime, maximizing output and revenue generation. Investors must consider not only the purchase of the pyrolysis plant but also the cost of installation, commissioning, and any necessary environmental permits.

Revenue Streams and Profitability

Product Sales

The primary revenue stream for a continuous tyre pyrolysis plant comes from the sale of pyrolysis products. Fuel oil, the most valuable by-product, can be sold to industries such as power generation, cement manufacturing, and shipping, where it is used as an alternative fuel source. Carbon black, another key by-product, is in demand in the rubber and plastics industries. Steel wire, extracted from the tyres during the pyrolysis process, can be sold to metal recycling firms. The price volatility of these products, particularly fuel oil, can impact profitability, making market analysis and price forecasting critical components of the investment strategy.

Energy Savings

In addition to product sales, continuous tyre recycling pyrolysis plant can achieve energy savings by utilizing the syngas produced during the pyrolysis process. This syngas can be captured and used to fuel the plant's operations, reducing reliance on external energy sources and lowering operational costs. This energy efficiency is a significant advantage of continuous pyrolysis systems over batch processing plants, further enhancing the investment appeal.

Long-Term Financial Viability

The long-term financial viability of a continuous tyre pyrolysis plant is influenced by several factors, including maintenance costs, feedstock availability, and market demand for by-products. Regular maintenance is essential to ensure the plant operates efficiently and safely, while consistent availability of waste tyres is necessary to maintain steady production levels. Market fluctuations in the price of pyrolysis products can also affect profitability, underscoring the importance of a diversified customer base and flexible pricing strategies.

Beston Continuous Tyre Pyrolysis Plant

Risk Management and Mitigation

Environmental and Operational Risks

Investors must be aware of the environmental and operational risks associated with continuous tyre pyrolysis plants. While these plants are designed to minimize emissions, there is still a potential for environmental impact, particularly if the plant is not properly maintained or if waste management protocols are not strictly followed. Operational risks, such as equipment failure or supply chain disruptions, can also affect the plant's performance and profitability. To mitigate these risks, investors should ensure that the plant is equipped with the latest pollution control technologies and that a robust maintenance schedule is in place. These problems require professional solution providers to help you, and Beston & company is an excellent choice.

Financial Risks

Financial risks are inherent in any investment, and continuous tyre pyrolysis plants are no exception. Price volatility in the energy and materials markets can impact revenue, while unexpected costs related to plant maintenance or regulatory compliance can strain financial resources. To manage these risks, investors should conduct thorough due diligence, including market research, financial modeling, and sensitivity analysis, to anticipate potential challenges and develop contingency plans.

Strategic Partnerships and Financing Options

Forming strategic partnerships can enhance the investment potential of a continuous tyre pyrolysis plant. Collaborations with waste management companies, energy firms, and industrial customers can ensure a steady supply of feedstock and a reliable market for by-products. Additionally, financing options such as debt financing, equity investment, or public-private partnerships can provide the necessary capital while spreading financial risk. Investors should explore various financing structures to determine the most advantageous approach for their specific situation.

Conclusion

Investing in a continuous tyre pyrolysis plant offers the potential for significant returns, driven by the growing demand for sustainable waste management solutions and the increasing value of pyrolysis by-products. However, success in this sector requires a comprehensive understanding of the market dynamics, financial risks, and operational challenges associated with such investments. By carefully evaluating the investment scenarios and implementing effective risk management strategies, investors can position themselves to capitalize on the opportunities presented by this innovative technology.

Turning Plastic Waste into Fuel: The Promise of Plastic to Oil Pyrolysis

Introduction

The global plastic waste crisis is one of the most pressing environmental challenges of our time. With millions of tons of plastic waste accumulating in landfills and oceans, there is an urgent need for innovative solutions to manage and recycle plastic waste effectively. One promising technology that has gained attention in recent years is plastic to oil pyrolysis. This process not only offers a way to reduce plastic pollution but also provides a valuable source of energy. In this blog, we will explore the intricacies of plastic to oil pyrolysis, its benefits, challenges, and its potential to transform waste management and energy production.

Understanding Plastic to Oil Pyrolysis

Plastic to oil pyrolysis is a chemical process that converts plastic waste into liquid oil, gas, and char by heating the plastic in the absence of oxygen. This thermal decomposition process of waste plastic to oil machine occurs in a specially designed reactor where temperatures typically range between 300°C to 900°C. The absence of oxygen prevents combustion, allowing the plastic to break down into smaller molecular compounds.

The Pyrolysis Process

Feedstock Preparation: The process begins with the collection and preparation of plastic waste. This may involve sorting, cleaning, and shredding the plastic to ensure uniformity and remove any contaminants.

Heating: The prepared plastic is fed into a pyrolysis reactor, where it is heated in the absence of oxygen. The reactor can be designed as a batch, semi-batch, or continuous system, depending on the desired scale and efficiency of the operation.

Thermal Decomposition: As the plastic is heated, it undergoes thermal decomposition, breaking down into smaller hydrocarbon molecules. The resulting products include pyrolysis oil (a type of synthetic crude oil), pyrolysis gas, and solid char.

Cooling and Condensation: The pyrolysis oil and gas are then cooled and condensed. The oil can be further refined and used as a fuel or a feedstock for chemical production, while the gas can be utilized to power the pyrolysis process or generate electricity.

Byproducts Management: The solid char produced during pyrolysis can be used as a carbon black substitute, soil conditioner, or further processed into activated carbon.

Plastic To Oil Machine

Plastic To Oil Machine

Types of Plastic Suitable for Pyrolysis

Not all plastics are created equal when it comes to pyrolysis. The types of plastic most suitable for this process include:

Polyethylene (PE): Found in plastic bags, bottles, and packaging films.
Polypropylene (PP): Common in food containers, bottle caps, and automotive parts.
Polystyrene (PS): Used in disposable cutlery, plates, and packaging materials.
Polyethylene Terephthalate (PET): Often used in beverage bottles and food containers.

Mixed plastics can also be processed, though the yield and quality of the pyrolysis oil may vary depending on the composition.

Benefits of Plastic to Oil Pyrolysis

The pyrolysis of plastic waste offers several significant advantages, making it an attractive option for waste management and energy production.

Environmental Benefits

Reduction of Plastic Waste: Pyrolysis provides a viable solution for reducing the volume of plastic waste in landfills and oceans. By converting waste plastics into valuable products, it helps mitigate the environmental impact of plastic pollution.

Decreased Carbon Footprint: Pyrolysis can potentially reduce greenhouse gas emissions compared to traditional plastic disposal methods, such as incineration and landfilling. The process produces fewer pollutants and can be integrated with renewable energy sources to further enhance its environmental performance.

Resource Recovery: The conversion of plastic waste into pyrolysis oil and other valuable byproducts supports a circular economy, where materials are continuously reused and recycled. This reduces the demand for virgin plastic production and conserves natural resources.

Economic Benefits

Energy Production: Pyrolysis oil can be refined and used as a substitute for conventional fuels, providing an alternative energy source. This can help reduce dependence on fossil fuels and improve energy security.

Market Potential: The byproducts of pyrolysis, such as char and gas, have commercial value in various industries. Char can be used in agriculture and manufacturing, while pyrolysis gas can be utilized for electricity generation or as a raw material in chemical processes.

Job Creation: The development and operation of plastic into fuel machine can create new job opportunities in areas such as waste collection, plant operation, and maintenance.

Challenges and Considerations

Despite its potential, plastic to oil pyrolysis faces several challenges that must be addressed to ensure its widespread adoption and success.

Technical Challenges

Feedstock Variability: The heterogeneous nature of plastic waste can affect the efficiency and consistency of the pyrolysis process. Variations in plastic composition, moisture content, and contaminants can impact the quality and yield of pyrolysis oil.

Power of Biochar: Understanding Its Role in Carbon Sequestration and Soil Health

In the realm of sustainable agriculture and environmental conservation, biochar emerges as a potent force reshaping conventional practices. Derived from the pyrolysis of organic materials, biochar stands at the intersection of science, agriculture, and environmental stewardship, offering a multifaceted solution to pressing global challenges. Its significance lies not only in its capacity to sequester carbon but also in its profound impact on soil health and agricultural productivity.

The Science of Biochar

Biochar from biochar equipment, often hailed as “black gold” or “carbon-negative technology,” is more than a mere byproduct of biomass conversion; it is a transformative tool in the fight against climate change. Through the process of pyrolysis, biomass such as agricultural residues, wood chips, or organic waste undergoes thermal decomposition in the absence of oxygen, yielding a stable carbon-rich material—biochar.

Carbon Sequestration: A Global Imperative

The allure of biochar lies in its remarkable ability to sequester carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and lock it away in the soil for centuries, if not millennia. Unlike other forms of carbon storage, such as tree planting or carbon capture and storage (CCS) technologies, biochar of charcoal manufacturing machine offers a permanent and scalable solution. Its porous structure provides refuge for carbon molecules, shielding them from microbial decomposition and ensuring long-term storage—an invaluable asset in mitigating the effects of anthropogenic greenhouse gas emissions.

Soil Health and Agricultural Sustainability

Moreover, the benefits of biochar extend beyond carbon sequestration to encompass soil health and agricultural sustainability. When incorporated into soil, biochar acts as a carbon reservoir, enhancing its water retention capacity, nutrient-holding ability, and microbial activity. This phenomenon, known as the “biochar effect,” fosters a symbiotic relationship between soil, plants, and microorganisms, promoting optimal growth conditions and resilience to environmental stressors.

Use Biochar as Fertilizer

Remediation and Restoration Efforts

Furthermore, biochar serves as a catalyst for soil remediation and restoration efforts in degraded or contaminated landscapes. Its adsorptive properties enable it to bind heavy metals, pesticides, and other pollutants, preventing their leaching into groundwater and safeguarding ecosystem integrity. By revitalizing soils and mitigating environmental degradation, biochar from biomass pyrolsis paves the way for sustainable land management practices and ecosystem resilience.

Agricultural Advancements

In the agricultural sector, the integration of biochar holds immense promise for increasing crop yields, improving food security, and mitigating the adverse effects of climate variability. Studies have shown that the application of biochar can enhance soil fertility, promote nutrient cycling, and suppress soil-borne pathogens, thereby reducing the reliance on synthetic fertilizers and agrochemicals. Additionally, the slow-release properties of biochar ensure sustained nutrient availability over time, minimizing nutrient runoff and enhancing nutrient use efficiency—a boon for resource-limited farmers and environmentally sensitive regions.

biochar-for-soil-amendment

In conclusion, biochar represents a paradigm shift in our approach to carbon management, soil conservation, and agricultural sustainability. Its role in carbon sequestration and soil health cannot be overstated, offering a holistic solution to some of the most pressing challenges facing humanity. As we strive to build a more resilient and regenerative future, biochar stands as a beacon of hope—a potent reminder of nature’s capacity for renewal and regeneration. Signs Your Vehicle Might Be Eligible for Lemon Law
David Lopez7 months ago06 mins

Purchasing a vehicle is an exciting milestone. Whether it’s your first car or an upgrade to something more luxurious, the thrill of hitting the open road can’t be understated. However, what happens when that dream ride turns into a nightmare? If you find yourself facing persistent issues with your new vehicle, you may feel overwhelmed and frustrated. That’s where lemon laws come into play. These consumer protection laws can help safeguard buyers from defective vehicles. Arizona’s Lemon Law offers specific measures to protect consumers who purchase faulty new cars. But how do you know if your car qualifies for these protections? Let’s explore some telltale signs that might indicate you’re dealing with a lemon on wheels.

Serious Safety Defects

When it comes to vehicle safety, any defect can be alarming. Serious safety issues pose a considerable risk not only to the driver but also to passengers and pedestrians. Imagine discovering that your brakes fail unexpectedly or that the airbag system isn’t functioning properly. These are not minor inconveniences; they jeopardize lives on every journey. If you notice warning lights on your dashboard or hear strange noises when operating essential systems, these could signal defects needing urgent attention. Ignoring such signs is dangerous. Moreover, if recall notices keep popping up for your model yet repairs are inadequate, this is a red flag.

Repeated Mechanical Failures

engine failures

Repeated mechanical failures are a major red flag when it comes to vehicle reliability. If your car is constantly in the shop for repairs, it’s time to take notice. Think about it: you shouldn’t have to return to the mechanic every few weeks for issues that should be resolved. Frequent breakdowns can lead to mounting repair bills and endless frustration. Even minor problems that keep cropping up can add up quickly. A persistent issue may indicate a deeper defect within the vehicle’s design or construction. If you’re facing ongoing troubles despite numerous attempts at fixing them, documenting these incidents becomes crucial.

Poor Performance or Handling

You expect your vehicle to respond smoothly and efficiently. When it doesn’t, it can be frustrating. Poor performance often manifests as sluggish acceleration or unresponsive steering. If your car struggles on inclines or feels wobbly during turns, something is likely amiss. These signs are not just annoying; they can signal deeper issues that may fall under lemon law protections. Inconsistent braking or excessive vibrations while driving also raise red flags. Such problems can compromise safety and overall enjoyment behind the wheel. A vehicle should inspire confidence in its handling capabilities, not anxiety about every drive.

Extended Downtime

Extended downtime can be a frustrating experience for any vehicle owner. If your car spends more time in the shop than on the road, it’s a significant red flag. Mechanics should fix issues promptly, but when repairs drag on for weeks or even months, you may have grounds to consider lemon law protections. Each visit for repair chips away at your confidence in that vehicle. You might find yourself missing important commitments because of an unreliable car. It’s not just inconvenient; it impacts your daily life and peace of mind. If you notice frequent trips to the dealership with long wait times each time, take note.

Knowing the signs that your vehicle may be covered by lemon law can empower you as a consumer. If you’re experiencing repeated mechanical failures, serious safety defects, extended downtime, or poor performance and handling, it might be time to take action. Don’t hesitate to seek advice from legal professionals who specialize in lemon law. Understanding your rights is crucial for protecting yourself and ensuring that you drive safely …

To gather this information, defense lawyers employ various tactics. They conduct thorough interviews with the accusers, meticulously combing through every detail of their statements. They aim to uncover inconsistencies or discrepancies in the narrative. Armed with these valuable insights obtained through diligent investigation and meticulous fact-finding efforts, they are better equipped to fight for justice in the courtroom on behalf of their clients.

Cross-Examination Preparation

Preparing for cross-examination is a crucial part of a criminal defense lawyer’s role. It involves strategizing and gathering information to effectively challenge the prosecution’s case through questioning the accuser. This process can make or break a trial, as it allows the defense attorney to expose inconsistencies, biases, or ulterior motives that may undermine the credibility of the accuser.

To begin with, the defense lawyer meticulously studies all available evidence related to the case. They review police reports, witness statements, and any other relevant documents that could provide insights into weaknesses in the prosecution’s argument. This thorough preparation enables them to identify potential areas of attack during cross-examination.

Once armed with this knowledge, the attorney will craft their questions carefully. The best criminal defense lawyer south carolina often aims to elicit responses that either discredit or cast doubt on what has been presented by the accuser and other witnesses. By probing deeper into specific details or challenging contradictions in testimonies, they seek to demonstrate reasonable doubt.

Negotiation and Resolution on Your Behalf

Your lawyer will thoroughly analyze the evidence presented against you and pinpoint any weaknesses or inconsistencies in the prosecution’s case. Armed with this information, they can then engage in negotiations with the accuser or prosecutor.

During these negotiations, your defense attorney will advocate for your rights and interests. They will present compelling arguments highlighting any mitigating factors that may have influenced your alleged actions. They aim to secure a resolution that minimizes potential penalties or even leads to charges being dropped altogether. To effectively negotiate on your behalf, lawyers must possess excellent communication skills. They understand how important it is to maintain open lines of dialogue while advocating for their client’s best interests.

Establishment of Credibility

One way that a criminal defense lawyer establishes credibility is by thoroughly investigating the facts surrounding the case. They will gather evidence, interview witnesses, and review any available documentation to build a solid foundation for their client's defense. Additionally, a good lawyer will maintain open lines of communication with their client throughout the legal process. By actively listening to their client's concerns and questions, they can demonstrate empathy and understanding while also providing clear explanations regarding strategy and potential outcomes.

All in all, the ultimate role of a criminal defense lawyer goes beyond merely representing their client in court …

Why Engaging Cash Buyers Is Ideal for Selling Your Distressed Property
David Lopez2 years ago04 mins

Selling a distressed property can be a challenging task for homeowners, especially when time and financial constraints are at play. In such situations, engaging cash buyers can offer numerous advantages over traditional buyers who rely on mortgage financing. This guide aims to highlight four factors that make cash buyers ideal for selling distressed properties. By considering these factors, homeowners can maximize their chances of a successful and expedited sale.

Speed of Sale

One of the primary benefits of engaging cash buyers when selling a distressed property is the speed at which the transaction can be completed. Cash buyers have the advantage of not having to secure mortgage financing, eliminating the lengthy process of loan approval and underwriting. With cash readily available, these buyers can often close the deal within a matter of days or weeks, compared to the months it may take with traditional buyers.

Higher Likelihood of Closing closingDistressed properties often come with their own set of challenges, such as extensive repairs, liens, or legal complications. Traditional buyers may hesitate to purchase such properties due to the potential risks and uncertainties involved. Cash buyers, however, are more likely to proceed with the purchase, as they are typically experienced investors or real estate professionals who specialize in distressed properties.

As-Is Purchase

Cash buyers are generally willing to purchase distressed properties in their current condition without requiring extensive repairs or renovations. Traditional buyers, especially those relying on mortgage financing, may demand repairs or negotiate lower prices to account for the property's condition. This can be a significant advantage for distressed property owners who may lack the financial resources or time to invest in repairs. By engaging cash buyers, homeowners can sell their properties without the burden of costly renovations, allowing them to move on from their distressed situation swiftly.

Certainty and Convenience

Cash buyers offer a level of certainty and convenience that traditional buyers cannot always guarantee. Mortgage financing can be subject to various contingencies, such as property appraisals, inspections, and loan approvals, which can introduce uncertainties into the selling process. Cash buyers, on the other hand, eliminate these contingencies, providing a more straightforward and streamlined transaction process. This certainty not only reduces stress for distressed property owners but also provides the convenience of a smoother and more predictable closing.

Engaging cash buyers when selling a distressed property can yield numerous benefits for homeowners facing financial or time constraints. The speed at which cash buyers can close transactions, coupled with their willingness to purchase properties in as-is condition, make them an ideal option for distressed property owners.…

Lights and Signals

A crucial aspect of a vehicle safety inspection is assessing the lights and signals. Inspectors check the functionality of headlights, taillights, brake lights, turn signals, and hazard lights. They ensure that these lights are not only working but also properly aligned.

Faulty or misaligned lights can compromise your visibility and create hazardous conditions on the road. You can visit the vtv turnos la plata service to get your vehicle inspected and learn more about why lights and signals are so important.

Steering and Alignment

steer

During an inspection, the inspector will evaluate the condition of the steering system, including the steering wheel, steering column, and power steering components. They will also check the wheel alignment to ensure it is within acceptable limits. A well-functioning steering and properly aligned wheels contribute to a smooth and controlled driving experience.

Braking System

Below are five other things that can affect your car’s performance.

Dirty Oil

Dirty oil can cause several problems for your car, including decreased performance. When you don’t change your oil often enough, the oil becomes dirty and doesn’t lubricate the engine as well. It can lead to increased engine wear and tear, leading to decreased performance.

Fuel Additives

Fuel additives can do more harm than good, especially if you use them too often. Over time, they can build up your fuel system and clog it. This can lead to decreased performance and engine damage. Some car owners have even reported their engines quitting altogether after using too many fuel additives.

Air Filters

A dirty air filter can restrict airflow to your engine, leading to decreased performance. Your car’s engine needs a certain amount of air to run properly. When the air filter is clogged, it doesn’t allow enough air to get through, leading to decreased performance. You can avoid this problem by changing your air filter regularly.

Spark Plugs

Spark plugs are another critical part of your car’s engine. They create the spark that ignites the fuel in your engine. When they become fouled or damaged, they can cause many problems, including decreased performance. It is advisable to replace your spark plugs every few years to avoid this problem.

Mistakes to Avoid When Trading Cryptocurrency

David Lopez3 years ago06 mins

Cryptocurrencies have taken the world by storm in recent years. There are now over 1,500 different cryptocurrencies in circulation. Immediate edge and other trading bots have made it possible for anyone to trade cryptocurrencies, regardless of experience or expertise.

However, just because anyone can trade cryptocurrency doesn't mean everyone should. Several mistakes that novice traders often make can cost them dearly. If you're thinking about getting into cryptocurrency trading, it's important to avoid making these five common mistakes:

trading plansBefore you trade cryptocurrency, it's essential to do your research and understand the market. There are a lot of different factors that can affect the price of cryptocurrencies, and it's important to be aware of them before trading.

If you don't do your research, you could buy a cryptocurrency that's about to crash in value or sell one that's about to skyrocket. Spend some time reading up on the market before you trade. There are a lot of great resources out there, like online forums, blogs, and podcasts.

Not Diversifying Your Portfolio

When you're starting, it's tempting to put all your eggs in one basket and invest all of your money in one cryptocurrency. However, this is a risky strategy because if that cryptocurrency crashes, you could lose everything. Instead, it would help to diversify your portfolio by investing in various cryptocurrencies. That way, if one crashes, you won't lose everything. There are hundreds of different cryptocurrencies to choose from, so there's no need to put all of your money into just one.

Not Setting a Stop-Loss

A stop-loss is an order you set with your broker to sell a security if it reaches a specific price. It's important because it can help you limit your losses if the price of a cryptocurrency starts to crash. For example, let's say you bought Bitcoin for $500 and set a stop-loss at $450. If the price of Bitcoin falls to $450, your broker will automatically sell it, and you'll only lose $50. Without a stop-loss, you could lose a lot more money if the price of Bitcoin crashes. So, make sure you set one before you start trading.

Getting Emotional

Cryptocurrency trading can be very emotional. It’s important to stay calm and rational when you’re making decisions. If you get too emotionally attached to your investments, you could make some bad decisions. For example, you might hold onto a losing investment for too long, hoping it will eventually turn around. Or you might sell an investment too early because you’re worried about it losing value. It’s important to remember that cryptocurrency trading is a long-term game. Don’t make any rash decisions that you’ll regret later.

Not Using a Trading Plan

mobile tradingA trading plan is a set of rules you follow when trading. It should include things like how much money you’re willing to invest, your goals, and your exit strategy. A trading plan can help you stay disciplined and avoid impulsive decisions. Without a plan, it’s easy to get caught up in the excitement of trading and make costly mistakes.

Conclusion

Taking time to avoid these mistakes will put you in a much better position to succeed as a cryptocurrency trader. So do your research, diversify your portfolio, set a stop-loss, and don’t get emotional about your trades. And most importantly, make sure you have a solid trading plan before you start trading.…

Perfect Ways to Set Up a Romantic Dinner at Home

David Lopez4 years ago05 mins

Valentine’s Day has passed, but there is nothing wrong with always celebrating the love for each other. We’ve got you covered if you’re looking for a romantic way to spend an evening at home. Even though you’re such an extremely busy man like Bart Peterschick, you can still set up and have a lovely dinner with your wife. Find out here. Today, we will talk about some of the best ways to set up a romantic dinner for two. Whether you’re cooking a meal yourself or ordering in, these tips will help make your night special.

balloons

Bring the Right Ambiance to Your Dining Room

One of the most important things for a romantic dinner is setting the mood. Your dining room feels warm and inviting, not like a sterile hotel lobby. One way to do this is with lighting. Candles are always a good choice, but they can be a fire hazard if you’re not careful. If you’re not comfortable with candles, try string lights or even turn off the overhead light and use lamps instead. Another way to set the mood is with music. Create a playlist of your partner’s favorite songs, or find a romantic playlist online. Soft instrumental music is usually best so you can still talk and enjoy each other’s company.

Serve a Delicious Meal With a Set of Desserts

Aside from that, there won't be a dinner without a meal and dessert, right? A romantic dinner is a perfect time to try a new recipe or make your partner's favorite dish. If you're not much of a cook, plenty of places will deliver food right to your door. Just be sure to set the table with some candles and flowers to make it special. And don't forget dessert. Chocolate is always a good choice, but you can also get creative with strawberry shortcakes or heart-shaped cookies.

Clean Up Yourself and Mind Your Look

Now that you have the perfect romantic dinner set up, it's time to focus on yourself. Make sure you're well-groomed and wearing something excellent. This is not the time for sweatpants and a ratty t-shirt. Brush your hair, put on some makeup, and wear something that makes you feel confident. Your partner will appreciate the effort, and you'll feel better about yourself.

Serve Champagne and Enjoy the Evening

Finally, it's time to enjoy your romantic dinner. Pour some champagne, make a toast to your love, and enjoy the evening. Things may go perfectly fine, but sometimes, they don't. If you're feeling nervous or things get awkward, remember that your partner is there with you because they love you. So relax, be yourself, and enjoy the night. And if all else fails, you can always order pizza.

As a final note, enjoy the company of your loved one. If you're both feeling stressed from work or life in general, take this time to reconnect and enjoy each other's company. Talk about things that make you both happy or even things bothering you. The important thing is that you're spending time together and creating memories that will last a lifetime.…

Ways To Customize Your Car

David Lopez4 years ago05 mins

Customizing your car can be a lot of fun, and it is also a great way to express yourself. Whether you are looking for something minimalistic or over the top with neon lights and decals, there are many ways to customize your ride.

Customizing your car doesn’t have to be expensive either. This article will go over some of the most popular ways people customize their cars on a budget.

Install a Lift Kit

car repair

A suspension lift kit will help you achieve that sought-after off-road look. Lift kits come in many different sizes and can be done on most cars with little to no modification. You may be surprised that there is much information online regarding suspension lift kits, like comparisons of 4 vs 6 inch lift kit. Most people that drive SUVs and Off-road vehicles will find it necessary to install a lift kit.

A suspension lift is one of the most affordable ways to customize your car, and it doesn’t take much work either. Installing a suspension lift will increase ground clearance, allowing you to traverse off-road terrain more easily and give your vehicle an aggressive look with larger tires and rims.

Customize Headlights

A new set of headlights is an affordable way to make your car stand out at night, especially if they are LED lights. Replacing the bulbs with high-intensity light-emitting diodes is an easy task that can be done in a few hours. The same goes for fog lights; they are another great way to customize your car at night time when visibility is low.

Replacement LED lights will make it easier to spot obstacles on the road ahead of you while driving in poorly lit areas. Although fog lights and headlight replacement projects will cost a little bit more, the results are well worth it.

You can also consider installing underbody LED lights to help you see obstacles when driving in dark conditions. This is especially important if you drive an SUV since they sit higher up from the ground than ordinary cars. Installing aftermarket LED lights will make it easier to spot potholes in the road, small children, or animals that may run out in front of you while driving at night.

Add a Spoiler to Your Car

sleek car

You should also consider adding a spoiler to your car. Many different spoilers can be added to give the exterior or interior an upgraded look, feel, and functionality. If you want more stability while driving at higher speeds, adding a rear spoiler is perfect for you. It will reduce lift by keeping the back end on the ground giving better control and stability.

If you are more interested in giving the exterior a sleek look, consider adding some side skirts or canards to your car as well. Adding a spoiler is an easy and simple way for anyone with any type of car to customize their vehicle without having to do too much work. All it takes is just finding the right-wing or spoiler that fits your style and finding a professional to install it.

You should consider customizing your car to improve how it looks and performs. You can do more online research for additional information on the topic.…

The Benefits of Solar Rooftop Systems

David Lopez4 years ago06 mins

Solar power has become an increasingly popular solution for many people, especially in areas where electricity rates are high. Many people are considering solar rooftop systems for many different reasons. If you are looking for a solar company, you need to ensure that they offer the best solar for your needs. Progressture solar is one of the leading solar company around. Below are the benefits of solar rooftop systems.

solar company

Saves Money

A solar rooftop system provides a cost-effective and straightforward way to generate energy from the sun. Unlike other renewable energy sources like wind or hydro, solar is clean and does not produce pollution. It also costs less than traditional forms of power generation because it can be installed on top of existing buildings at no additional cost. Although some upfront costs are associated with installing a solar panel system, these expenses typically pay off within five years due to lower monthly utility bills. Businesses also benefit from lower costs associated with solar panels, making them more competitive in their respective markets by lowering overhead.

Environmentally Friendly

Aside from providing energy savings, solar also provides several other benefits to the environment. By generating electricity with a renewable source like sunlight instead of fossil fuels, you reduce your environmental footprint and help preserve our natural resources for future generations. According to Energy Star, using clean power sources can reduce air pollution by 50% or more than traditional methods. This is why many people, including famous ones, are taking advantage of solar power.

Reduces Carbon Footprint

Many people understand the benefits of solar energy, but they choose to use other forms of power because it is still difficult for them to make a switch. Solar has been gaining momentum in recent years. This trend will likely continue as more companies begin offering innovative ways to help their customers go green without sacrificing convenience or comfort. Many people should know that reducing our carbon footprint helps improve health and quality of life for everyone. The U.S Department of Energy estimates the average solar rooftop system will eliminate around 20 metric tons of greenhouse gas emissions every year. This makes them an incredibly effective method for lowering your company’s environmental impact on a large scale.

Lasts for Decades

While it is true that solar power has been around for a while, people do not realize how far technology has come. Modern panels are made with advanced materials and have better efficiency ratings than ever before, which means they last longer and produce more energy. This saves money long-term because you will need to use fewer resources in order to generate the same amount of energy. Many people are currently using solar rooftop systems to save money, be environmentally friendly, and reduce their carbon footprint while generating clean electricity for years to come.

So there you have it. Solar energy is the future, and if you don't believe us, then do some digging on your own time to see what we're talking about. Suppose people are willing to spend hundreds of dollars every month on their cell phone bills. In that case, they'll also be willing to pay a small monthly fee so that they can power their home with clean solar electricity instead of dirty coal or oil-fueled electric utilities. We hope this article has given you enough information so that you know how much money installing a solar rooftop system could save in the long run, as well as more reasons why now might be an ideal time for you to make the switch over from traditional energy sources like coal or natural …

Three Facts About Fire Extinguishers
David Lopez4 years ago05 mins

A fire extinguisher is an active fire control device to protect property and lives against fire damages and is intended to be used in emergency situations. There are also many types of fire extinguishers manufactured today, such as the class A, class B fire extinguishers, class C, class D, and class K. Probably you're wondering if there are more things to know about fire extinguishers, and in case you are unfamiliar with them. Let us give you the facts you'll need to know before buying a fire extinguisher:
It's Advised to Always Recharge After Using

Spray

Let's say you just doused a small kitchen fire at home or work, and you feel like you've only used the fire extinguisher for a short time, normally if you're using other equipment, you wouldn't bother too much and just put it back where you found them, right? But that won't be the case when dealing with fire extinguishers. Experts say we need to always top them up for every time we use them because the active compound inside can diminish quickly after being released upon the fire, and the content inside can dissipate over time, which will be dangerous if we run out when dealing with a fire outbreak in the future.

It Can Expire

Did you know that fire extinguishers can expire too? Yes, just like foods and medications, they too have a shelf life that you can find on the back of the tool. Typically, they can last up to 12 years, depending on how well you keep them. One thing for sure is they don’t last forever, and you should always keep that in mind whenever you see a fire extinguisher.

There Are Plenty of Types

The five main types of fire extinguishers that you should know have been mentioned above, and they are classified as water, foam, CO2, ABC powder, and wet chemicals. They are manufactured differently because there are different types of fires, such as:

Types of Fire Extinguishers

- Flammable materials (wood, paper, textiles)
- Flammable liquids (oil, grease, paint, gasoline)
- Flammable metals (sodium, uranium, potassium, plutonium)
- Gaseous fires
- Kitchen combustibles (cooking oils and animal or vegetable fats)
- Electrical fires

It is important to know which fire extinguishers to use depending on which type of fire you are dealing with.

Understanding the Causes of Hair Loss

David Lopez5 years ago05 mins

Alopecia areata, also known as baldness, is a serious problem affecting countless people around the world. A prime example is the United States, where 35 million men and 21 million women suffer from baldness. Alopecia occurs when the amount of hair loss is not compensated by the growth of new hair. The good thing is that you can undergo several procedures to restore your lost hair.

Several clinics carry out this procedure. You can find out the cost to determine whether it will meet your budget. Different types of baldness manifest differently, and a few hairs left on the comb do not mean a serious problem. In fact, we lose up to 100 hairs a day, which then grow back.

However, if you notice numerous bald patches or less hair, then you may have started to go bald seriously. It is noteworthy that the concept of baldness has different shades in cases of occurrence in men or women. In most cases, male pattern baldness is perceived as an unfortunate but quite expected consequence of aging, while for women, baldness becomes a real tragedy. This shows how different hair loss affects men and women.

Causes of Hair Loss

Let’s take a look at the common causes of hair loss.

Hormonal disruptions. This situation is typical for the period of bearing a child and the postpartum stage. Menopause is becoming a serious risk factor. All these processes are associated with complex hormonal changes in the body, which can be accompanied by various failures in the work of certain systems. So, hair falls out in diabetes most often, with problems in the endocrine system’s functioning.

Iron deficiency in the body. When the level of this valuable trace element decreases, hair begins to fall out. The causes are blood loss, as well as strict diets. It is important to regularly include pomegranate and apple juice, buckwheat porridge, beef, and fish in the diet. The appropriate vitamin complex will also help.

Antibiotic therapy should be carried out with caution, antidepressants and medications should be taken to stabilize blood pressure. All of these techniques and treatments can cause hair loss.

Frequent stress. When the emotional background is unstable, there is depression, which is a serious negative factor.

3 Tips to Consider When Shopping for Cannabis Flowers

David Lopez6 years ago04 mins

Cannabis is a plant that contains hundreds of cannabinoids. Some of these cannabinoids work with the body to relieve some symptoms such as chronic pains and nausea. There are very many strains of cannabis that have different concentrations of these compounds. Each of these strains is good for some specific ailments. You need to know what you are suffering from to know the right strain to pick.

Other than ailments, you also need to know what the law says about cannabis in your area. In some states, THC is illegal because of its mind-altering effect, while some states have made it legal. Here are some of the tips you should consider when shopping for cannabis buds

1. The law

Cannabis has been tested numerous times and has been found to treat and relieve many symptoms. Even though it could be more effective than other available drugs, it has not yet been approved by the Food and Drug Authority (FDA) as a form of medication.

There are two main compounds in cannabis that help with the treatment of these ailments which are Cannabidiol (CBD) and Tetrahydrocannabinol (THC)/ THC is a psychoactive compound, and it has been made illegal in some states. If you live in such a state, you should go for cannabis buds that are low in THC concentration. The allowed amount is from 0.3% to 0.5%. Anything higher than this can get you arrested.

2. Ailment

CBD and THC both have different effects on the body, and they both treat different ailments. If you are suffering from chronic pains, back pains, migraines, and anxiety, CBD would be the best for you. You should, therefore, pick a bud that is high in CBD concentration. If you are suffering from light headaches, depression, nausea, and vomiting, THC is what would give you relief from these symptoms. Buds that are high in TCH concentration would be the best for you.

3. Cost

When making any purchase, the most important consideration is the price. It will help if you look through various cannabis vendors and compare prices. The chances are that the expensive ones are high-quality buds, but you should inquire how they are grown. This will give you some insight into the quality of buds being sold.

There are many strains to choose from. You should know which strains fit your requirements. Some are more affordable than others but would still do a great job of treating your symptoms. Making a budget can help you get the best out of your medication.…

Considerations Before Buying CBD Oils

David Lopez7 years ago04 mins

As CBD flower is now possible, it indicates that CBD manufacturing is one of the fastest-growing industries in recent years. More importantly, recent studies have now proven its medical advantages that doctors can use to treat certain health problems, such as cancer, chronic pain, and inflammation. Although the consumption is still a subject of endless debates, it does not change the fact that the product contains beneficial properties that offer health benefits. For that reason, it is not a surprising thing to see that many regions in the world have legalized its use for medical purpose.

As you may think that the consumption of CBD oils needs strict supervision from doctors and medical experts, the truth is that people are quite free to buy and consume the products. In some areas, the products are even available in drugstores, implying that the product is indeed a safe choice for people. Especially for this case, buyers still need to consider several things before buying the product. Note that not all products are produced with the same standards and formulas. For that reason, there are several things to take into account before buying this oil.

Third Party Lab

Has the third party lab tested the product? It is one of the most vital questions that you need to answer immediately before buying. The reason for the statement is that it is vital not to depend on the one-sided claim that often states that the product is perfectly safe for people in general. The statement can be very subjective, depending on the profits that the manufacturers are after. Thus, it is crucial to make sure that the product has gone through a series of tests by other medical partners. This way, the product is more likely to be safer. Checking the lab’s website is also advisable as you can find important information about the product on it.

THC

Another thing that you should consider is the amount of THC that should not exceed the maximum limit, which is 0.3%. Consuming any products that contain more than the maximum THC limit can lead to more health risks. Note that THC is illegal in many states due to its adverse effect. The safe percentage of the compound implies that the products should not and will not inflict its psychoactive effects that can lead to more problems. Thus, it is wise to always inquire more before buying one specific product.…

How to Pass a Drug Test for Marijuana

David Lopez7 years ago06 mins

Marijuana has been known to treat several ailments for about 3000 years now, says the National Institutes of Health. Some countries such as Canada, Uruguay, and other 9 US states have legalized marijuana for recreational use. However, according to the Food and Drug Administration using this drug is not yet safe neither has it proven to treat any medical condition.

With that being said, most employers still conduct drug tests on their employees, and one of the main tests is that of marijuana use. Samples could be taken from your hair, blood, urine or saliva. If found positive, you could risk damaging your career or losing your job, and you don't want that, do you? Therefore, in this detailed guide, we'll show you how to pass a drug test for marijuana.

Use Detox Pills

pills used for drug detoxIf you're looking for a quick fix to your marijuana test, there is an array of best detox pills in the market. Most of these detox pills for drug test are supposed to help you pass a urine drug test although some pills are known to help you pass saliva and hair tests.

Although some of these detox pills do work, they can also be positively identified on a drug test in case you undergo random testing. To add to this, they're even costly. So this is not the best way to pass your drug tests as some testing programs might consider the presence of detox pills as a positive drug test.

Water

This looks pretty straight forward although it must be done correctly to achieve the desired results. Don't start drinking gallons of water days or even weeks before the screening because you'll only be wasting your time. The best thing to do is to drink 2-3 liters on the specific day of your test, and around 1-2 liters hours before the screening. However, crystal clear urine sample might raise suspicions, but at least you have higher chances of passing the test.

Drink Lemon

Over the years, lemon juice has been proposed as an effective detox drink by many health and fitness gurus. They claim that it's beneficial in shifting toxins and cleansing your body in general. Citrus fruit is very rich in vitamins which are essential for detoxifying the body.

Furthermore, lemon juice can flush small quantities of THC metabolites from your system. Mixing 500ml of water with 1 tablespoon of lemon juice could do the trick and should be taken frequently for several hours. Start this regime earlier before the drug screening day and if possible take it for around 7-8 times.

Exercise

Being fat soluble, cannabis is mainly stored in the body's fat cells for the long-term. You should keep this in mind while exercising since you'll be burning out excess fats and in the process getting rid of marijuana. Do a combination of exercises such as swimming, running and weight lifting as this will help you burn fat much faster.

leafy green vegetables
Replace Junk Food with Greens

Generally, junk food and fast food are unhealthy and will help you with nothing when it comes to flushing out marijuana from your body. Their high sodium, sugar and fat concentration causes water retention in the body as well as slowing down metabolism

On the other hand, lean meats, vegetables, and fruits are rich in minerals like iron and vitamins. Vegetables such as broccoli, kale, and spinach are essential for boosting the body's metabolism.

To sum it up, passing a marijuana test won't certainly be easy without putting in hard work and dedication.…

Insightful Tips When Buying Used Compact Tractors
David Lopez7 years ago05 mins

Every business should aim to upgrade, diversify and grow their portfolios. One way this is achieved is by adding new equipment to their fleet. The companies unable to buy new machines can opt for the used equipment purchase alternatives. Those operating in the landscape and lawn care industries can opt for used tractors. According to experts at www.becksidemachinery.co.uk, most manufacturers have seen double-digit increases in the sales of new tractors as buyers have the opportunity of trading in older ones. The trade-in option provided by some tractor companies has seen a sharp rise in sales.

The influx of top options available is great for tractor seekers. Not every machine is created equal – meaning there are ownership options for buyers to carefully research, conduct vetting and investigate purchases. Whether you stand out as a veteran buyer of equipment or a beginner, here are some insightful tips for buying a used compact tractor.
Begin the Search

Magazine ads, Craiglist, newspaper classifieds or auction websites are some of the avenues people explore when searching for used tractors. The digital world eases the online search and remains a top recommendation by leading experts. Websites today are user-friendly ensuring the inventory catalogs are updated with ease. On clicking on the machine one can get to check out the details of the equipment. You can still find listings on magazines and newspapers but remember, they hardly direct the user to a website.
Vet Your Sources

When buying a state of the art machine goes for quality. Do some research on the seller to gauge their level of trustworthiness. Use the same metric applied when gauging the suitability of someone selling a used car. The used tractor business differs from a used car in that the background details are not easily advertised – you need to dig deeper for details. Whether you are buying from a dealership, private seller, auction house or additional outlet, scour the internet for online reviews. See what previous buyers are saying about the equipment. Buying from a private seller will differ from a dealership which can provide guidance on which machine is the best fit for you. The former will try to sell the equipment no matter what.

Right Timing

In the agricultural sector, there are several seasonal factors affecting your pricing. Most manufacturer programs begin by March and extend to June. The used seekers will capitalize on end season sales where most attractive offers on equipment translate into trade-ins. Watch out for the high and low points, when trying to secure a purchase.

Machine Details

The right model and make of the tractor arises from quality sellers. This gives you the green light to proceed. When going through a thorough investigation you must consider the used tractors before making your purchases.

First, insist on a full check and evaluation that covers hours and records covering maintenance, not forgetting the history of your machine. Check the detailed photos covering general machine shots as well as those that document major repair work done.

Do not be deceived by the appearance of a tractor. The shiny appearance does not translate into performance. Do your homework and pick the right product.…

Use of Removal equipment

As much as it’s everywhere in black and white, you do need the unmatched services of a seasoned exterminator. They know just which equipment to use for bats, snakes and other pests. On the other hand, you wouldn’t be successful if you tried it out yourself.

You wouldn’t really know which equipment would remove them from the compound unless you involved a real expert. After all, some of these products make the exterminators’ work very easy. All they have to do is ensure that they are genuine, then go ahead and use them.
Seal All Entry Points

snake Those of us that have rodents, bats and snakes which keep going and coming will understand just what this is all about. In fact, it gets so annoying that you wish there was a way you’d get rid of them for good. When you involve trained pest exterminators, you don’t have to worry about anything anymore because it’s all under control.

Exterminators tend to use their knowledge and mechanism to trace their hideout. They shut all the likely places from where they might be seen entering, especially the attic for the bats and toilets for snakes. This way, they begin to come out as they are in panic mode. They are not really aware of what lies ahead of them.
Get backup

Rodents and other animals can be quite a pain in the neck if you lack the know-how when trying to remove them. Which is why even the most experienced exterminators will call for backup when they find the job a bit too overwhelming.

There is no better way to bring nasty pests under control other than through such means. Besides, this is a quicker way of ensuring that they exit your premises as soon as they can. You’ll be glad you resorted to this plan in the first place.…

Paintball Guns – An Introduction

Lisa Pearson8 years ago06 mins

Introduction

Paintball is considered as one of the most popular and exciting hobbies nowadays. Thanks to a plethora of exquisite equipment options and exciting gameplay, paintball has quickly amassed a great following all across the world.

The key element of paintball is, of course, the paintball gun. These guns are filled with paint, obviously, and they use rapid expanding gasses, such as carbon dioxide, so as to propel the paintballs. The air can propel a paintball at around 300 feet per second. This velocity is more than enough to ensure that the ball breaks down upon impacting the target but is also appropriate enough so as to avoid any tissue damage.
The key components of every paintball gun are the following

The hopper
The barrel
The tank

Firing systems

Paintball guns can be customized in a myriad of ways. You can choose from a wide variety of guns that feature different attachments and specifications. Some models may feature electro-pneumatic firing systems, whereas other may utilize sear trippers, which feature a hammer that slams into the valve that contains the bullet, thus propelling the bullet towards the target. The most widely used guns use gas chambers to propel the balls.

The barrels

When speaking of the barrels, they commonly come in 20, 18, 16 or 12 inches. There are also highly customized guns that have barrels that can reach almost 40 inches in length. Most people prefer having guns with longer barrels, as they produce less noise when fired. The main reason behind this is that longer barrels greatly limit the escape of excess gasses. However, keep in mind that there is no tangible difference regarding noise or accuracy when comparing a 40-inch barrel and a 16-inch one. Also, longer barrels are usually heavier and can slow you down.

Firing modes

Paintball guns feature different firing modes, as well. The most basic ones feature the pump-action firing mode. These guns are slow, however, they are perfect for novice players. Next up, we have the semi-automatic ones, which are reloaded whenever the trigger is pulled. And finally, there are fully automatic ones. These offer the largest amount of firepower but are difficult to control. They are mostly preferred by experienced players.

When it comes to purchasing a paintball gun, these are some of the tips that you might find useful.

Ask for recommendations and read expert reviews

If you are interested in buying your first paintball gun, start by asking some of the more experienced players for any recommendations. Also, it would be a good thing to check out some specialized sites, like the Paintball Dojo, and read a few expert reviews.

Know your budget man using paintball gunTo make the best purchase, you should accurately define your budget. There are a plethora of paintball guns on the market. Some can cost around $100, others can reach almost $1000. Keep in mind that fully automatic and semi-automatic are usually more expensive than pump-action ones. If you are a novice, start with cheaper, pump-action ones. If you are more experienced, go with a semi-automatic.

Look for second-hand guns

If you plan on playing paintball on a regular basis, you should go with a brand new gun. However, if you are just interested in playing from time to time, a second-hand gun will do just fine. It will cost you much less than a new one and still serve its purpose admirably.…

What Is Concrete Waterproofing?

David Lopez8 years ago05 mins

For us to better comprehend concrete waterproofing and its mechanics we need first to understand the meaning of concrete and waterproofing. Concrete is a heavy and rough building material that is made from a mixture of gravel, broken stone, water, cement, and sand. This mixture can be poured or spread into molds to form a stone-like hardened sheet; these sheets are often known as concrete slabs.Concrete Waterproofing

Waterproofing is a process of reinforcing a material so that it can be more water resistant and making it more capable of averting water entry. We can now conclude by describing ‘concrete waterproofing’ as the process of making concrete water resistant and less likely to be affected by water.

From a general view, houses can be built by concrete in which case you would have a concrete foundation, concrete walls and concrete ceiling. Concrete is a very porous building material and if it is not waterproofed it can easily absorb water which will cause cracks and eventual relapse of the structure. You can get quality concrete protection products from GSG Distribution. Another feature of a water damaged concrete structure is the presence of molds and water borne parasites.

Types of concrete waterproofing

Concrete waterproofing can be performed in 3 ways; you can choose to waterproof from the exterior (Positive) side, interior (Negative) side and the integral system which is the concrete itself. There are four types of concrete waterproofing methods namely:

- Crystalline admixture
- Admixtures
- Liquid applied membranes
- Sheet membrane systems

Crystalline admixtures

Crystalline admixtures are typically hydrophilic and often come in a dry or powdered form. Using the interior (Negative) system, they differ with other methods because they are not hydrophobic, and they tend to use the existing water to grow crystals inside the concrete. These crystals effectively close off any pathways that may encourage any water entry into the concrete.

Admixtures

Admixtures are a more integral way of waterproofing. They are usually added at the batching plant/onsite where the concrete is manufactured. They use the integral system whereby the chemical reactions occur within the concrete itself making it waterproof.

Liquid applied membranes

Liquid aroofpplied membranes offer concrete waterproofing options that use the exterior (Positive) system. They can be applied (hot or cold) with a squeegee, brush, roller and trowel or even sprayed over the concrete. The solvent used for waterproofing is made from polymeric asphalt or urethane.

Sheet membrane systems

The sheet membrane system is made from cold applied polymer-modified bitumen which is composed of active polymer materials with asphalt and is attached to a polyethylene sheet. These sheets are reinforced on the concrete to make it more waterproof and self-adhering during high temperatures. The sheet membranes are usually stronger and more durable than asphalt when used on its own.…

Lisa Pearson9 years ago04 mins

If you want your child to learn music or even if you want to learn to play an instrument, the piano has always been a classic and a favorite. If you are wondering how you can fit piano lessons into your busy schedule, you may want to consider online lessons as an alternative to going to a piano class.
Why the piano?

The piano is one musical instrument that will always be popular among those who like music. You can entertain your family or guest or even play to help you feel good. We all know that music heals and playing the piano can bring joy to not only oneself but also to those around you.

Why consider online lessonsPiano;

Unlike in the past people do not have much free time with busy jobs that demand a lot of time and other household chores and commitments. For children, the last thing you want is for them to spend time going to and from a music class and not have any free time to study or play with friends. When you learn the piano online, you can arrange your own schedule, and you can learn in the comfort of your home.

Online lessons will give you more freedom to learn at your own pace, and there will be no pressure to perform. You do not have to spend hours on the road in traffic and will feel more relaxed learning at home.
The cost

Traditional piano lessons can cost quite a bit if you take lessons at a studio. However, online classes will only cost a fraction of that and not to mention the money you save on traveling. The time you spend traveling can also be saved to do other more important things.
playing PianoThe piano opens up many opportunities

If you want your child to have a future in music, the piano can give them the best opportunities. There is a lack of children choosing music, and therefore, the trend may be dying. But with online piano lessons you can get your child on his or her way to becoming a musical genius.

the EU army will arm the African "refugees" they are importing now, all the asylum centres are at strategic points in Europe which is why they are often in "random" villages in nowhere land.

They will arm them soon and use them to crush indigenous European resistance and finally the Jew will be victorious.

Its inconsistent and do you really think one person would have this much knowledge in all these fields? He doesn't he just larps.

threads are archived automatically when the original poster reaches the bump limit. so if a thread only has you posting in it it died at 30 posts also if a thread has to little activity since this is a high traffic board the thread dies. its advised to make compilation images with multiple cards if you want to dump them

i blame new janitors for most of the changes that prevent people from having a stable set of rules that result in site wide changes due to people being unwilling to enforce the rules or making up their own and people not realizing things have changed but what i listed are old things

[The image is a digital illustration of a young female character with dark hair styled in pigtails. She has a cheerful expression with her eyes closed and a wide smile. Her mouth is open, and she is making a peace sign with her fingers. She is wearing a pink top with a collar and a pink skirt. The character is set against a blue sky with white clouds. The image has a simple, cartoon-like style, and the character's expression and pose suggest a positive and joyful mood. There are no texts or other discernible objects in the image.]

knob, with its body facing the camera and its head turned slightly to the left. The stove is set against a backdrop of a tiled wall with a white shower curtain partially visible on the right side. The lighting in the room is soft, with the cat's fur appearing to glow with a blue light, which is likely the result of the stove's burners. There are no visible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is candid and humorous, capturing a unique and unexpected moment.]

[The image is a scanned document with a black and white color scheme. It appears to be a page from a book or a report, with text in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-English script. The text is dense and organized into paragraphs, with some sections having headings and subheadings. The font is bold and the text is in a serif font, which is common for formal or academic documents. The document is oriented vertically, with the top and bottom edges of the page being cut off, leaving only the middle section visible. The page number is not visible, and the text is not in a clear, legible font, making it difficult to read the content. The style of the image is typical of a scanned document, as it lacks the clarity and detail that would be present in a printed document.]

Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, etc.

His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere possible. Notice a massive shill operation against Anonymous5 form everywhere his KB information is posted. Feel free to pitch ideas for any changes/additions to this general. I hope we can get a good discussion going :)

[/HATE/: HUNTING ALL TRAFFICKING ENTERPRISES: CITY INVESTIGATIONS]

These generals are for identifying, discussing, mapping, researching and tracking various trafficking networks and enterprises. There is a consistent trend of data showing that networks move though and rely on urban areas, specifically Sanctuary Cities. Feel free to submit tips or contribute with memes, infographs etc.

Trafficking can happen in many forms depending on the product being moved (human, guns, drugs, rare animals/art, organs etc.) and involve many different groups and organizations. We track all types.

Do not encourage violence here, we aren't trying to give them any excuses to shut it down.

Newcomers should pay attention to shills targeting these threads with discrediting/discouraging attempts as well as injection of misinformation and bad leads.

- A "US Spring" into Coup/Civil War is planned for the US to take out Trump & his Admin.
- "Chatter" is happening & things are being planned(Leftists storming the Whitehouse & pulling a Gaddafi on Trump, The Whitehouse getting bombarded by Artillery hidden in Trucks 20-50 miles away from it, the Deep State blowing up the Whitehouse or Assassination).
- Leftist Networks(allied with Islamic Networks), Deep State/Shadow Government forces (Some of the Black Budget funds have went into an Army, designed for COG (Continuity of Government) situations) & Globalists(such as Soros) plan on doing a "Color Revolution" inside the US. It’s going to be Arab Spring & Ukraine style so learning/researching how they were done is going to be quite helpful in/for the future. (http://archive.4plebs.org/pol/thread/113280345/#113280345)
- The Deep State & Globalists are also going to cross each other when it's all over (http://archive.4plebs.org/pol/thread/117550757/#117550757) & with the US Imploded the NAU (North American Union) can then be formed.
- This US Spring plan was going to happen regardless of who won the 2016 Election. It was made as a result of the “Race War” style Civil War plan that was going to happen under/during Obama not escalating/progressing enough.
- Also, Pedophile Operatives inside the Government/Agencies/Military plan to use CP to Compromise everyone (“Good Guys” & “Bad Guys”) inorder to try to start War(while also killing Trump’s admin as “revenge” for taking down the Pedo Networks) by saying “Russia” put the CP on/in the computers.

[24SEP17] THE THREAT OF THE LEFT ID:OC9+XnAK Wed 29 Aug 2018 19:33:24 No.183933363 Report
- The Left is a threat that should be/should have been taken seriously(Much like that crippled guy who showed the Persians the goat path that got the Spartans killed). There are millions of people that got social engineered into expendable/useful pawns for globalists and other interests that want to bring down The West. They are a cult of suicidal zombies.

- The Left took over The West a while ago, now they wage war against anyone who fights back against them.

- Education systems/buildings are nothing but brainwashing/social engineering mosques for The Left, creating more of them by damaging generations.(Left teachers/professors fill the Imam role).

- Governments, corporations & media are all infiltrated by them, which causes society to degrade and collapse under their rule. All 3 are then used for demonizing/attacking anyone who fights back against The Left, to a point where they are jailed if they do fight back against The Left.

- The Left are backed by powerful organizations/figures that want to bring down The West(Such as Soros). They have no problems getting massive numbers for marches/riots/protests, being violent & going after peoples lives if they are going against them. The Left have connections to Islamic groups, so expect Islamic style attacks being done by/with them in the near future.

- When an actual resistance to The Left wins/fights back against them, The Left creates a mass "resistance" force to crush/defeat them, which is then supported by celebs, social media/MSM & globalist backers, and even some Intel agencies.

- The Left has already destroyed generations & when push comes to shove in a civil war scenario in The West, they will kill alot of people immediately. (The Left has kill/hit lists that are circulating around the networks/organizations they have.)

- Not taking The Left seriously as a threat has caused The West to be on its deathbed culturally, population wise, spiritually & society wise.

- Sanctuary Cities have allowed Terrorist groups to set up without any effort required.

- Sanctuary Cities + an Unsecured US southern border have allowed ISIS to have a expansive network stretching from South America all the way to Canada.

- Sanctuary Cities are a security threat that has allowed for a Trojan Horse operation the size that can only be rivaled by the EU "Refugee" crisis to occur.

- Sanctuary Cities are also used by the Dem party to change demographics to their favor. (Notice which places Hillary won, in relation to Sanctuary Cities, and also notice where those Sanctuary Cities are in relation to any terror incidents and cover ups("Gas Leaks", etc)).

- Waco was a cover up in relation to child trafficking/sex rings, but not in the way you immediately think.

- The Waco Compound & the "cult" that was in it was part of a "underground railroad" type network that was saving children from Elite child sex rings in the US and getting them to safety.

- With that being said, that explains the significant response(to the point of sending in tanks & burning the place down & shooting everyone one inside to death) against the "cult"/Compound & the following coverup.

- Many, many more children died in that compound then what was officially reported.(Shot,burn't,crushed) It was a clean up operation.

- Waco was televised so much inorder to send a message to similar child saving networks.

- Bill Clinton was president and ordered the attacks.

[The image shows two ancient artifacts displayed on a white shelf against a pale yellow background. The larger artifact on the left is a statue of a figure with a long, flowing dress and a headdress. The figure's body is adorned with intricate patterns and designs, and it has a prominent, elongated neck. The statue's head is crowned with a headdress that appears to be made of a dark material, possibly bronze or a similar metal. The figure's arms are outstretched, and it holds a small, round object in its left hand. The smaller artifact on the right is a statue of a figure with a more stylized and simplified design. This figure is wearing a dress that is more structured and has a more geometric pattern. The figure's head is adorned with a small, circular headdress. The statue's arms are outstretched, and it holds a small, round object in its right hand. Both statues have a weathered appearance, suggesting they are old and have been exposed to the elements for a significant amount of time. There are no visible texts or inscriptions on the statues. The style of the image is a straightforward photograph, with a focus on the artifacts and their details. The lighting is even, and the background is not blurred, allowing the viewer to clearly see the artifacts.]

(In comparison if you try to spread the KB information or whatever has been covered in these KB threads, you get stonewalled and censored.)

- "Q" is a Pied Piper designed to lead/brainwash/social engineer very gullible people over a cliff and is not a threat to the system because it's part of the system. The information is considered "safe" and the MAGA/Q movement/followers/boomers/cult are not a concern because they are just pawns.

Was J.P. Morgan as bad as the other globalists like Rockefeller and Rothschild? I've always noticed how so little attention is/was paid to them.
The Globalist Endgame ID:OC9+XnAK Wed 29 Aug 2018 20:40:37 No.183939453 Report
This is the Globalist Endgame plan:

1) [Destruction of Family, Race, Sex, Sanity, Culture/History, Reproduction,etc]

(This is already pro-actively being done by various methods & groups to dehumanize Humanity by making it a bunch of drones that have, create & are Nothing.)

2) [Ending of Religion & Physical Currency]

(All Religions are ended inorder to establish/create a World Religion of Technology to push & pave the way for Trans-humanism. Physical Currency's are phased out in favor of Digital Currency to make it so Humanity can never "hold" its value/worth.)

3) [Trans-Humanism]

(Merging of Man & Machine is very important to the Globalist Endgame plans.Trans-humanism(AI/Robots/Cyborgs/Artificial Wombs/Bio-Mechanical) allows Globalists to live on, create Army's & control the direction/fate of Humanity. HR Giger was killed due to what he showed.)

4) [Global Government & Elimination of Humanity]

(Global Government is established & the planet is divided into "zones" that Globalists control(Agenda 21 & 24 are part of this). Humanity's numbers(this also includes Non-vital/important Globalists & Globalist personnel) are then reduced from few to 0 due to Bioweapons & Robots/AI/Cyborgs/Bio-Mechanical.)

5) ["Battle/War of the Gods"]

(Globalists engage in massive conflict/battle with Army's & Weapons to see who deserves to "ascend". After the "deserving ones" are figured out and get to the Crafts/Ships, the Earth is then purged of any & all remaining life that the conflict/battle didn't wipe out.)

6) ["Ascension to the Stars"]

(Surviving Globalists use special Craft/Ships to leave the Earth and go into Space, some of the Crafts/Ships have Seed & Genetic Vaults)

Frank was proven to use proxies with a VPN in order to bump and post and pose as fans in his own threads in order to get his larp going, he does have some knowledge as an individual but he refuses to drop the larp, he refuses to explain the proof and defaults to calling anyone against him a shill knowing this, makes the Frank meme incredibly funny to me, it's nothing but laughs with this dude, I hope it never ends. I'd respect him more if he made his threads as an individual for discussions instead, but I suppose it keeps things interesting that he keeps on with it

2)do you ever sleep? :)
3)"real" Tech is much more advanced than the stuff we have. can you tell us what kind of computer you use to browse 4chan? :D
4)do holodecks exist? 4b)are they likeVR?
5) in a previos thread you mentioned that cities are like power generators. what do you mean by that? a)the people are used to create "mementic" things (e.g. kek)? b) like real power/electricity c) for easy acces to people that can be dissapeared and used for whatever purposes? d) lush e)something else

People have to make the effort to spread the info and talk about the virus on shows. Don't be afraid of calling it what it is, a bioweapon/virus.

Use "meme magic" and resonance to get everyone looking at what feminism really is.

>>184062825
Change the name and the picture if needed.

>>184062988
A big reason why many are hesitant to talk about it is that they might be concerned that they are infected with the virus themselves because they had many questionable sexual partners that might have given it to them.

The fact that people like Roosh are not talking about it and instead promoting ways to have more sexual partners is going to cause more infection rates.

Something that doesn't have the pyramid in the OP image and that doesn't have A5 in the title might work then I think.

1. Is SIDS due to the infant being infected and the virus suddenly terminating their life?

2. Would an autopsy on a baby who died from SIDS show evidence of the virus?

3. Are all SIDS cases that can't be explained because of the virus?

[The image is a close-up of a stylized face with a green background. The face features two large, expressive eyes that are closed, and the eyebrows are drawn in a curved, downward direction. The eyes are outlined in black, and the skin tone of the face is a vibrant green. The image has a cartoonish, simplistic style, with no additional text or discernible details. The overall impression is one of a simple, unembellished face, possibly intended to evoke a sense of calm or contemplation.]

Racemixing is the only true way to end a race. The only problem is that you won't see success until at least 2 generations. Consistent dilution en masse, combined with the fact that people die, means the old pure raced individuals die out and the targeted race will eventually exist as 1/4 of someone's genes.

Is it possible men who get into pick up artists stuff and travel the world looking for women are possibly infected/transmitters?

Its not hard to find women where you are why the drive to spread yourself to other races/cultures

I guess theres the pheromones things too women have that leave a scent trail.
Alot of these men are actually looking for uninfected females without realizing it,
They all talk about how vile and disgusting feminists are and they are looking for the opposite PLUS they are all reporting it getting worse where they traveled compared to 10 or 15 years ago
I feel bad for south east asia there are alot of sex pest tourists over there fucking everything with a hole in it regardless if theres a dick attached to it or not as long as it has tits and a skirt they are getting stuck in.

[The image is a stylized, pixelated representation of a character that resembles the popular internet meme character, Pepe the Frog. Pepe is depicted with a green body, large eyes, and a small, round head. In the foreground, there is a close-up of a gun with a brass-colored barrel and a black, metallic slide. The slide is positioned in the center of the image, with the barrel extending outward. The background is blurred, with a soft, gradient color that transitions from a lighter shade at the top to a darker shade at the bottom. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and humorous, with a focus on the character's distinctive features and the juxtaposition of a gun with a frog's face.]

I hate to say muh joos but really, it's the jews. White women, the standard for the spread of feminism among western women, are being a false sense of entitlement and value.

There's no femin virus going around, it's simply the direct effect of women gaining prominence and thusly growing arrogant, entitled, dumbed down with a fake sense of security and the growing emasculation of men.

Who is behind women, particularly white women, gaining power in all facets of work life? Jews. Giving women this power unchecked leads into women giving women preference for jobs everywhere, further upsetting the balance.

Women are stupid. Jews are sly. How do you topped a white nation, anywhere in the world? Give the weakest link every resource she needs to gain power and watch her destroy everything that nation holds dear.

You don't even need to look at North America for this anymore, there are better examples if it in Germany and Sweden. Soon France and England will fall, too. There's no virus. It's women and jews.

No drastic change like that comes down to reading a book on karl marx or hearing a few liberal talking points neither does the idea that being a woman is easy mode "so im going to wear a dress and suck dicks."

Something is clearly fucking wrong here and the virus explains it

How to spot the infection
Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia,transgender, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues , stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc
Let me break down the different spectrum categories:

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

Just do some research into corporations that do precision optics for military and industrial clients. Some of them make actual gear like goggles, masks, even some kinds of glasses that utilize special lenses. Chinese police now are starting to use a variant with electronic scanners that apparently isn't too expensive (around $600 each).

Hey Greatgrandpa5, it's been a while since I caught a live thread.

Your femin virus info has really made me think and worry at the same time (am I infected/transmitter?). I just started dating again and meeting women and the amount of potentially infected I see even in Eastern Europe is crazy.

1) Are tatoos on women a likely indicator similar to piercings and hair? This is my suspicion, but I haven't seen anyone talk about it. Maybe tatoos in general?

2) Have you considered going onto something like Joe Rogan's podcast yourself and exposing things you post? This wouldn't cause ripples, it would be a tsunami.

Or is the risk too high?

3) Your idea about taking women's vote away is pretty radical and I was opposed to it at first, but warmed up to it over time. The non-infected don't seem to be interested in politics etc. anyway. I wonder how do you justify that inequality? Seems like a basic right, I can't even imagine how to persuade men to go back to the good ol' days :)

Ask how many children they want to have.

See what they think of men in general.

Also interesting to see feral vs domesticated.

What scares me are the ones that don't exhibit obvious signs in appearance, but children/men questioning should/already have exposed some

Before the thread ends, can you answer some of my questions?

1) If vaccines don't work and cause autism, then what's the best way to protect children from harmful diseases?

2) In your last thread, you said thatvthe Mueller Investigation now serves as a "storm cloud" over Trump's head. How can we "put out the storm", so to say?

3) Explain how the Cult of Q will commit mass suicide. Will Q direct them to, or will the Q-Boomers kill themselves without Q's "permission"?

3a) If all of the Q-Boomers off themselves, what will happen to his containment board? Archived as a part of internet history? Removed for the sake of humanity? Purged to make sure nothing like "Q" ever happens again?

4) The Left always uses a picture of Captain America punching Adolf Hitler as a way to justify their manhunt against the MAGA Movement. Well, in their beloved MCU, Cap is a devote Christian and a traditional conservative who is formally against big government tyranny and corruption. Any thoughts on this?

4a) What were the Sokovia Accords supposed to represent? Superhero Registration Act? That "Mark of the Beast" barcode conspiracy?

5) A far-left Youtuber [forgot his name, think it had Mao in the username] has come under fire recently for stating that the Far-Left's "LE EBIN REBOLUTION XDDDD" won't work unless they appeal to the white working class. Is he onto something?

6) Unrelated question, but does JK Rowling know about the Femin Virus? I've seen plenty of snake symbolization in her books and movies. What do you think?

7) Can you give us a hint for the next Knowledge Bomb?

Nice.

Anyway, look as far as Anon5 is concerned, if you're infected, you ought to be or will be killed. He doesn't want to give you the signs because it will make it harder for him and his kill teams to sweep up if you know you're a marked man.

Anyway, keep in mind that other factions on his level don't agree with this idea and while their ideas aren't better (do you really want to be a part of a technological hivemind?), he isn't your friend.

When people ask about the good guys? Notice that he says they're around. Take to heart the wording and understand that he is NOT a good guy and the things that he wants are not in your best interest.

Let me break down the different spectrum categories:

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

Greenland is the birthplace of the primordial "white" race that lived there when the Earth's axis was tilted more towards the sun. This primordial race which lived in near continuous daylight and worshipped the sun. When the Earth's axis shifted towards our current procession, there was a global climate shift that started the Ice Age and forced this race to migrate South and Eastwards, seeding many ancient civilizations with myths of a white race that came from the "North" or the "West".

One of the ancient symbols left over by this primordial race is the swastika, which can be found in many cultures.

Hate to be the slayer of fake news, but there are no such things as "viruses".

Viruses are a fabrication of well-known fraudster louis pasteur, who concocted the fiction so that the french govt at that time had cause to round up (quarantine) citizens without lawful cause and often murder them.

The so-called "electron microscope" images are just as fake as the space photos...and the fictional premise behind a virus and the way it works would ensure that anyone 'infected' by one would die.

What does exist:

- Bacteria
- Fungi
- Parasites

Meant to ask you these questions during the last "Logic Bomb" thread a few minutes ago, but the thread got archived before you could answer them. Might as well ask them here since I'm early.

1) If vaccines don't work and cause autism, then what's the best way to protect children from harmful diseases?

2) In your last thread, you said thatvthe Mueller Investigation now serves as a "storm cloud" over Trump's head. How can we "put out the storm", so to say?

3) Explain how the Cult of Q will commit mass suicide. Will Q direct them to, or will the Q-Boomers kill themselves without Q's "permission"?

3a) If all of the Q-Boomers off themselves, what will happen to his containment board? Archived as a part of internet history? Removed for the sake of humanity? Purged to make sure nothing like "Q" ever happens again?

4) The Left always uses a picture of Captain America punching Adolf Hitler as a way to justify their manhunt against the MAGA Movement. Well, in their beloved MCU, Cap is a devote Christian and a traditional conservative who is formally against big government tyranny and corruption. Any thoughts on this?

4a) What were the Sokovia Accords supposed to represent? Superhero Registration Act? That "Mark of the Beast" barcode conspiracy?

5) A far-left Youtuber [forgot his name, think it had Mao in the username] has come under fire recently for stating that the Far-Left's "LE EBIN REBOLUTION XDDDD" won't work unless they appeal to the white working class. Is he onto something?

6) Which "New Right" celebrity would be the most open to hearing about your KB Information and the most likely to help spread it around? Judging from your previous posts, I'd say that BlackPigeonSpeaks would be the most likely candidate to spread your KB's when asked to. Am I on the right track?

6) Unrelated question, but does JK Rowling know about the Femin Virus? I've seen plenty of snake symbolization in her books and movies. What do you think?

Other than ensuring they eat healthy diets, clean/filtered water, avoid pharma, avoid processed foods, use iodine supplement they'll be fine. The immune system God created for us works remarkably well.

Also, positive state of mind / avoidance of stress, will ensure overall health. While under stress, your immune system and certain digestive functions are suspended to give you more resources for fight or flight...read the Bible and accept Jesus into your life to alleviate all stress.

2) Is the Daily Stormer controlled opposition designed to lure in and eventually track down gullible white people who feel like they have no place in society?

>The third part of this unholy trinity of sexual revolution was Playboy's Hugh Hefner. Hefner eagerly financed both the Kinsey Institute and Planned Parenthood in his effort as to promote mass promiscuity, which created the need for Planned Parenthood's birth control and abortion services.

>The Rockefeller Foundation was a major funding source for pedophile Kinsey. In his 1948 book, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male," Kinsey naturally claimed proof that children are sexual from birth and unharmed by sex with adults. He even showed his "proof" on five tables timing the alleged "orgasms" from serial sexual abuse and rapes of children as young as 2 months old. (The babies and children screamed, fainted and/or convulsed during the abuse; Kinsey, an S&M bi-homosexual pedophile, called these reactions "orgasms.")

[The image is a black and white line drawing that depicts a stylized human head with a large, empty space where the brain would typically be. Above the head, there is a sign with text that reads "BOTTOMLESS PIT." The sign is attached to a stick, which is inserted into the empty space of the head. The stick has a small, circular end, and the text on the sign is written in a casual, handwritten style. The drawing is simple and cartoon-like, with a focus on the humor of the phrase "BOTTOMLESS PIT" and the absurdity of the sign being inserted into the brain.]

But yes, if it could be ionically bonded with something such as sodium or potassium that could allow it to be undergo passive transport in the cell if I'm not mistaken and allow it to enter the body easier. Correct me if I'm wrong lol a bit rusty. I plan on starting medical school and specializing in ID btw

Yeah ion channels are way too small for a virus to fit through, even most proteins couldn't fit as far as I know. So they wouldn't be taken up with the rest of the ions. You're talking about a 0.2 micron object fitting in a pore that holds 1-2 atoms at a time

Yeah that's what we talked about at first when A5 said it was in the DNA- the lysogenic dormant phase allows it to be reverse transcribed and stored in the DNA long term, making it harder to eradicate and easier to pass over generations. That's how we knew it was a retrovirus or similar Ohh ok, I understand. These viral proteins are expressed in the infected cell and are brought to the cellular membrane. There, they can help create changes in the membrane potential which can help viruses escape from vesicles, create microenvironments more favorable to their structure, induce them to bring in more viruses, etc.

The viruses don't actually fit IN the ion channels (as I thought you were asking), rather encode them in their genetic material for use in forcing the cell's machinery to do their bidding.
So yes, the FV could have something like this for increased uptake.

Yeah I have 2 degrees in molecular bio, plus like to read papers but I'll admit the classes were really helpful in understanding structures and how macromolecules act.

I dont know if this is useful or not but breaking down words by their syllables can be very revealing as well to their true meaning, origin, connections, etc.
There's certain major syllables/sounds, similar to like constanants in letters when writing/grammar, that make up the majority of words in the english language
For example, the sound "my" has the most words that rhyme with it.

I've accumulated some more questions.

1) I know this is an rhetorical question, but bear with me: Was the Jacksonville Shooting a false flag?

2) Was David Katz a patsy for the shooting, much like James Fields during the Charlottesville Challenger Incident?

3) What was the Jacksonville Shooting trying to distract from? Were people starting to "wake up", so to say?

4) Speaking of Florida, Ron DeSantis, the GOP Candidate for Governor to replace Rick Scott, is in a lot of trouble. Apparently, he said something along the lines of "we can't monkey this up" when referring to his black opponent, Andrew Gillum. Did the MSM take the "monkey this up" quote out of context?

5) If the answer to No. 4 is "yes", then why exactly is the MSM working so hard to slander him? Is Ron a threat to the Establishment / Deep State? Or, is this whole scandal just an act for the camera, much like in that South Park episode where John McCain and Obama were revealed to be friends working for the same "Deep State" team?

6) Unrelated questions, but is there any purpose behind the reCAPTCHA's besides "security purposes"?

I used to watch videos about Deceptive Language, it's very interesting to me where words/phrases come from and why we say them all the time, and if we're doing things like social engineering ourselves when we repeatedly use them and associate them with other ideas.
And the idea of Admiralty Maritime Law being woven into a lot of what we say is also interesting, not sure how far that extends.

I'm particularly interested in how the viral intasome would target specific sections of our DNA (besides just the active genes) and the receptors it uses to enter. I think one of the reasons it is impossible to cure is that it uses receptors that are important for cell survival, although the idea that some people are completely immune is interesting (probably still have the main receptor but not a necessary co-receptor like CCR5 in HIV-immune patients).
This is also important to figuring out how the virus could target OXT-secreting cells. I'd like to know the genome size if A5 will say, maybe he can give us that info from the documents he saw. Or maybe the genome is normal-sized but the splice variation library is enormous.

Next topic: Big Trouble in Little New England

1) Elizabeth Warren has been gaining a lot of coverage from the MSM lately. Is she planning to run for President in 2020 or something?

1a) Is Elizabeth Warren really a Native American, or did she lie about that to gain more votes in Massachusetts Senate Elections?

2) Because of the possibility that Warren is planning to run for President, a Republican named John Kingston is trying to take her place. A former Never-Trumper, John now seems to be riding the coattails of the MAGA wave, calling for the "defunding of sanctuary cities" and the "deportation of all illegal aliens". Why did he change from anti to pro-Trump so quickly? Is he controlled opposition?

3) Another candidate in the 2018 Massachusetts State Election is Shiva Ayyadurai, an actual Indian. He's posted several alt-right / Groyper memes on his Twitter profile in the past, and he seems to be fully aware of the lies of the MSM. Is he /ourguy/, or is Shiva controlled opposition?

4) Is there anything special about New England that makes it important to globalist groups?

I remember lurking in some of your threads a while back and saw that conjecture of yours. I'm positive that is one of the steps of the mechanism of action for this virus, and yeah the genome size would definitely help if A5 even revealed if it's big or small lol. In addition oxytocin cell signaling is something I know is fucked with in things such as fetishes and maybe the type of & shape pf receptors (based on race) for oxt determine immunity, resistance, etc. Nonetheless I need to brush up on microbiology & cellular bio to get on your level haha >type of & shape pf receptors (based on race) for oxt determine immunity, resistance, etc.

Maybe something of the case if there are patterns among the races. White people have less melanocortin than other races so that may have something to do with it through sexuality and the oxytocin/serotonin mechanisms.
I don't know if there is a much different structure for oxytocin or its receptor between the races. Maybe R-selective races have less optimal/functioning oxytocin releases for muted bonding, allowing them to have more offspring they care less about. Then the Army/CIA would have had to create a virus specific to the shape of their OXT/OXTR to do damage but I'd think lower OXT would make them succumb more easily to femin.
If it's integrating in the regulatory components that might not matter as much. There has to be another layer besides just amount of oxytocin and where the receptors are expressed but I'm not sure exactly what it is yet.

[The image shows a large, weathered stone sculpture of a face with a prominent, open mouth. The sculpture appears to be made of a light-colored stone, possibly limestone, and has a rough texture. The face is carved with a simple, geometric design, featuring a large, flat forehead and a small, triangular chin. The eyes are not visible, and the mouth is open, suggesting a sense of surprise or shock. The sculpture is surrounded by greenery, with what appears to be a dense forest or wooded area in the background. There are red flowers growing in the foreground, adding a splash of color to the scene. The background is blurred, drawing focus to the sculpture, but it suggests a natural, outdoor setting. There are no visible texts or inscriptions on the sculpture, and the style of the image is a straightforward, non-stylized photograph with a focus on the sculpture itself. The lighting is natural, and the overall mood of the image is serene and contemplative.]

This is really true and a reason for why the West is as it is now.
Once we build things, we give/sell them away in empathy. Then we let pathogenic altruism tell us that everyone else deserves what we created, and they don't know how to use it, waste resources, beg for more, never bother to learn more or improve it (in general).
You can't help a chick out of its egg or it gets too dependent and can't do anything for itself.
Much as I'd love aliens or other humans to swoop down and give us a bunch of tech, we need Natural Selection/Free Market to push through problems & bad genetics, it's the only long-term solution

My question is how was the white man even convinced to take in slaves? Was it a globalist agenda pushed initiative or just the norm back then?

Here are a bunch of questions that you "skipped over" from your last KB. Might as well ask them here.

First Topic: The New Right

1) Back in January whenever someone tried to post a left-wing cringe thread, there was always this Commie memeflag who stormed into the thread and ruined it by spamming it with "pro-Trump neckbeards". Why?

2) Are these "pro-Trump neckbeard" photos staged by Leftists to make the Right look bad?

3) What exactly is "Kekistan", and why exactly is it used to make the MAGA Movement look bad? Controlled opposition? Leftist infiltration?

4) Is Sargoy of Mossad controlled opposition / an undercover leftist? Don't be vague with this one, I want a concise answer to see who in the New Right Movement is real and who is not.

5) What about Lauren Southern? Is she controlled opposition too? Is she just used to pacify the Right with her "beauty" and prevent them from doing anything?

6) How exactly will the Cult of Q transform into a religious cult? Will the Q-Boomers make a "Holy Bible" of Q transcripts and sell it around the Internet?

6a) When should we expect an actual "Church of Q", where Boomers come to worship the mysterious Q-Anon?

6b) I know you hate him and worry for the safety of his cult, but is there anything about Q-Anon that you admire?

Also, you forgot to answer these questions:

This.

I don't know if I would have given it the time of day except after being through the HTG, ATG, threads and the attack at the concert, bridge, bombs in NJ (gas explosions), and WW2 bombs.

I have to admit that I 100% lend credibility to the stuff A5 brings up.
Because of that it's easier to swallow this kind of pill.

Thinking about how our bodies form in the womb and how quickly we grow from 0days to birth also let me know how much a body can shift/change/mutate/grow.

>>183881622
Speaking of.
1) Why do we induce birth at 9months, is it to force a premature birth?

2) new doctors just don't know anymore?

3) If my wife were to have a child that stayed longer than 9 'months and they want to induce labor...? It sounds like we should refuse and go else where for a natural birth.

Next Topic: What Kind of Lame Party is This?

1) What do you know about the "Serve America Movement" party? It was formed months after Trump was inaugurated, and it was made to attract "moderate Republicans" and "centrist Democrats". To make a long story short, S.A.M. is a neo-con, war-mongering political party who wants to continue the degenerate slippery slope started by President Obama. Any thoughts on S.A.M.?

2) What is the purpose behind the "P.O.R.P. Party"? Standing for "Party of Reason and Progress", P.O.R.P. is basically Leddit if it were a political party. The P.O.R.P. platform is basically "Rick and Morty"-pseudoscience and "Orange Man Bad". Any thoughts on them?

3) Another lesser-known political party is the Constitution Party, a paleoconservative, pro-Christian and pro-Western political party. There pro-Western and pro-tradition rhetoric sounds a little too good to be true, don't you think? Is the Constitution Party controlled opposition?

4) One of my biggest fears moving forward is that instead of the basic Republican and Democrat system, the S.A.M. and the DSA will become the two major political parties. Is there any chance of that happening, or is that just an irrational fear of mine that will never happen in a million years?

5) If the Left regains control over the Senate, will they repeal the "Communist Control Act of 1954", allowing for the CPUSA to come out from hiding and into local elections?

5a) Just to be sure, if the Left wins in November, will they try to repeal the First and Second Amendment?

6) Apparently, Patrick Little is running for President in 2020.... under the Democratic ticket! Any thoughts on this?

7) Is Paul Nehlen still running to take Paul Ryan's seat, or has he dropped out because he has no way of communicating with his base?

Lets be realistic about geopolitics within the last hundred years. Even with advancing technology and interconnectivity, conflicts still arise as ethnic or social(eg communism) nationalism causes serious conflicts. Improving technology only makes these conflicts get worse. Not only that, but these problems are ruining America as we have to babysit a world that rejects us while turncoats within our nation try to turn us into the very international system we created despite the fact that that system only works so long as we are different from it. Well, what if there's a solution. A solution mitigates this problem so that humanity can conquer outer space without old grievences getting in the way and bringing earthy conflicts to the stars. A solution that prevents potential enemy aliens from dividing humans against each other when we're out taking what's rightfully ours without us having to try to give up our identities and submit under some sort of universal government that'll be plagued with the shortcommings such systems always have.

Well guess what, there's a solution. A clever solution that keeps all the little groups around without allowing sectarian/racial/ethnic nationalism from tearing everything asunder. Here's what it is: only America gets to conquer outer space. The rest of the world must stay behind and see the sky as the limit. America and/or an offshoot of it gets to conquer the skies. How's this done? Well, here's the simple answer:

1) Multiculturalism needs to be pushed hard in, and only in, ALL FOREIGN COUNTRIES(except Israel) that are(or have been in the last 100 years) powerful. This will make nationalism much harder for the filthy foreigners to use to stop us.

2) Israel gets really special treatment. Since its very good at projecting soft power and the Jewish people have a long history of being able to work within foreign powers and side with those powers' establishments, strengthening Israel would allow all forms of ethnic/social/sectarian nationalism within foreign nations to be weakened. Israel must be allowed to basically rule the world(besides, God said it belongs to them) but won't get to rule all of mankind(Americans will be mostly in space). Basically, everything on earth that isn't the United States will be controlled, via soft or hard power, by Israel.

3) America must leave the Outer Space Treaty and ensure that no one else gets to launch people into space. Even if this means acts of war against Russia and China. The ESA must be forced to disband and its funds must be re-directed to pushing diversity and multiculturalism in Europe.

4) The UK must be left behind by force if necessary. Fuck those assholes

5) China must be thrown into chaos along with Russia. Those bastards need to be chained to to terra firma.

6) Only America gets to speak for earth if we come into contact with space aliens. Attempts to divide and conquer humans must result in severe punishment for anyone who tries to fuck with America.

7) Limited immigration to the United States should be allowed to ensure brain drain and keep foreign powers weakened.

Multiculturalism needs to be pushed in foreign countries not in the 'melting pot' form but in the fill-europe-with-enclaves form so that Europe is so paralyzed that any attempts at nationalism, communism, etc are met with ethnic conflict that can be easily controlled. Divide-and-conquer is a must so that we don't have filthy French and Germans starting another war with each other is space.

This isn't just the best solution for humanity, its also what's best for America and American superiority over the Old World scum.

Now, it's time for some miscellaneous questions before the thread gets archived for the night.

1) How can entire governments be aware of the Femin Virus, but not their intelligence branches? Are the supposed "intelligence branches" metaphorically retarded in a sense?

2) Is Rule 34 / Porn the only thing keeping Overwatch alive? Is the Overwatch porn just Blizzard doing some self-promotion?

3) What about Fortnite? What do you know about that game, and why does ir attract cringey 13-year olds?

4) Speaking of cringe, what was the purpose behind the Youtube Red "boxing match" between Logan Paul and KSI? What was it trying to distract from?

4a) How long would you say will the Paul Brothers remain in the spotlight? They are losing steam very fast, and I have a hunch that they're destined to be another flash in the pan, and a footnote in Youtube history.

5) Why did /leftypol/ choose a character FROM A LITERAL SOVIET PROPAGANDA POSTER [Porky] as their boogeyman? Are they that stupid, or is /leftypol/ controlled by the Feds in some shape or form?

6) I know you don't care for this game, and this question has no relevance to anything "redpilled", but bear with me. I want an actual answer this time, and not a "shrug-off" like you do with Gravity Falls related questions [I don't give a shit about a children's game]. Well, here it goes.

6-1) What is the purpose behind Disney's Toontown Online? I have a hunch that it's secretly promoting furry / bestiality shit and neo-Communist-type messages [law and order is evil and boring, fun and games are good]. What do you think?

6a) Why was Toontown cancelled by Disney? Was it just not making enough money, or was it shut down for more sinister reasons?

6b) Is it right that I'm sympathizing with the Cogs [the business-based antagonists who simply want to sell products to their customers and uphold the law] over the chaotic Toons who want to rid Toontown of all signs of order?

But, before we get neck-deep in info, we need to go over a few questions.

>Hey, who is this Anonymous5 fellow anyway?
Anonymous5 is someone who is very good with power structures that releases snippets of information periodically. His Knowledge Bombs provide intel on several topics of covert operations and hidden knowledge, in an attempt to bring about a positive change. His plans of action range from supporting the American right, preventing the spread of terror organizations and weak immigration policies worldwide, bringing down evil globalist systems, revealing the lies in Mainstream Media, exposing the Feminism bioweapon, combating human trafficking worldwide, et cetera.

>And why is this important?
His information is crucial to spread not only in /pol/, but anywhere humanly possible. However, be wary of anti-A5 shill campaigns as you spread Knowledge Bomb intel. A massive shill operation is going on against Anonymous5 as we speak.

>Wait, a Feminist Bioweapon? What kind of drugs are you on?
I can assure you that I'm not on any drugs. Feminism is not just an ideology, but it is a deadly virus. Better yet, Feminism is a bioweapon specially designed to destroy humanity by poisoning and infecting the only thing capable of recreating humanity:

Women.

>Interesting. Where can I find more of this Knowledge Bomb information?

Watch out for any of these symptoms: Wanting to destroy the family and men, hatred of children, wanting(and doing) killing of babies along with abortion, sexual/gender confusion, increase rates of homosexuality, pedophilia, bestiality, necrophilia, transgenderism, various disturbing fetishes, cannibalism, wanting to destroy whites, social castes like social insects in large numbers, SIDS, miscarriages, fertility issues, stillborn's, wanting to attack and fuck the un-infected, obsession with things like snakes, sexual promiscuity(large numbers of partners), etc

There are nine categories you have to consider when discussing the Femin Virus. Here, I'll break down the different spectrum categories

Immune(People that cannot be infected by the virus)

Non-Infected(People that don't have the virus and can be infected)

Resistant(People that the virus has trouble infecting, but are not immune to being infected)

Hosts(People that have the virus)

Carriers(People that have the virus, but is dormant for long periods of time or even generations without showing any signs of infection. Some types of carriers can spread it)

Transmitters(People that are being used by the virus to spread it, but are not fully/completely infected)

Infected(People infected by the virus)

HiveMind/Colony Castes(Similar to social insects. Queens, Drones, Workers, Soldiers, Majors, Super Majors, Kings, etc)

Mutation(physical changes to all body systems)

I've wondered the same thing.
My hope/thought is I must be resistant.

If I am somehow infected; I have 0 urge to spread it and instead want to eventually settle down and have many kids with an uninflected good woman.

In the end Anon, whether you are or not.
The choice is still the same.

Fight the infection, or rollover and let your world/country/family be destroyed.

Holy shit, you actually responded in one of these! From when I first saw it, I thought that this thread was gonna get archived after the few first posts.

1) Terry Davis. A schizophrenic computer developer, but also an meta-joke here on /pol/. According to his family, he "passed away" earlier today. This leaves me with one question: Did the CIA Niggers / Glow-In-The-Darkies finally get him?

2) If we're in the middle of playing metaphorical Jenga against the Femin Deep State, how do we topple their tower? Was exposing Starbucks a good start?

3) In the last Red Pill thread, you said that the next KB was going to be about "false flags". Can you get into more detail about this?

3a) Will your next KB go over some infamous false flags and how they were done....

4) I can see the transformation of Cult of Q from an online hangout to an actual religion in realtime. How can we stop this?

5) How can we save the DNC from becoming CPUSA 2.0? That is, assuming that Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez was only a "test-run" to see how socialism would work with the DNC, of course.

I tried to ask you these questions during the last Red Pill thread, but you "looked over them". Might as well ask them again.

1) Do you have any thoughts on the "Serve America Movement" party? It was formed months after Trump was inaugurated, and it was made to attract "moderate Republicans" and "centrist Democrats". To make a long story short, S.A.M. is a neo-con, war-mongering political party who wants to continue the degenerate slippery slope started by President Obama. Any info on S.A.M.?

2) What is the purpose behind the "P.O.R.P. Party"? Standing for "Party of Reason and Progress", P.O.R.P. is basically Leddit if it were a political party. The P.O.R.P. platform is basically "Rick and Morty"-pseudoscience and "Orange Man Bad". Any thoughts on them?

3) Another lesser-known political party is the Constitution Party, a paleoconservative, pro-Christian and pro-tradition political party. Despite how good all that sounds, I can't help but feel that something is "off" about them. Is the Constitution Party controlled opposition?

4) One of my biggest fears moving forward is that instead of the basic Republican and Democrat system, the S.A.M. and the DSA will become the two major political parties. Is there any chance of that happening, or is that just an irrational fear of mine that will never happen in a million years?

5) If the Left regains control over the Senate, will they repeal the "Communist Control Act of 1954", allowing for the CPUSA to come out from hiding and into local elections?

5a) Just to be sure, if the Left wins in November, will they try to repeal the First and Second Amendment?

6) Apparently, Patrick Little is running for President in 2020.... under the Democratic ticket! Any thoughts on this?

7) Is Paul Nehlen still running to take Paul Ryan's seat, or has he dropped out because he has no way of communicating with his base?

1a) Why do I feel that you sounded angry while typing that? Is it just how I ask my questions? To put things in terms of that "damn cartoon you don't care about", am I acting like Dipper Pines, obessing over Stanford Pines [you] and his journals [your KB's], constantly trying to win over his attention and nagging him in hopes of getting the answer behind all the secrets of Gravity Falls [the answer to life and everything]? It's not the Jews who are behind everything. You're falling for the Jewish Conspiracy Psy-Op. I'll paste it down below:

Knowledge Bomb. The "Jewish Conspiracy" Psy-Op Anonymous5 !!9O2tecpDHQ6 ID:o8B4EYLQ Tue 10 Jan 2017 20:32:00 No.106530390 View
The "Jewish Conspiracy" Psy-op is designed to do several things:

1) Gets people/researchers to over-focus on the Jewish Globalists/individuals, allowing for the rest of the Globalist Systems to operate with much less people looking at/for them/knowing about them. (It should also be pointed out that for Globalist Groups that hate the Jewish ones, this allows them to get crowd sourced research about them & generate bad PR about them in general)

2) It tricks people/researchers into thinking the Jewish Globalists "control the world" and have much larger power/influence in the Globalist Community then they actually do.

3) Brainwashes people/researchers to be obsessed about Jews("It must be the jews/Israel who are doing this!") to a point where they attack anyone with different opinions.(Calling/accusing people of being "Jews","Zionists", "kikes", etc) to a point where they've become Islamic without them realizing it. Also it creates a conditioning to shrug off things and get tunnel visioned/magnifying glassed("The jews did it, if you think otherwise you are a Jew") in research & opinion.

4) Allows Non-Jewish Globalist groups to use(at lower levels) there own Jewish groups/individuals to distract the researchers/people obsessed about Jews into thinking they've found a/the "Jew" network. In some cases they simply use Jewish people to push agendas, and people will randomly try to connect them to other Jews simply because they are Jews.

5) Poisons the Well in places of Research(Such as 4chan) by making them circlejerk about "The Jews" & with some help of Anti-Jew psy-ops creates Censorship opportunities(For instance you can label places as "Nazi's" and get them shut down/suppressed).

Radiation kills and causes cancer. Depends on the kind of mutations caused. Ionizing radiation can cause cancer by disrupting DNA. If you get doses of this that disrupt your DNA in the right places, you'd get mutated oncogenes and unregulated cell growth (cancer).
Higher doses of radiation can kill cells (like tumor cells) that have mutated to lose their growth regulation, but it would have to be targeted to those cells and your normal cells have to outlast the cancer.

So if they thought radiation could kill the "feminism cancer" and thus hit the populace with a lower dose, they could cause tumors while trying to get rid of a "cancer" that's actually a virus. It's too non-specific to kill cancer cells and although radiation could kill viruses, it' can't at such low doses and when they are already hidden in host hypothalami and protected from the radiation.
It was a failed idea for a cure that would end up hurting us even more.

I'm impressed at the effort that has gone into this image; it gives several potential explanations for how a viral infection may work to cause feminism, and, everything appears to check out!

There is just one very important piece of the puzzle that remains to be seen - evidence of any kind that there exists a viral infection that is causing these symptoms (feminism) by acting in this way (blocking oxytocin). I admit that the hypotheses appear sound and the explanations are thorough, but at no point is there any mention of any evidence whatsoever that any of these ideas have ever been tested or shown to be even partially true with regard to the "bioweapon theory".

Thanks for this image though; I really appreciate it.

Pathogens require complete sterilization or they will continue to propagate. Maybe not quickly, but if they have anywhere to survive and reproduce, you will not eradicate the threat until every virion and provirus is gone. Especially when there are groups that want to continue the spread, they will try to find ways to spread and even make new biological agents

I don't think that info is public, so any group that has the actual virus will be a gov, military, or BBP group. Very easy to use conventional methods to isolate the particles if you have the tissue.

You can look at what happened to the black populations in the US during the Civil Rights Movement and how the biological components of feminism (low birth rates and high divorce, illegitimate births, and birth control) suddenly appeared at the time Gloria Steinem was working with the CIA & Cold Spring Harbor for info on the bioweapon application- similar to the IC's other experiments on blacks.

https://devinhelton.com/why-urban-decay

>That is exactly what everyone believes is an irrefutable truth, but I witnessed something different. Before the riots, my grandmother’s well-maintained neighborhood was a neighborhood of rose gardens and neighbors talking over the back fence, of bakeries and a walk to the local church on Sundays, of kids playing baseball in the side streets and the local family dog getting scraps from everyone up and down the block.
> In less than a year, it no longer looked familiar. There were boarded-up windows and scary guys hanging on corners, trash in the alleys and chained dogs surrounded by piles of excrement in backyards, loud porch parties and screeching children fighting on the front street.
> My parents watched a young teen take a baseball bat to the uprights on the railing of the front porch across the street, a bat he used to systematically smash each upright until the porch looked like a mouth of broken and twisted teeth. This was not slumlord neglect, but purposeful destruction of a recently beautiful neighborhood.
>Then the bullets came through my grandparents’ front bedroom window one night, hitting the wall just above their bed. Fear made my grandparents flee, too. The agent who bought the house for far less than it was worth advised my father to take the newel post statuette and the stained glass over the front door and windows, because they would be destroyed shortly after the house was occupied. Destruction of those beautiful Art Deco architectural elements is exactly what happened not much later.

2) The end game is the virus spreading to the majority of the population and mutating to kill. Picture WWZ but with "demons".

Spreading info can make people aware, but when the time comes it's going to be a kill or be killed situation for the non-infected.

China and Russia are both emerging as legitimate superpowers and are simultaneously under pressure by their populations to resist Western hegemony. Obviously globalist oligarchs are driving the destabilization of Europe. This is all not even getting into the buildup to a head to head with Islam and Ok sure, I'll buy that overpopulation is a myth, we're trusting WHO numbers anyways and they're sure not credible. Either way, there's still a never-ending stream of migrants flowing into Europe, and there's a growing polarization within the Western world.

If overpopulation is a myth then, what's the goal of a virus that kills indiscriminately? If it's not to decrease the population, is it to reach the Georgia Guidestones number?

2) Who lives on the other parts of Earth outside of the part that we live in?

2a) Are the other parts inhabited by humans, or are they isolated pieces of land?

3) If "our Earth" is just a portion of a bigger Earth, then what does that make Antarctica? A gate separating "our" Earth from the other Earths?

Kind of like patches or new versions to what they already know works at base level, you can add in extra features on the new strains

So Trump is a false idol. I'd been told this but I hadn't yet swallowed that pill. Stupid of me to think they'd ever let someone who could really upend things into power considering the current state of the world.

So if I have this all straight, in a nutshell:
1) there's no hope for stopping this from at least commencing
2) stay away from feminists/SJWs and the like, definitely don't stick your dick in them.
3) have an escape plan/arsenal/bunker
If that's it I'm pretty well set anyways. Regardless of this being true/accurate or not, I have contingency plans for shit hitting the fan in general as well as access to government resources (ships). And my wife isnt a feminist or SJW type so my kids should be fine right? No sign of anything the least bit off about them anyways

I've been pondering "who" put him in. Either the Rothschild family and/or a conglomerate of the Military IC, NSA, CIA, FBI that abhorred Clinton/Rockefeller.

[The image displays three distinct items against a white background. On the left, there is a long, slender, dark-colored object that appears to be a sword or a similar weapon with a pointed tip. The blade is sharp and the handle is curved, suggesting a design for a weapon. The material of the sword is not clearly visible, but it has a matte finish. In the center, there is a circular object with a dark, possibly black, background. The center of the circle features a design that resembles a flower or a geometric pattern, with a central point that is not clearly visible. The surface of the circular object appears to be smooth and polished. On the right, there is a greenish-green object that resembles a small, round, jade-like object with a smooth, shiny surface. The object has a hole in the center, which is likely a point of attachment or a feature of the item. The color of the jade is a vibrant green, and the object has a smooth, polished surface. The image is a photograph with a focus on the items, and there are no texts or additional elements present. The style of the image is straightforward and clear, with the items arranged in a way that allows for a clear comparison between them.]
